Health hint: Wear an armor-plated vest when out hunting with friends.

Finishing one's work on time is one of the best ways in the world to enjoy your work.

The world is jammed with people who do not know as much as they think they know.

Advertising is telling the right persons at the right time what that person wants to know.

This is about the time of the year that most of us begin to yearn for the good old Summer-time.

The trouble with most of the co-operation in business is that the consumer, in the long run, pays for it.

The world would be no worse off if some of the jokes we have heard were lost to future generations.

A subscription to The Farmville Enterprise makes a splendid Christmas gift to relatives away from home.

The individual who does you a kindness is entitled to a kindness from you, some day, some way, in return.

Surprising as it may seem, a merchant advises that none of his customers have objected to the special taxes, levied for defense.

BOMBERS TO TOKYO

Bombers traveling 300 miles an hour would require 6 hours to attack Tokyo from the Philippines, 6 hours from Hong Kong, 10 hours from Singapore, 7 hours from Chungking, 1 1/2 hours from Vladivostok, and 9 hours from Dutch Harbor, U. S. air base at the Southern tip of Alaska.

VICTORY WILL COME

Our country is just beginning participation on an active scale in a war which will be long and costly. Victory is certain, if our citizens do their parts, but it will take time, effort, and sacrifice.

The advantage, at the start is always with the militaristic aggressor, prepared to strike in advance, and willing to incur losses in large amounts to accomplish certain desired strategical results. So, it has always been.

The defensive, peace-inclined nation gets off to a slow start, suffers initial reverses, and pays in money and misfortune for their previous failure to prepare and be on guard against the gangster nation which attacks it. But, in case of large nations, with great resources, like Britain and America, time works in their favor.

DO WE ACCEPT WITH HEROIC STEADINESS

"It's a poor heart, and a poorer age, that cannot accept the conditions of life with heroic steadiness," Stevenson.

A whirl of wings—a darkening of the sky over Pearl Harbor and the "conditions of life" in America changed with stunning swiftness. Official America, recovering quickly from her dazed surprise, swung into solid efficiency along all lines. Individually, there are various reactions, too numerous and too well known to mention. The Farmville Council for Civilian Defense considers it the duty of every person within our community to build a solid foundation of calm, determined moral courage. Many are already meeting the changed condition with heroic steadiness . . . a few of us are somewhat wobbly. It is not easy to hold an even keel and we are casting about for assistance in morale establishment.

Quoting from a recent newspaper article, we find the following: "Tell me what can I do!" The answer is, we think: "Do whatever you can do best." To men and young men, for example, we would say:

Don't go dashing off to enlist in the armed forces if you are physically unsuited to the rigors of modern mechanized and aerial warfare.

Don't try to get into a uniform if you are producing weapons; the country needs you far more where you are.

Don't run away from personal responsibilities, leaving dependants behind for the government to look after.

To men and women both we would say:

Learn to live a little more simply, to do without things.

Buy Defense Bonds and Stamps with the savings.

Report anything smacking of spying and sabotage to the proper authorities; don't try to take such matters into your own hands.

Cooperate fully with the Office of Civilian Defense and with local officials in whatever precautions they may wish you to take.

Try to restrain the impulse to criticize the conduct of the war; those charged with its conduct may make mistakes, but we must remember that they, too, are patriotic Americans.

Then, to children, we would say: Try to earn a little extra money; so that you can buy Defense Bonds and Stamps; in later years you will be glad indeed that you did your bit to preserve this great nation.

Don't ask Dad for money you don't need; he, too, is buying Bonds and Stamps, and he is paying higher and ever higher taxes to assure your future as free men.

Finally, to everyone, we would say: Don't lose your heads. This is going to be a long and costly war. There are likely to be reverses. The nation has survived darker hours.

Hysteria will not win the war. Misdirected energies will not win it. Offices have been set up in every city and county in the land to direct the special talents of each citizen. You are needed wherever you will be most useful in the common effort.

To this we add the request that all Farmville community adults refrain from discussing the situation in the presence of children and young people except in a calm, sensible manner. Recall the fear of your youthful days, brought on by thoughtless remarks of older people. Let's not allow this blessed birthday of Him who came to bring joy, to be a time for moping. We are commanded to be joyous. Possibly one of the good things brought on by the tragedy of the changing conditions, will be more nearly proper celebration of the birth of Christ. Let us refrain from criticizing each other as we undertake our various activities. May we "realize it is the little things which create differences—that in the big things of life we are as one." If faith in God is ever to mean anything to us—this is the time. Recalling past history, we know that in His own good time He will bring order out of chaos. There is "Splendor Ahead", as Nell Battle Lewis quoted in closing her column last Sunday:

"It is there—It is there: The splendor ever before us, Though the valley be deep, And the way be long and far. God will not fail To send his morning sunrise, Nor will He fail To light his evening star. And though tomorrow may seem Too dark for facing, God will be in tomorrow, He will be there: A light ahead, a radiance and a glory Moving before us through the golden air."
