LIBRARY NOTES

It is interesting to note that the Farmville Public Library is receiving more defense literature each day, which with the new shelves being installed will greatly aid in displaying the various pamphlets and enable this institution to be in fact as well as in name a War Information Bureau. Interest in the efforts of those in charge of the Library service is increasing and will doubtless continue as the library is now under the War Service Project.

New books, which have been received in the last few days and are now ready for circulation are as follows:

Home Vegetable Gardening, by Charles H. Nissley; America's Nutrition Premier, by Eleanor Senses; Everyday Nursing for Everyday Homes, by Norton and Donaldson; Toughest Up, America, by Dr. Victor G. Heiser; Living Under Tension, by Harry Emerson Fosdick; Feeding the Family, Mary Ewart Rose; The Unvanquished, by Howard Fast.

FARMVILLE LIBRARY RULES

In order that our readers' minds may be refreshed regarding the rules of the Farmville Public Library, we present them as follows:

1. Each person wishing to borrow books will be required to fill out a registration card. The card of all children under 14 years must be signed by their parents.

2. Books may be kept one week only and may be renewed for the same period. Exceptions, for sickness and if one is living out of town and cannot get in. Also for books longer than average.

3. A fine of two cents a day will be charged on each book which is not returned according to the above rule. No book will be loaned to any person incurring such fine until it has been paid.

4. All injuries to books beyond reasonable wear and all losses shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Librarian.

5. Each borrower is held responsible for all books drawn on his card and for all fines accruing on same.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current, State Home Demonstration Agent, N. C. State College.

The following tips are offered on taking care of various kinds of shoes:

Smooth leathers, such as calf and kid—use cream polish, liquid polish, or wax polish that contains no turpentine. Turpentine dries out leather. Neutral-colored cream may be used on all shades of leather, but will not cover water stains as will colored cream.

Patent leather—changes from hot to cold, or vice versa, causes patent leather to crack. The first time you wear a pair of "patent" shoes, rub them briskly with a cloth to warm them. Then bend your feet to limber shoes while they are still warm.

Each time you put on patent leather shoes, warm the leather a little with the palm of your hand. Use patent cream or oil polish that contains no turpentine. Use even that sparingly. Wrap shoes in cotton wadding or clean cloth when you are not wearing them.

A carbon tetrachloride cleaner, which Gabardine—clean with a brush and you can buy under trade names at most stores. If your shoes are wool gabardine, protect them against moths as you do other wool clothing.

Elasticized fabric—these stretchable shoe materials are ruined by ordinary fabric cleaners. Get a cleaner recommended for this fabric. Read the directions on the bottle and follow them.

Cotton fabric play shoes—if the materials are good quality and colorfast, you can clean them successfully with a brush and mild soap and water. Ask about color fastness when you buy this type of shoe.

Cotton Gabardine

For play or work, city or country, this modern, miss is ready in cotton gabardine. Cap, jerkin and skirt are made of durable, washable cotton gabardine in the patriotic colors of red and navy blue. The skirt has well-spaced pleats affording greater freedom of action.
