A car driver is generally called chauffeur but irate pedestrians call him something else.

Simple Susie observes the girls now stay at home and pout for there are no boys to take them out.

Blonde hair can be made black in the beauty salon. Blue eyes can be made black in the liquor saloon.

A knowledge of trigonometry will help a soldier but skill in trigonometry will bring down more Japs.

Probably they are called board meetings because those attending them are bored.

Very little criticism is now being directed at Mussolini. No one kicks a dying dog.

So many women are doing men's work that men will have to do theirs. If Ma brings home the bacon Pa ought to cook it.

It evens up. The merchant gives the customer short weight for his money, and the customer gives him long wait for his.

DO YOU HAVE A PHOTO?

We are planning a patriotic window for the Fourth of July and are requesting all those in the community who have a photo of a soldier in their family in the service to lend same to us for display. They will be well taken care of and returned. If soldier's photo is in civilian dress that will also be acceptable.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

(By Ruth Current, State Home Agent)

So far as health is concerned, we can get along with absolutely no sugar. Sugar supplies fuel or energy to the body but other foods can do this just as well as sugar.

Do something every day at home to help win the war.

There's an old saying—maybe you remember it—that "a good hoeing is worth as much as a shower." Even a heavy shower does little good if most of the rain runs off. But a good hoeing keeps down weeds. Weeds draw heavily on the moisture in the soil. The fewer the weeds, the more moisture saved for the crops.

"Tickle the ground with the hoe, and you will make it laugh with a harvest."

Don't let the insects get ahead of you in the garden.

Make plans for a fall garden by buying seed now. Don't wait; seed will be hard to get later.

Save two tons of hay for every cow you expect to keep. Hay will be high next winter and hard to get.

Prune shrubs that have finished flowering but do not prune those which produce berries.

Prune only those plants that need it.

Take out the old plants and

Santa Claus Goes To War

The children of Farmville and community will not be forgotten by Santa Claus next Christmas, in spite of many manufacturing restrictions, says Gene Horton Oglesby, secretary of the Farmville Merchants' Association. However the thousands of tons of steel and iron, copper, zinc, lead, silk, rayon, plastic, paints and fabrics which ordinarily are fabricated into toys for Young American will—this year and for several years—be poured into the manufacture of guns, ships, tanks and planes, added the secretary.

Such is the effect of the War Production Board's recent order banning the fabrication of toys containing more than seven percent of certain "critical materials" after June 30 and stopping production of toys made of certain "prohibited materials."

The order is expected to save for war 100,000 tons of iron and steel, 2,000 tons of copper, copper alloy, and brass, 1,000 tons of lead, 3,000 tons of rubber, 3,000 tons of zinc and huge quantities of other vital materials. At the same time toy manufacturers are expected to turn to such substitutes as wood, paper, ceramics, cotton fabrics, earth colors and noncritical plastics to fill the breach.

There is enough zinc in a 3/4 pound toy locomotive to make a carburetor on a jeep or a cover-cap on a projectile. It carries enough copper, wire, strip and brass to produce half-a-dozen .30 caliber cartridge cases for use in a semi-automatic rifle or light machine gun. Sixteen such locomotives contain sufficient steel to make a 3-inch shell for the firing of a 75 mm. Howitzer.

WPB's consumers durable goods branch estimates that 50 per cent of the toys handed out next Christmas will be produced under the limitations of the present order, the balance coming off dealers' shelves and from the output of the early months.

The Christmas tree of the future will probably be set up on a stand of wood, not metal. It will be decorated with shimmering ornaments of spun glass and festoons of paper in place of metal tinsel. It may even be lighted with candles as of yore because of a shortage of light bulbs. Dolls will be stuffed with cotton instead of kapok, will be dressed in cotton instead of rayon and their faces will not beam so brightly as in the past. Velocipedes will be made of wood from the tips of their handlebars to the rim of their wheels, with only enough steel to hold them together. Toy dishes will probably come in glass or china. There will be no electric trains or other metal conveyances, no rubber balloons, no metal mechanical sets, no plastic teething ring for the new baby on the war-time Christmas tree beyond 1942.

Toymakers expect a boom in military toys by next Yuletide. They have come out with Springfield and Garand rifles made entirely of wood, wooden machine guns which sound off a realistic rat-a-tat-tat, soldier sets of cardboard, lead and plastics, and all-wood parade guns, cannons, anti-aircraft guns, forts, airplanes, jeeps, tanks, field ambulances, battleships, submarines and Commando barges. As an indication of the interest in civilian defense, they have laid in a supply of doctors and nurses outfits, air raid warden kits and blackout sets—all made of non-essential ingredients.

RETURN FROM TRIP

On Monday, June 8, a happy group of boys numbering nine, left for Meredith College, Raleigh, where they attended the Royal Ambassador encampment for the Eastern section of the State.

They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Davis and Mrs. J. R. Shearin. Mrs. Shearin remained for a visit to friends in Raleigh and Mr. Shearin drove up Thursday to assist in bringing the boys home.

A good time is reported by the boys and much benefit was derived from the teachings of leading Baptist leaders and missionaries. Shelby Roebuck, Bruce Skinner and Cedric Davis won honors as three star campers. Others attending were Calvin Braxton, Max Melton, Harry Davis, Vance Lockamy, Allie J. Melton, Jr., and Dan Satterthwaite.

Our destinations do not lie in the places we occupy, but in the grace and dignity with which we fill them.—Simms.
