State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current, N. C. State College.

This is the way to wash and dry wool. To wash, or not to wash? For most wool clothing, dry cleaning is better than washing. However, many knit garments, flannel and challeys may be washed satisfactorily at home.

For a comforter, dry-cleaning is best. Washing is likely to leave the filling lumpy and matted. Use lukewarm soft water, and mild soap. Hard water can be softened with an ammonia or borax solution.

Never soak wool. Wash by hand, if you can. Squeeze suds through fabric. Rubbing shrinks and hardens wool. If you use a washing machine, don't crowd wool articles and wash them quickly. Never boil them.

When wool is clean, rinse 2 or 3 times in clear lukewarm water. Squeeze water out gently. Don't wring or twist. A warm, but not hot place, is just right for drying. Never let wool things freeze.

Hang blankets over a line with a hair or a fourth on one side and without clothes pins. A blanket dries quicker if two lines, near together, share the weight. Squeeze water from the ends occasionally and shake the blanket to fluff and nap.

THE OFFICE OF War Information estimates that more than 850 million dollars a year will be saved consumers, including the Government, by the reduction in freight rates, effective May 15.

City girls trying to milk are udder failures.

Luckily the foot of the hill doesn't require a shoe.

Curiosity may not be a virtue but it leads to information.

If one snores doesn't that prove he is a sound sleeper?

Men boast of their love of freedom and yet they marry.

If wishes were horses beggars would have more meat.

Your dreams won't come true if you keep on sleeping.

Gold is out of circulation and the golden rule is nearly so.

It's impolite to scratch for itching but it's proper to scratch for a living.

A politician can't be upright because he has to keep his ear to the ground.

The late sleeper misses the sunrise and the early riser misses the morning nap.

A philosopher knows cause and effect but there is nothing he can do about it.

Since the rationing of shoes some are walking less but kicking more.

When one begins to grow old his memory and his money both start to slipping from him.

Divorces cost more than weddings but those who get them probably think they are worth more.

An economist says that this generation is borrowing from future ones. Well, they are loaning liberally.

Some people have to use alarm clocks. Others have neighbors who start their radios going every morning at six o'clock.

The presidential campaign of 1944 has been relatively quiet during the past two weeks but underneath the surface the politics are busy.

Personally, we are not inclined to worry about the terms of the peace-to-come until we have won the decisive battles that lie ahead.

The government of a democratic people should see that the public is thoroughly advised of the plans and purposes of the government.

Whenever advertisers control a newspaper you can forget about the freedom of the press, so far as any particular journal is concerned.

It is rather doubtful if any adult, of more than fifty years, can write a book that will give expression to the ideals of the youth of his own generation.

Some educators complain that the young men of America, finishing education, have their minds distracted by the war. If they are mentally alert, why not?

The hope of the world, after this war, lies in the continued cooperation of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States of America. It is the way to peace.

The experts say that an aerial raid upon our shores is not impossible, but the only way to make sure people believe this is to have a few bombs let us be this night.

We have an inventory of things as the earliest possible moment that the allied high command thinks it will be successful. Until the military orders come, we are not to be afraid.

The spacious living room was decorated most affective for the occasion; from the center a huge wedding bell hung with ribbon tapers extending to the ceiling of the room. On the table in front of the window was a large basket of double white Larkspurs and fern. From the center of the mantel a large Candelabra bearing eight candles burned softly making a lovely background for the receiving line which was composed of: Sgt. Henry P. Brewer, best man at the wedding, M. Luther Love, father of the bride, and Sgt. and Mrs. Bundy, the Bridal Couple of a year. Miss Sadie Lee Wallace, maid of honor, was unable to attend. Mrs. Bundy was lovely in a wedding gown of white net with a corsage of gardenias. Her only ornament was a seeded pearl necklace a gift of her father to her mother on their wedding day.

Miss Emma Jene Hawley registered the guest as they entered the gift room. This popular young couple received a host of nice gifts from friends far and near, including many pieces of their selected pattern of china and crystal. The gift of the groom to his bride of a year was a lovely chest of Sterling Silver.

In the dining room, Miss Mildred Marshall presided over the punch bowl and Misses Jo Ann Long, Betty Stuart, and Grace Campbell served assorted sandwiches, individual Bride cakes and mints. The Bride's table was covered with a linen cover and on each side double candelabras with alternating white and green candles and in the center was the lovely Anniversary Cake, topped with a miniature Soldier and bride.

During the evening many friends called to congratulate this fine couple and to wish them many, many more returns of the day.

Mrs. Bundy was before her marriage, Miss Alberta Love, daughter of M. Luther Love and the late Mrs. Love of Lowrys, South Carolina. Sgt. Bundy is the son of Mrs. S. H. Bundy and the late Mr. Bundy of Farmville, North Carolina. He is now attached with the 197th Field Artillery Battalion at Camp Forest, Tenn.

Since their marriage they have made their home in Columbia, S. C. and are among our favorite adopted Columbians.

TRAINING FOR CREW CHIEF

Rome, N. Y.—Edward T. Moringo, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Moringo, Farmville, N. C., is undergoing training as crew chief of a B-26 Martin bomber at the Rome Air Depot here under the direction of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command.

Moringo, who recently graduated from a course at Glenn L. Martin Aircraft plant, Baltimore, Md., has been promoted to corporal because of his demonstrated ability to absorb technical training. He previously completed a course in basic aviation mechanics.

At the Martin school, Moringo specialized in maintenance and repair of the Martin "Marauder." His training equipped him for the crew chief duties he has assumed at Rome.

Ask Women To Turn In Discarded Hose

As reported on April 5, North Carolina had shipped to the Defense Supplies Corporation 3,946 pounds of silk and nylon hosiery. C. E. Blair, shipping for Pitt County, had sent in 102 pounds. Another shipment will be made soon. Leave all discarded silk and nylon hose at the counter from which you are purchasing new ones so that they may be collected for this next shipment.

Silk waste is used in the manufacture of gun powder bags, used mostly by the navy. They hold powder to discharge shells from a big caliber gun. Only silk can be used because only silk burns without leaving an ash.

Old nylon hose make parachute fabric, parachute parts and rope used in glider take-offs. Wash all discarded silk and nylon hose, take them to a hosiery counter and they will go right into the big fight.

BIRD CLUB

Jess Spencer read the Carolina Calendar which described the young cardinals. They are all created like their parents but they have the coloration of their mother rather than their father. That is they are clothed in subdued rose and lack the brilliant scarlet that gives the species its name. This dull coloration is doubtless nature's device to preserve the young ones against the attacks that would certainly fall on them if they became the conspicuous marks in the landscape that their fathers are.

The male is cloaked in full scarlet only after he has passed through the first season's moult. The female keeps her less flaming uniform so that she may be less conspicuous on the nest.

Joseph Smith read an article in the Chat, North Carolina Bird Club Magazine, by Mrs. Roxie Collier Simpson, on nesting of the Osprey and American Egret from Southport, N. C. About fifty Osprey nests were found over the Orton pond... varying in height above the water from a few feet to fifteen or twenty feet.

A robin's nest which was found on the grounds was studied. It was made of sticks, grass and paper and fastened together with mud. It was lined with soft grasses.

Mack Holmes was a guest.

FEEDS

At the recent feed conservation conference in Greensboro, the Government was requested to take immediate steps to renew the importation of animal proteins, steamed bone meal, and molasses.

GRASS SILAGE

The "wilting" method of making grass silage, without the use of molasses or acid preservatives, requires that the moisture content of the chopped material be reduced about 50 percent.

RABBIT BATTERIES

The production of rabbit batteries has been limited to 300,000 a month since the war started in Germany.
