Social Affairs Honor Recent Bride and Groom

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lewis were hosts at a lovely dinner party honoring Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis, whose wedding took place in December. The dinner was held at the Lewis home near Farmville. The dining room table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a crystal bowl of white flowers flanked by white cardinals in crystal holders. Place cards carried the bridal motif and other appointments were in white and green. A course dinner was served at six o'clock with covers laid for fourteen.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Beaman, Mr. and Mrs. David T. Harris, Mrs. Pertha L. Potter, Mrs. Raymond Shear, Miss Frances Winstead, Miss Louise Harris, Billy Morton and Leroy Bass.

Mrs. Harris Hostess Mrs. David T. Harris was a gracious hostess Saturday evening, entertaining friends at a bridge party and miscellaneous shower in compliment to Mrs. W. H. Lewis, a recent bride. Ivy and forest greens were used as a background for decorations of red roses.

Mrs. R. C. Copenhaver, scoring high, and Mrs. Bryan Gaddy, low, received pictures as awards. The hostess presented the honor guest with crystal in her chosen pattern. Mrs. Lewis, called into the dining room to receive a message, found a shower of gifts on the table, which bore also a center arrangement of candles and ribbons in blue and white.

A frozen salad course was served. An enjoyable and interesting meeting of the Literary Club was held Wednesday with the president, Mrs. Henrietta M. Williamson as hostess. In the business session, the members took part in a discussion of the part this group may take in the Defense program at home.

Mrs. J. W. Joyner as program leader, discussed "The Interior of the House in Georgian England," and presented Mrs. George Monk, who as a former resident of Shanghai and a visitor to the Hawaiian Islands, gave an interesting talk on customs and personal experiences.

The December meeting of the Rebecca Winbourne Chapter, U. D. C., was held with the president, Mrs. W. M. Willis, who presided. Mrs. J. Y. Monk as program leader, discussed the distinguished career of John Nathan Bedford Forrest. Mrs. J. W. Parker gave echoes of the General Convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, held in Los Angeles in November. Plum pudding, topped with cream, was followed by hot tea, cheese biscuit and nuts.

Mrs. C. L. Beaman was hostess at the January meeting of the U. D. C. Miss Annie Perkins was in charge of the devotional exercises, which had as a central theme, "How Much Time." The president, Mrs. W. M. Willis, read notes for the year from the calendar, and a report of Christmas cheer dispensed by this group was given by the committee in charge.

The program was developed by Mrs. G. M. Holden and Mrs. R. D. Rouse, who discussed Generals Lee and Jackson. The delicious refreshments consisted of fruitcake, coffee and nuts.

Mrs. J. B. Brake Rocky Mount—Funeral services for Mrs. J. B. Brake, 54, who died in a local hospital Wednesday after an illness of several days, was conducted from the home near here at three o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Dr. J. W. Kincheol of the First Baptist Church had charge of the rites and interment was in the Pineview cemetery.

Mrs. Brake was a native of Bertie County and was the former Miss Della Modlin. She had lived near Rocky Mount, however, for the last 33 years.

Surviving include her husband, J. B. Brake; four sons, Jasper Brake of this city; John William Brake, with the U. S. Army; Percy Brake, a student at N. C. State College; and Carl Brake of the home; three daughters, Mrs. J. E. Burgess of Asheboro; Mrs. John Barnes of Portsmouth, Va.; and Mrs. Charles Jarvis of Stoney Creek; three brothers, C. E. Modlin of Farmville, H. W. Modlin of Goldsboro, and G. D. Modlin of this city.

Exploitation The work of scientists who have turned to other countries in search of new varieties of plants has gone steadily forward, but under war conditions the work has been speeded up.

Owls Because the dairy farmer has to remove about 30 per cent of his milk from every year, he must obtain new milk cows that are as good if not better than the ones he discards.

SCRAPS FROM THE R. C. SEWING ROOM

The American Legion hall, located upstairs in the Horton Building is now the scene of busy activity as volunteer women cut garments, pedal sewing machines, wind wool, pack boxes of completed garments and do the other many tasks that make up requirements of a Red Cross work room.

The sewing room will be open every day beginning next Monday, January 12, except Saturday, and it is the desire of those in charge to keep things humming from 10:00 in the morning until 5:00 in the afternoon.

Mrs. W. M. Willis, chairman of the sewing room and heads of the departments have expressed themselves as pleased with the fine spirit and accomplishments of the women now at work but state that there is a definite need for more workers.

Every woman in Farmville is needed to give some service in the sewing room and should set aside certain days and as many hours as possible each week for this effort. In order that a schedule may be arranged for an organized operation of the work room, the chairman requests that all who can possibly help in the varied activities, contact her or any of the chairmen, including Mrs. J. H. Faylor, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mrs. J. W. Joyner and Miss Tabitha DeVivanti, on Monday next week, and report the hours they can give each week to this service, so that a record may be kept and the work given balance.

BIRD NOTES At the last meeting of the Bird Club, Paschall Barrett exhibited a collection of bird pictures and a book of true stories regarding birds, from which he read a selection about the Blue Birds.

Julian Boyce read a poem, "Snowflakes of Christmas," which in its printing was dedicated to the Bird Club by the Enterprise in the Christmas issue. Max Melton read an article regarding the placing of food trays to prevent rain and wind from ruining the dainties. Julian found it is best to put these close to dense shrubbery, on trees or in spots where cats will not eat from them.

On display was an attractive wren house made of staves, loaned by Mrs. J. M. Hobgood.

WGTM PROGRAM 14TH OF SPECIAL NOTE HERE Farmville people are especially interested in the radio program, which is presented every Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 over WGTM, Wilson, by Mrs. B. R. Fields, designated as Miss Linda's Reading Circle.

On next Wednesday, the 14th, Mrs. Fields is planning a program based on activities Along Defense Lines in Small Towns, which will feature Farmville, and take the form of an interview with Mrs. Alton W. Bobbitt, president of the American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Eva H. Shackelford, Associate Editor, regarding the varied activities now underway here.

State Wide Program For Collection of Scrap Metal on N. C. Farms (Special to Enterprise) There are many tons of scrap metals on the farms of North Carolina accumulated through the years in the discarded farm machinery, tractors, gas engines, automobiles, fence wires, etc. The farmers throughout the state have been asked to collect all the scrap metal, including iron, steel, brass, copper, lead, and zinc, and other material, such as rags, paper, and old tires, and to sell them to their nearest licensed Junk Dealer as early as possible.

The National Defense Program is seriously threatened by actual and impending shortages of iron and steel scrap. Civilian shortages of steel including steel for farm implements and parts needed by farmers will be more severe if steel mills cannot be kept running to capacity. A certain proportion of scrap steel is needed to combine with the pig iron in charging steel furnaces. From many companies the Office of Production Management is receiving word that unless their supply of scrap is increased shutdowns will ensue. Furthermore, the approach of winter and the possibility of transportation difficulties later make it important to move as much scrap as possible at once in order that it may be put into service rather than rust in junk piles.

The farms of the United States have been one of the most important sources of scrap supplies. Recently the flow of such scrap has diminished due to a number of circumstances and evidently to some misunderstanding. It is important now that this flow of scrap from the farms be increased to the highest possible point. Other sources are being drained and the Nation needs the scrap that is on the farms.

There will be increased profits to the farmer for turning over this metal to local dealers. Price ceiling have been set for iron and steel scrap by Leon Henderson, Price Administrator, as a means of preventing profiteering and of keeping the cost of defense down. Farmers are asked, therefore, to sell their scrap as a service to the Nation rather than as a way of making money.

Farmers are not expected, however, to give this scrap away, and the Office of Production Management desires that farmers get the full value of this material. Scrap metal, like most commodities, is graded and classified. Some grades are worth more than others. Farm scrap generally falls into a group known as No. 2 Heavy Melting Steel Scrap. A price ceiling of 77c per 100 lbs., delivered at Atlanta, Ga., and varying prices for delivery at other points has been fixed by OPM. From this price the cost of preparing (that is sorting, cutting and

State Wide Program For Collection of Scrap Metal on N. C. Farms

(With Apologies to Rudyard Kipling) If I can hold my tongue, when all about me Are blaming my country for its mistakes: If I can calmly say "Have patience, buddy," And turn my back on propaganda fakes: If I can cheer some brave and noble mother Whose son now serves where Axis cannons roar, And help her feel that he'll come out a winner: Whene'er this awful, sneaky war is o'er, If I can spare a few spare cents each week and Buy Defense Stamps with them, and pray within: Though small, they'll do their bit toward scoring: For us, and our allies, a lasting win. If I can realize one tenth the suffering My conquered friends, who, too, love life as I, Are forced to undergo, I'll be more thankful: That I live 'neath Freedom's unbiased sky. If I, at my age, have a single talent That my beloved President sees fit To use, and honor me by calling Upon me now to do my tiny bit—I'll proudly leave behind all that I cherish And do my best to do what'er I can To prove that I deem it a noble privilege To have been born just an American. —Edw. W. Hearns.

handing) and shipping must be deducted. In N. C. farmers should receive 40c to 55c per 100 lbs. for farm scrap not including sheet metal. Scrap metal dealers are licensed by the state and are located in about half the counties. There are also persons who buy junk in most towns and so-called peddlers who go from farm to farm. As these last have no means of weighing the metal it is recommended that wherever possible farmers deliver their scrap metal to the yard of a licensed dealer. There are four in Pitt County. They are J. W. Ellis, Farmville; J. Sam Fleming, Greenville; A. J. Rosser, Ayden; and Mary S. Moore, Greenville.

Nothing should be sold for scrap that can be used on the farm, in the home, or in the community: bolts, nuts, washers, rods, braces, angle iron, flat bars, or tool steel or any part which might be used to repair farm machinery or for other purposes should not be sold. Old papers and magazines should be wrapped in a bundle and sold. Sheet metal and fence wire should be assembled and sold. Old tires can be sold. Glass and bottles are not desired.

Tuberculosis Clinic To Be Held Here Monday, January 19

Pitt County is to have a State Tuberculosis Clinic for one week, beginning Monday, January 19, Dr. Emmet, the Pitt County Health Officer, has just gotten confirmation from Dr. Carl McCain for this date. The Clinic will be conducted by Dr. W. M. Peck, who has held several successful clinics in the county during the past two or three years.

The Clinic will be held in Farmville on Monday the 19th, in Ayden on Tuesday, the 20th, and in Greenville on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, January 21st, 22nd and 23rd.

Dr. Emmet called attention to the fact that the funds raised from the Christmas Bond and Seal Sale makes this clinic possible. He stated that while of course the Sanatorium furnished the clinician without cost to the county, at the same time the Clinic could not be a success and would hardly be worthwhile if we could not furnish free x-ray to poor patients, a service made possible by the Christmas Seal Sale.

Dr. Emmet suggested that all persons who are not feeling well ask their physician if he thinks they should be examined at the Clinic and he added "good health is the basis of Home and National Defense."

PAPER Fine bond and writing papers can now be made from such cotton by-products as hull shavings and waste from ginning carding, and other cotton-cleaning operations.

LIGHTS Nearly 1,400,000 of the nation's farms have substituted electric lights for the traditional oil lamp during the past 6 1/2 years, according to the Rural Electrification Administration.

EGGS The seasonal low point in farm marketings of eggs has passed, and with favorable weather, production will increase until next April, reports the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

SURPLUS Agricultural commodities bought by the Surplus Marketing Administration during November under lease-lend and other conditions reached a value of more than $78,000,000.

FOIL With orders from the Government to discontinue the use of tin or lead foil for wrappers and packages after March 15, cigarette manufacturers are studying possible substitutes.

Contrary to what many may believe, the editor of The Farmville Enterprise does not expect the entire populace to agree with what he writes.

ROSE BOWL TEAMS Are Consistently Good

..... because a football team has to be a consistent winner to be invited to play in the rose bowl.

By the same token a business firm has to be consistently outstanding for its sales to climb steadily year after year.

In view of this, we are particularly gratified that our sales have grown steadily during the past few years and were exceptionally good in 1941.

We take this means of thanking the furniture buying public and believe that you know that we are doing our utmost to give satisfaction and 100% value in every transaction.

We pledge that in 1942 we shall give you the service and high quality merchandise that you expect and pay for, and we earnestly solicit your good will and continued patronage for this new year.
