Farm Youth To Enroll For Mobilization Week
National 4-H Mobilization Week, April 5-12, will afford North Carolina's 60,000 club members an even greater opportunity to do their part in the war effort, says L. R. Harrell, 4-H Club leader of the N. C. State College Extension Service.
A concerted effort will be made to reach every young person eligible for membership, and follow-up work will be continued through the summer. During the late fall, a National 4-H Achievement Week will be observed at which results of the 4-H program will be reviewed and recognition given to club members, leaders, and clubs for accomplishments in the Victory program.
Harrell pointed out that these farm youngsters have already accomplished much in the Nation's drive for victory. They have collected usable scrap materials, planted gardens, increased food and feed projects, and conducted a more intensified health and citizenship training program.
"However," the State College man explained, "there is still much that can be done, and this special Mobilization Week will be of tremendous value in stimulating young farm people to participate more actively in the Victory Program."
When a club member signs up during Mobilization Week, he will be given a lapel button signifying that he is willing to do his part to help win the war. A special fund of $400 for these buttons has been made available by the Plant Food Institute through E. P. Gullidge, local representative in North Carolina.
Harrell said the observance of this week is expected to create greater national unity among farm boys and girls.
