Social Groups Have Varied Programs

Garden Club

Mrs. E. F. Gaynor was gracious hostess to the Garden Club on Monday afternoon, at her home which was decorated with artistic arrangements of quince, bridal wreath, pansies and daffodils.

During the business session, Miss Tabitha DeVisconti gave a report on the activities of the Bird Club, and Mrs. Gaynor urged the members to continue their efforts in discarding bill boards. She also spoke on Arbor Day, citing when and where it first began in America. Continuing, she urged the members not to dig up flower gardens for "war gardens," touching on what to plant and when to plant.

Miss Mary Friar Rouse, program chairman for the afternoon, gave a talk on "Herb Gardening," stressing the importance of growing herbs, from which we get essential essence for necessary medicine besides flavoring for cooking. She reminded her listeners that there would be a shortage of herbs, due to war conditions, as most of the supply used in this country is imported, and that when this supply is exhausted we will have to grow our own.

In a flower contest, Mrs. J. T. Thorne won the prize of Gladioli bulbs.

Mrs. H. L. Mann assisted the hostess in serving delicious sandwiches and hot tea.

Merry Matrons

The Merry Matrons were graciously entertained by Mrs. R. L. Rollins on Tuesday afternoon at her home which was decorated with beautiful bouquets of quince, spirea, jonquils and blue hyacinths. Especially lovely was an arrangement of red camellias which graced the buffet in the dining room.

Mrs. R. A. Fields, president, presided over the business session during which Mrs. R. O. Lang announced the club's purchase of a Defense Bond in Series F. The club voted to change their meeting hour from three-thirty to four o'clock.

Mrs. B. O. Turnage, program chairman for the afternoon, introduced Miss Elizabeth Davis, who gave a most interesting talk on the "Technical Improvements of the Movies," emphasizing the three new developments: namely, color, television and third dimension.

Discussing color production, she stated that color has replaced the black and white of the films; that it is costly; that seven million dollars went into the production of "Gene With the Wind." Continuing she said that true nature colors are hard to produce, since there are so many different shades. The first colored picture was shown in 1909.

In speaking of television, Miss Davis said that, as yet, not much progress had been made with television, but it is particularly interesting now as it could be so useful in instructing air wardens, and in carrying news from country to country.

Third Dimension movies are only thirteen months old, and very little progress has been made in this field either. It is very hard on the eyes, consequently the use of colored glasses when they are shown.

Following this Mrs. B. R. Fields, who is Miss Linda of Miss Linda's Reading Circle, a radio program, gave a brief talk on radio programs.

A delicious dessert course of banana splits was served by the hostess.

Mrs. B. R. Fields was a special guest.

New Deal Club

Mrs. L. E. Walston entertained the members of her card club and additional friends, Mrs. L. T. Pierce, Mrs. Robert Rouse, Mrs. Ernest Hunt, Jr., Mrs. Leslie Smith, Mrs. W. C. Holston and Mrs. Ernest Hunt, Sr., of Greensboro, on Wednesday at a delightful afternoon of bridge. Prizes of defense stamps were given.

After the usual number of progressions, a delicious salad course, carrying the Easter motif, was served with sandwiches and iced tea.

The home was decorated with beautiful arrangements of spring bloom.

Mrs. Moore Entertains

Mrs. George Moore, Jr., delightfully entertained the members of her Bridge Club and other guests: Mrs. Ben Lang, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. Ben Turnage, Mrs. J. P. Surratt, Miss Myrtle Sutton, Mrs. Leon Eason, Mrs. Theodore Moore and Mrs. Carl Turnage, on Wednesday afternoon.

High score awards of Defense Stamps were won by Mrs. Ben Lang and Mrs. Frank Allen.

Following play, salad artistically molded as pink camellias were served with ham biscuits, pickles, olives and iced tea.

Miss Myrtle Sutton, bride-elect of April, was presented a steak set in her pattern of silver, by the hostess.

Quantities of spring flowers decorated the Holden home where the party was held.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

We wish to express our sincere appreciation of the many acts of kindness and other expressions of sympathy extended us during the illness and death of our father, Mr. H. A. Rollins.

MRS. CARROLL DEAN OGLESBY, FARMVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Gene Horton and Carroll Oglesby Married in Formal Evening Ceremony

(Written by Mrs. Eva Horton Shackleford)

Miss Gene Horton and Carroll Dean Oglesby plighted their troth in a formal wedding ceremony in the Methodist Church at 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening, March 21, with the Rev. Marvin Y. Self, pastor of the church, performing the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Cibodium ferns banked the chancel and choir loft, the railings of which were festooned with plumose fern interspersed with lighted tapers. Tall candelabra with cathedral candles alternated with floor baskets of white gladioli. On the pews were candles in clusters of gladioli and fern which were tied with tulle bows.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Hayward Smith, organist, presented a program of nuptial music including "Poem" by Ferblisch, "To An Evening Star" by Wagner, "Ave Maria," by Schubert, "Serenata," by Moszkowski, and "Liebestraum" by Liszt. John D. Holmes sang "Ich Liebe Dich" by Grieg, and with his brother, Elbert C. Holmes, rendered "The Want of You," by Vanderpoole, as a duet. Miss Nellie Butler sang "Be-careful," by D'Hardelot. Traditional marches were used and "To A Wild Rose," by Macdowell, was played during the ceremony.

The bride entered with her brother, Joseph Loyd Horton, Jr., by whom she was given in marriage, and was met at the altar by the bridegroom, who was attended by his father, David Erwin Oglesby, of Kinston, as best man. Her gown was of calla deluxe satin fashioned with a bodice, which was trimmed with d'Alencon lace and designed with a sweetheart neckline. Long fitted sleeves were shirred at the shoulder, and the skirt ended with tulle of lace. Her only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a shower of white orchids and stephanotis tied with wide white satin ribbon.

Miss Natalie Vought, of Raleigh, attended her as maid-of-honor. She wore a dress of heavenly blue net and lace over taffeta, fashioned with a bodice and full skirt. Her head dress was of matching net, cut circular and extending shoulder length and caught with velvet flower clips. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink carnations showered with pink ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph Loyd Horton, Jr., of Greenville, Miss Novella Horton Capps, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Mary Mendenhall, of Winston-Salem, Miss Doris Edgar, of Statesville, Miss Helen Willis and Mrs. Robert T. Monk, of Farmville. They wore identically fashioned dresses of net and lace over taffeta of pastel blue, and carried nosegays of pink carnations with pink ribbon. The junior bridesmaids, Miss Ann Oglesby, of Kinston, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Alice Keel, of Farmville, wore similar dresses of pink and carried nosegays of blue carnations tied with blue ribbon. All of the bride's attendants wore a single strand of pearls.

Ushers were William Cooper Oglesby, of Kinston, brother of the bridegroom, T. Eli Joyner, Jr., Robert T. Monk, David T. Harris, M. Matthew Gibbs and Charles J. Raspberry. Mrs. Joseph Loyd Horton, mother of the bride, was dressed in white chiffon with rhinestone trim, and wore American Beauty roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. David Erwin Oglesby, wore a dress of white silk jersey with a corset floral design and American Beauty roses at her shoulder.

Following the ceremony the bride's mother entertained at a reception at her home on Wilson street, which was beautifully decorated in snip-dragons, carnations and roses, carrying the traditional nuptial colors of white and green.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Jones received the guests and Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Horton introduced the first receiving line, composed of the bride and bridegroom, their parents, Rev. Marvin Y. Self and the attendants.

Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Jones directed guests to the gift room, where Mrs. Frank Capps and W. C. Murray, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lewis received. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Joyner were at the register.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whitmore, of Wilson, received in the dining room. Mrs. Thomas Keel, of Farmville, N. C., and Mrs. Madeline H. Rountree, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. M. L. Eason, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., Miss Elsie Caraway and Mrs. Mac Caraway assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Holston received in the solarium, where Mrs. J. L. Shackleford introduced a second receiving line composed of those taking part in the musical program of the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Monk, Jr., Miss Ethel Bynum, of Wilson, and Mrs. J. P. Surratt served punch, assisted by Miss Myrtle Sutton and Miss Verice Lang Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lang said the goodbyes.

Following the reception the bridal couple left on a wedding trip to points of interest in Florida. On traveling the bride wore a silk gabardine suit in a green-gold shade with a black hat and accessories, and an orchid taken from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Farmville.

Mrs. Oglesby is the only daughter of Mrs. Joseph Loyd Horton and the late Joseph Loyd Horton, a Judge of the North Carolina Superior Court. She was graduated from the Farmville high school and from Marjorie Webster School, Washington, D. C. She is active secretary of the Farmville Chamber of Commerce, and secretary to John B. Lewis, attorney, and J. W. Joyner of the Pitt County Insurance Agency.

Mr. Oglesby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Erwin Oglesby, of Kinston. He received his education at the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of the Chi Phi fraternity. He is owner and manager of the Oglesby Wholesale Co., of Farmville.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were—Mr. and Mrs. J. T.

Keel, Miss Alice Keel, Farmington Park, N. J.; Miss Mary Mendenhall, Winston-Salem; Miss Doris Edgar, Statesville; Miss Natalie Vought, Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. J. Loyd Horton, Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Oglesby, Miss Ann Oglesby, Billy Oglesby, Ralph Oglesby, Henry Tull, Miss Eliza Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lang, Dr. and Mrs. Mercer Parrott, Kinston; Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Vought, Suffolk, Va.; Mrs. Frank Capps, Mrs. Madeline Rountree, Miss Dora DeGrace Rountree, Miss Novella Capps, Miss Sue Ryan, W. C. Murray, Washington, D. C.; Herbert Horton Rountree, Chapel Hill; Charles Rountree, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Miss Ethel Bynum, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Whitmore, Mr. and Mrs. Plato Monk, Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bundy, Greenville; Mrs. John D. Wright, Jr., Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eason, Jr., Norfolk, Va.; and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Modlin, Belhaven.

Following the rehearsal Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Monk, Jr. entertained at a cake cutting.

A color scheme of white was used in the dining room where, Mrs. R. O. Lang, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Holston, served ices in wedding moulds from a beautifully appointed lace covered table, centered with an arrangement of gladioli, snapdragons and carnations.

The four-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and showered with sprays of valley lilies and satin ribbons, leading from the traditional bridal tokens.

Mrs. Sallie K. Horton and Mark Dixon presided over the punch table in the living room, which was decorated with camellias and snapdragons in shades of red.

Artistic arrangements of daffodils and forsythia were used in the library. Guests included the bridal party and out of town guests.

On Saturday, Miss Horton was charming hostess to her wedding attendants at a luncheon. Places were laid for ten and bridal place cards were used. The table was centered with a lovely arrangement of white narcissus and lavender statice. A turkey luncheon was served, with fruit cocktail in grapefruit baskets, cream cheese and apple salad molded as pink roses and lime ice in swan cups. Following demitasse the hostess presented each guest with a lovely silver bracelet, personally engraved. These, in white packages, were brought in on a silver tray and were arranged around a group of red camellias.

Quantities of spring bloom decorated the Holden home where the luncheon was served.

MISS ROBERTA MURRAY WEDS TAYLOR EVERETTE BARROW, Jr.

Beauty and simplicity characterized the wedding of Miss Roberta Murray of Greensboro, N. C., and Taylor Everett Barrow, Jr., of Farmville, Sunday afternoon, March twenty-second at 6:00 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Emmette Murray. The Reverend W. E. Wiseman, pastor of the First Congregational Christian Church, officiated, using the ring ceremony in the presence of the families and a few close friends.

Mrs. Hubert Walker, played Schubert's "Serenade" and Fitch's "Poem." Miss Virginia Smith, soprano, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "The Rosary." List "Liebestraum" was softly played during the ceremony. The traditional wedding marches were used.

The vows were spoken before a background of palms, floor baskets of white gladioli and white snapdragons and fern, flanked by seven branched candelabra. Candles were lighted by Robert Murray, only brother of the bride.

The couple entered together unattended. The bride wore an ashen of roses daytime outfit with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white roses and sweetpeas.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at an informal reception.

The bride was graduated from the Greensboro high school and Greensboro College. For the past three years she has taught in the schools of Guilford and Rockingham counties, at present being a member of the faculty of Monroeton School near Reidsville.

Mr. Barrow, the young son of Mr. Taylor Everett Barrow and the late Lucy Tyson Barrow, was graduated from Snow Hill high school and of State College in the school of Textile Engineering. Since his college graduation he has been with the Burlington Mill in Greensboro, N. C., and Bristol, Tenn.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were: Miss Mary Barrow, Seth Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nash Warren and son Bert, of Farmville; Thomas Swain and George Watson, of Raleigh; Bob Bokum and A. D. Warren of Burlington, and Miss Harriet Chestnut of Snow Hill.
