Tournament Supper Wed. Evening Enjoyable Affair

YOUTHFUL MERCHANT CLEARS SUFFICIENT PROFIT FOR WAR BOND. Interesting to friends here is this clipping from the paper, News and Views, Jacksonville, concerning Master Johnny Bill Meadows, formerly of Farmville: "Young Johnny Bill Meadows is youthful proof to the old adage that if a man's wares are sufficiently good, the world will beat a path to his door. Two weeks ago, Johnny Bill, age 8, pitched a small tent beside the Allure Beauty Shop which is operated by his mother, 'Santa' Claus brought him the tent last Christmas. In the tent he opened a lemonade stand. Small glass, six; large glass, five. The penny is to pay for the paper cup," explained Johnny, the merchant with the sparkling eyes. "Today, Johnny Bill is $18.75 richer than he was two weeks ago. His profit, selling ice-cold lemonade to passersby on recent hot days, has netted him enough to buy a War Bond which he expects to purchase immediately."

Clubs Dispense With Programs to Fold Red Cross Surgical Dressings; Bridge Hostesses Give Prizes of War Savings Stamps. An outstanding social event of the week was the TOURNAMENT SUPPER at the Country Club on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock, when approximately seventy-five members enjoyed a picnic supper given for the winning "Slicers," who were captained by James Y. Monk and Mrs. Neal Howard, by the losing "Hookers," captained by Walter Jones and Mrs. W. S. Royster.

The MERRY MATRONS were entertained on Tuesday morning of this week by Mrs. Wesley R. Willis for a brief social period before adjourning to the Red Cross Sewing Room to fold surgical dressings. The hostess' home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of roses and red and white gladioli. Refreshments were tasty sandwiches and cookies, served with iced coca-cola. Additional guests were Mrs. J. H. Darden, Mrs. W. C. Holston and Miss Talitha DeVicenti.

THE AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY met for its usual monthly service, as a group, in the Red Cross Sewing Room at three-thirty on Thursday afternoon of last week. Later in the afternoon members enjoyed a cool drink served with salted nuts by the hostesses, Mrs. Louise Harris, Mrs. Marvin Horton and Mrs. Neal Howard.

THE NEW DEAL CLUB met for a delightful morning of bridge on Wednesday with Mrs. Henrietta Williamson as hostess. Roses and gladioli were used in lovely decoration throughout the home. War Savings Stamps, guest prize, was won by Mrs. Herman Baker and cash trays, for club high, by Mrs. S. A. Roebuck.

Party sandwiches, ham biscuits and cheese cookies were served with coca-cola. Additional playing guests included Mrs. L. T. Pierce, Mrs. J. H. Moore, Mrs. C. S. Hotchkiss, Mrs. Wesley R. Willis, Mrs. M. V. Horton, Mrs. Zeb Whitehurst, Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. G. M. Holden, Mrs. W. C. Holston, Mrs. E. C. Beaman, Mrs. Herman Baker, Mrs. Sam Lewis, Jr., Miss Margaret Lewis and Mrs. R. D. Rouse. Mrs. E. C. Carr assisted the hostess in serving.

Four interesting progressions of bridge were played by the WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB at a lovely meeting this week when Mrs. James Y. Monk was hostess. Bouquets of summer garden flowers were used in decorating and arrangements of shasta daisies centered the hostess plates. A refreshing fruit punch was served with dainty sandwiches, sand tarts and other cookies.

Other guests included Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. C. S. Hotchkiss and Miss Mary Greene. Prizes of War Savings Stamps were won by Miss Greene and Mrs. Robert Lee Smith.

The PROGRESSIVE BRIDGE CLUB met on Thursday afternoon of this week when Mrs. G. M. Holden entertained at a delightful party at her home, in blue decorations were of pink roses, blue hydrangeas and white althoes.

War Savings Stamps, were won by Mrs. Jack Smith who compiled the high score for the four progressions. Mrs. Alex Bynum, house guest of the hostess, was remembered with a gift of dusting powder.

Other guests included Mrs. W. M. Willis and Mrs. Haywood Smith. After play, delicious orange sherbert and decorated cookies were served.

Crown 4-H Kings And Queens Here. Greenville, June 23.—The Pitt County 4-H club's annual pageant on the court house lawn this afternoon was entertaining and impressive and singularly interesting because the honors bestowed were for outstanding work among the rural school boys and girls. Miss Edna Kirby, assistant home demonstration agent, and S. C. Winchester, assistant farm agent, directed the coronation exercises.

Leland Flanagan of Farmville, and Nell McGlothin of Winterville, were crowned senior king and queen; Clay Morgan of Fountain, and Justice Turnage of Ayden, were crowned junior king and queen.

Flower girls were Betty Lane Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans; and Jo Ann Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks.

Crown bearers were Alice Lee Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Edwards; and Jane Winchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Winchester.
