Americans Give Thanks

THANKSGIVING DINNER-sweet-flavored turkey meat, savory chestnut dressing, rich juices in the roasting pan, tart cranberry sauce, green and yellow vegetables to balance the feast, spicy pickles and last but not least yummy pumpkin pie, all prepared from traditional American recipes centuries old. The Thanksgiving dinner is the family reunion time about the festive board, and a simple joy that is worth safeguarding at any price.

It is hardly a day for rejoicing because of the sadness and pain in the world, but it is a Day of giving Thanks, a time to renew hope and faith in the peace that will follow the war, the ultimate liberation of peoples enslaved and the resurrection of Democracy for the world to live by when the new dawn awakens for civilization. Liberty, freedom, tolerance are the principles for which pioneer Americans struggled and in winning set aside a Day for giving Thanks.

There have been many Thanksgiving Days observed in the United States of America since that first celebration of a fruitful year, yet this Thanksgiving Day; 1941, one of the most critical years in our entire history, must stand out among all the rest for the weight of its importance as an expression of the spirit of the American people in these times. Thankfulness we will feel for a Democracy and for administration leaders who are making every effort to safeguard our civil liberties, religious

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, reported that "we just discussed this wage situation, reached no conclusion and are still discussing it."

The strike call was issued after the railway unions turned down the recommendation of an emergency fact-finding board for wage increases short of the union demands. The carriers had accepted the compromise proposal.

In Alabama, Governor Frank Dixon ordered Home Guard units mobilized due to the situation created by the strike of 8,000 miners and a threatened strike in the Fairfield plant of the Tennessee Coal. Iron and Railroad Company, About 200 men were moved into the Birmingham area, center of the state's steel industry.

The first serious coal strike dis order was a fight at the Number 10 mine of the U. S. Coal and Coke Company at Gary, West Virginia, in which two Negroes were wounded. An official of the independent union opposing the United Mine Workers' walkout said UMW pickets fired 15 or 20 shots.

Pickets closed Number Six mine at Gary, largest of six which operated yesterday despite the strike call. There was a brief, but bloodless, Schedule Set fight at a United States Steel mine in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, when 50 non-strikers started through 100 pickets. The pickets dispersed after arrival of state police.
