Cheer the boys in uniform. Buy U. S. Defense Bonds.

A hard day's work isn't half as tiring as a four-hour banquet.

Every time you get your pay, buy Bonds and Stamps for the U. S. A.

We sin while we are young and expect to repent when we are old.

Our secret weapon: U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps. Buy them!

The preachers are given preference rating on tires. They should be. Their job is to save souls—not tires.

Bonds buys bombs, Stamps buy bullets! Buy U. S. Defense Bonds or Stamps every pay day!

A tree can't be judged by the fruit it bears, if it has been tampered with by some budding genius.

Too little; too late; too bad! There still is time to buy U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps.

The silly pacifists in this country unwittingly played Japan's game until the Mikado was ready to fight.

Keep 'em rolling! We mean dollars! Buy U. S. Savings Bonds and Stamps.

The government keeps most of its gold at Fort Scott and most of its brass on Capitol Hill.

Our boys at the front need a steady flow of supplies. You can assure this by systematic purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps.

BIRD CLUB

Ray Prescott, in an article on the Song Sparrow, said there are many, many kinds of sparrows but the Song Sparrow is the dearest of them all and none sing so sweetly. Mr. and Mrs. Song Sparrow select their nest together and both help in its construction. They raise several broods in a summer and have a busy time feeding hungry babies. Ray also said remember to put out a little food and a bird bath for these cheerful little snogsters.

Harry Albritten and James Thorne told about the Scarlet Tanager with his coat of reddish red and velvety black wings and tail. They said he is the Guardian of the Oaks as he cleans up grubs, worms and insects, most of which he lovingly takes home to his family. In two weeks the eggs hatch and in two weeks more they are out of the nest. Harry and James said the glorious beauty of this bird is a joy forever.

Charles and Thomas Allen and Cecil Bray were welcomed as new members, and Gene Prescott as a visitor. Robert Everett Roebuck and Ray Prescott brought pictures of birds which were displayed by them.

THE WAR

Her head is bent, her shoulders drooped
 Her heart is full of pain
 The tears that fall from her heavy eyes
 Are like great big drops of rain.

Another son has left home
 Whose once was bright and gay
 Once it was full of peace and love
 And relatives were invited to stay.

A nation once filled with peace
 Has suddenly ceased to be
 Its sons go forth with hearts
 Too light for democracy.

Hitter started the whole darn mess
 Trying to rule the earth
 To strangle him with these bare hands
 Would give many great misth.

Some one is knocking at the door
 Who can it be
 Her son may be home on furlough
 Please God let it be.

My son my son the world around
 As his hands give a steady clasp
 Said he was with a proud smile on
 His face when I saw it.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

(By RUTH CURRENT, State Home Demonstration Agent)

When buying food: (1) Plan before you buy; pennies go further; (2) shop around and locate the "best buys"; (3) read labels and know what's in the food package; (4) buy by grade and get the quality you pay for; (5) watch the scales and make sure you get what you order.

About eggs: They are good at any meal; good by themselves or as mixers.

About milk: Drink some; cook with some; and eat some as cheese. Cook vegetables and cereals in milk to give them more food value.

About fruits and vegetables: Eat raw fruits and vegetables often.

About cereals and breads: Enriched breads and flours have more food value than ordinary white breads and flours. Home-cooked cereals cost less than the read-to-eat kind. Some cereals are higher in food value than others.

About fats and sweets: Fat-soak foods are slow to digest. When frying foods, never let the fats smoke. Use all the fat trimmings with meats.

Ninety-eight percent of new American rubber came from British Malaya, the Netherlands East Indies, and adjacent territory, all in the Far East fighting zone.

Farmers Urged To Plant More Lespedeza This Year

Farmers of North Carolina are urged by E. Y. Floyd, state AAA executive assistant, to make every effort to earn as many soil building practice payment units as possible this year by seeding lespedeza.

Floyd said field surveys show there is still a good supply of lespedeza seed in the hands of retail and wholesale dealers over the state, and added that there is still time to seed the crop. Many farmers plant lespedeza over their small grains but many others also seed in the open field and this is the best time for such planting.

He said seeding lespedeza earns the farmer one-half unit, 75 cents, per acre toward soil building practice payments under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

This crop is one of the best adapted legumes for the state as a whole, it is fool-proof, and all small grain should be over-planted with lespedeza where possible.

"Indications are that water soluble nitrogen will be short of demands about 50 to 60 percent this year, and no one knows how short it will be in 1943," he said. "By growing lespedeza, the farmer can produce for himself a large portion of the nitrogen needed for his crops."

He declared lespedeza is one of the best nitrogen-gathering crops grown in the state, and that this crop is becoming more and more important with such a large volume of commercial nitrates going into the manufacture of munitions for war.
