The reason why the white collar class gets it in the neck, politically and economically, is because there are so many people who are satisfied just to be in the white collar class.

New Schedule For School Bus Routes

Changes in school bus routes go into effect February 1. They are as follows:

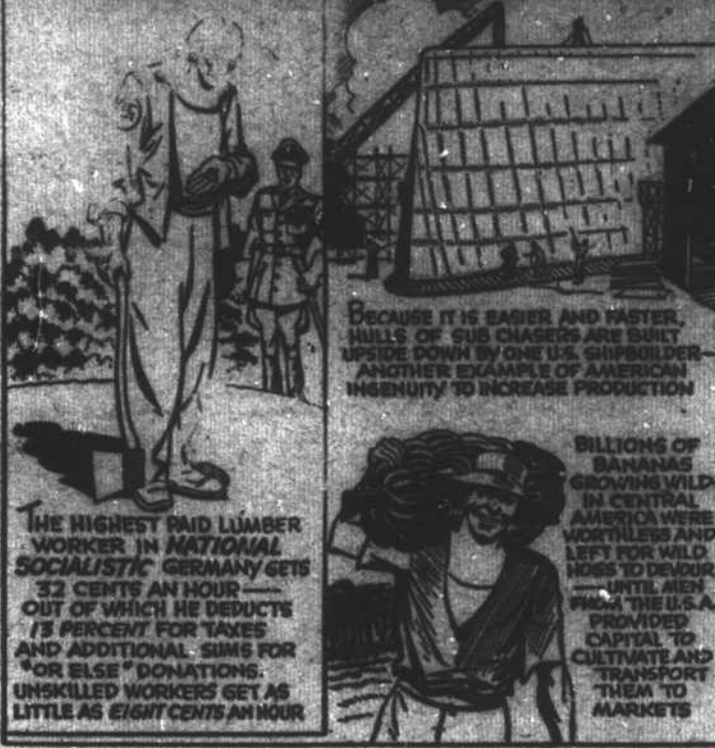

Surveys of school bus routes in Pitt county are now virtually complete and in compliance with orders sent out from the Office of Defense Transportation, Washington, D. C., trips on side roads and retracing on main roads is to be eliminated. It is further ordered that the number of stops be reduced and henceforth for the duration of the war school buses will stop at points approximately a quarter of a mile apart.

It is hoped that the school patrons and children in Pitt county will understand that this is a war measure and is being undertaken as a means to save fuel and to conserve transportation equipment said Don H. Conley, superintendent of the county schools.

The Pitt County Board of Education realizes that considerable hardships will be imposed on many children by the requirement that walking distances be increased, yet it is hoped that all school communities will cooperate cheerfully in the new program that has one object as a result of the war.

It is probable that school attendance will drop slightly when the weather is unusually bad but past experience has shown that our people are highly patriotic and are determined to carry on in spite of difficulties. It is felt that parents and children will meet the school transportation difficulties with the same spirit of cooperation.

A Cotton Crop Insurance Program Mapped For 1943

Plans for offering 1943 crop insurance to every cotton producer in North Carolina have been completed and will be in operation in every cotton producing county of the state within a few days, according to Tom M. Cornwell, Cleveland County farmer and a member of the State AAA Committee.

The 1943 insurance program was explained to field officers of the AAA and others by officials of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation at a meeting held at the State AAA Office at Raleigh.

Yields which may be insured and premium rates already have been compiled and now are in county AAA offices where applications may be made until April 1.

"This insurance is not designed to make money for either the farmer or the Crop Insurance Corporation," Cornwell said. "It is offered as a part of the national farm program to protect the farmer against partial or total loss of income in years when he has a crop failure due to any cause beyond his control."

Under the program, cotton producers have the option of insuring either the 50 or 75 percent of their normal yields against losses from such causes as floods, drought, hail, wind, storm, insect damage, and fire. The program this year also covers losses caused from wartime shortages of labor, machinery, and materials during the growing period which it is impossible for the producer to overcome.

Growers Confused On New Varieties

Recent correspondence from North Carolina farmers to the Extension plant pathologist at N. C. State College has indicated a general confusion regarding the disease-resistant fine-cured varieties of tobacco.

K. J. Shaw and T. E. Smith, associate plant pathologist of the Agricultural Experiment Station, report that some growers apparently think the varieties resistant to all diseases instead of to a specific disease.

Varieties resistant to black root rot and blackshank, two of the important tobacco diseases, were made available recently to farmers after years of experimental work.

The "400" variety was developed in experiments located near Reidsville and is resistant to black root rot, a disease attacking the smaller roots and causing a slow, uneven, and stunted growth of the above-ground parts.

Sales Of Feed Wheat To Continue In State

Federally-owned wheat for use as livestock and poultry feed still is available to North Carolina farmers under the 1943 sales program announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation, according to H. A. Patten, being state AAA executive assistant.

The wheat is being offered to farmers by the CCC at prices in line with the cost of wheat in an effort to increase production of livestock and poultry products. Release of the wheat for this purpose was authorized by Congress.

of the County AAA Committee, and dealers, millers, or feed processors may purchase wheat on agreement with the County AAA Committee to use it only for feeding purposes, without posting bond. Persons found to have used wheat purchased for feed for any other purposes are liable for a penalty of 75 cents per bushel.

"Use of this wheat for feed was authorized as an emergency measure and is designed to increase production of food we need to carry on the war," Patten said. "The wheat is hard wheat, of which we have large surpluses, especially in the Western wheat producing areas."

The price for January delivery, he said, is $1.01 per bushel, delivered in bulk in carload lots to any railroad point in the county or in a nearby county. Through January 19, records show, a total of 568 cars of wheat had been delivered to feeders and dealers in 63 North Carolina counties.

Salvage Depots For Tin Cans Announced

Greenville, Feb. 3.—In answer to question, "What shall we do with the tin cans we are savings?" Miss Verona Lee Joyner, chairman of the Pitt County Salvage Committee's Women's Division, has announced the following list of salvage depots to which tin cans are to be brought, in the various communities of the county:

- 1. Bell Arthur — The Fulford, Smith, Elk and Wayne stores and the school.
2. Red Banks — Twin Elms, home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon S. Hardee.
3. Meadow Brook — The Edgar Hatton Garage.
4. Bethel — Texaco Service Station Garage.
5. Ayden — Rationing Board Office.
6. Winterville — Rationing Board Office.
7. Chicod — School house.
8. Grifton — Grifton Drug Store.
9. Pactolus — School.
10. Lang's Cross Roads — Filling station.
11. Farmville — Empty store next to laundry.
12. Fountain — Back of barber shop.
13. Grimesland — School.
14. Belvoir — School.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION Farmville Building & Loan Association of Farmville, N. C., as of December 31st, 1942.

Table with columns for ASSETS and LIABILITIES, listing various financial items and their values, such as Cash on Hand, State of North Carolina and U. S. Government Bonds, etc.

15. Stokes — School. 16. Falkland — School and Post Office. Something of the importance of getting our tin cans ready and collected in these depots is made clear by startling statements like these: Americans are losing 1,000 tons of steel and 10 tons of tin daily by throwing away tin cans. There are approximately 1,000 tons of steel in a destroyer, so we are now throwing away, in tin cans, around 365 destroyers a year.

Tin is now an essential, and tin is scarce in America. Save your tin cans, clean, flatten, and bring them to your nearest collection depot—now.
