State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current

N. C. State College.

Following are some of the important home front responsibilities of the housewife:

Each extra day of life you give your household goods is a day earned for the war effort. Each new habit of care you practice helps to shorten the war.

Why not begin with painting the screens, wire and frame, and screen doors, too. These should be taken down and stored in the attic or storage room. This is a good practice for all times.

When you buy soap take the wrapper off and let it dry; it will go much further. Save soap scraps to make a liquid soap—soap scraps plus water.

Don't put hot food in refrigerator. Don't waste space or refrigerator by keeping in the refrigerator foods that do not need to be kept cold such as pickles, jelly, vegetables, shortening and unopened cans.

Keep upholstered furniture clean and brushed. Slip covers will help lengthen the life of furniture.

If sweeping with a broom, avoid the digging motion and remember that beating and shaking breaks fibers in a rug's foundation materials. And don't stand your broom on the sweeping end. Hang it up or stand it upright on handle.

Hold price ceilings down by spending less and saving more.

ROAD TO VICTORY

By STRUTHERS BURT

Listen, America! We don't have to be told this. We're a lucky nation. We've been lucky all through our history. We began to be lucky the moment our ancestors decided to come here. We're still lucky. But don't let's crowd our luck.

Our cities are still unbombed; our children can still walk in safety; not yet have our wives or daughters been enslaved or insulted or raped; none of us have as yet been shot as hostages, but it's coming closer—the red real horror of war, and already on a score of far-flung battle fronts our young men stand at attention or are already engaged. So let's finish it off. Let's have done with it. Let's put the murderers and gangsters back where they belong, where we put Freddy Boy Floyd and John Lillinger. And let's make sure this time. Let's make this as speedily as possible a world where decent men and women can live and bring their children up decently, and let's bring our young men back as speedily as we can, and let's bring as many as we can back whole.

It may take a year; it may take 2 years; it may take longer, but let's finish it off. You know we can. Everyone knows we can. Even Hitler knows we can. But it's going to take every ounce of strength and brains and patriotism we have, and IT'S GOING TO TAKE LOTS OF MONEY. And that's where we older people—we mothers and fathers, and friends and relatives of all kinds—can help directly, and keep on helping, no matter what else we are doing, and where the young people not yet of age or who can't go to war or who are essential where they are can help. Day by day, week by week, we can help. Bonds buy bombers, stamps buy ships. A dollar today is worth two tomorrow. Machine guns and high explosives don't wait. Neither do submarines.

How much is a young American worth? Each stamp or bond you buy may be saving his life, and the lives of two million like him. Not until tomorrow do. It takes only the fraction of a second to kill a man. Buy, and buy, and buy, and keep on buying. Buy regularly what you can. Ten cents, twenty cents, a dollar, five hundred, five thousand—buy and keep on buying. Put so much aside each week. You're investing in lives, in the future, and in your country.

Shut your eyes and imagine. Watch the great tidal wave grow, your ten cents or dollars in it; watch it turn to tanks and planes and guns and ships; watch it roll closer to Berlin and Tokyo and curl and break. What a lovely use for money! What a lovely hour!

With every cent you invest you save a life and hasten the end of this horror. With every cent you keep blood-red war away from these shores. Our young men will win on every battlefield, as they have before, if we will support them. And the thought of that and the thrill of investing in your country—how's that as a reward?

"THE WAR AGAINST MRS. HADLEY"

Today I saw the picture "The War Against Mrs. Hadley" and I again urge every man and woman to be sure and see this great production. I cannot praise this picture nearly enough. It will have you laughing and then suddenly you will be weeping. It is truly one of the greatest productions of this year and of any year. It is the down to earth story of a mother who does not realize the seriousness of life and of the part that each and every one of us must play if we are to win this war.

Don't miss "The War Against Mrs. Hadley" with Fay Bainter, Edward Arnold, Richard Ney, the young son of "Mrs. Miniver," Jean Rogers and Spring Lyngton . . . showing for the last time at the Paramount Theatre in Farmville today, Friday, Nov. 6.

I also want to call your attention to "The World At War" film, which shows the authentic file of events that led up to the present war. You will experience 40 minutes of breath-taking excitement here and be amazed at the things you will see.

I will personally guarantee that each and every one of you will enjoy these truly great shows now being presented at the Paramount for the last time today.

IN MEMORIAM

J. Robert Joyner, son of James T. and Arthenia Joyner, was born June 10, 1883, in the Farmville community of Pitt County. He spent the greater portion of his life in the community in which he was born.

On December 12, 1912 he was married to Miss Mamie Carr of Greene County. To this union was born one daughter, Sula Arthenia, and three sons, Robert Carr, Mark Wesley and James Leslie Joyner.

He united with the Free Will Baptist Church at the age of sixteen. At the age of thirty-five his membership was transferred to the Methodist Church of Farmville. He was a loyal member of this church until, at two o'clock on Sunday morning, August 23, 1942, his gentle spirit passed to the Church Eternal.

Funeral rites were held at his late home, at four o'clock on Monday P. M., by Rev. M. Y. Self, pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church. Interment was made in Forest Hill cemetery in Farmville.

He left to mourn their loss his widow, two sons, Mark Wesley of Newport News, Va., and James Leslie Joyner of the home, a granddaughter, Patricia Joyner of Newport News, Va., a sister, Mrs. Neely Smith of Greenville, a brother, Will T. Joyner of Farmville.

They mourn not as those who have no hope. Their loss is his eternal gain.

He was a devoted christian, a devoted husband, a kind and loving father and grandfather, a good neighbor and a friend to every one.

The last several years of his life he was a great sufferer, but bore his affliction with christian fortitude.

To his grief-stricken companion, his children, and all those who loved him most, we extend our deepest sympathy, and commend them to Him who giveth light amid the shadows of life.

A Very Dear Friend.

feel consumption during mild spells and so build up a reserve to help him over a severe cold snap.

Coffee-drinkers will have to ration the consumption of their favorite beverage. With shipping space from South America getting more limited, imports of coffee have dropped. After November 23, every person in the country over 15 years of age will be entitled to one pound of coffee each five weeks, an amount slightly less than our previous average consumption . . . No more canned sauerkraut will be available after present stocks leave the storekeepers' shelves. The tin is needed for war use. Kraut will come in wooden or non-metal containers. To save metals, production of tire chains has been cut to 60 percent of normal output and the manufacturer and sale of house trailers have been drastically restricted. Such mobile housing units will go to the National Housing Agency to relieve the critical housing shortage for war workers . . . While heavy excise taxes will make holiday drinking more expensive, prices have been fixed for holiday delicacies of all kinds, from plum pudding and fruit cake to sweet apple cider and candied fruits. Pork, bread and flour have also been brought under price ceilings . . . The new all-purpose ration books are being printed by the million. All those who enter military service must turn in their war ration books to their local rationing boards. Use of these books by others is illegal.

Winter Hay, Grazing Crops Needed In East

Recent rains in the Coastal Plain have destroyed the value of a large part of the hay that was stacked outdoors in Eastern Carolina. The damage to peanut and soybean hay has been especially serious, reports E. R. Collins, Extension agronomy leader of N. C. State College.

"Every effort should be made by livestock farmers to supplement their feed supplies with fall-seeded crops for winter grazing and spring hay," says Collins. "Fortunately, there is still time to sow winter legumes and small grains to be grazed in February and March, or to be harvested for hay in the late spring."

The agronomist explained that the restrictions placed on the use of fertilizers containing nitrogen applied on small grains does not apply where the grain is not harvested. Where farmers seed small grains for grazing, or in mixtures with legumes for grading, they will be able to obtain 2-12-6 and 2-9-10 fertilizers. Collins says that all winter hay and grazing crops should be top-dressed with nitrogen February or early March.

One of the best winter hay mixtures, according to the Extension worker, is a combination of vetch or Austrian peas and small grains. He suggests the per acre seeding of 15 pounds of vetch or Austrian winter peas, 2 bushels of Fulgrain No. 8 or Fulgrain oats, 1/4 bushel of Carala or Redhart wheat, and 1/2 bushel of Iredell barley if available. This mixture should be planted as soon as possible, and should be fertilized with 200 pounds per acre of 2-12-6 fertilizer at planting time.

Collins says that 1 1/2 bushels of Abruzzi rye, planted by November 15 and fertilized with 200 pounds of 2-12-6 at planting time, will furnish grazing in February and March.
