Uncle Sam Needs Extra Pulpwood

Uncle Sam is asking farm woodland owners to spend some of their spare time in cutting pulpwood because more tons of wood go into the war machine than tons of steel, says R. W. Graeber, extension forester at N. C. State College.

CROP CORPS CERTIFICATE Persons who aid growers in producing more food and feed crops by volunteering for farm labor on week ends and holidays, and for full time employment on farms, are eligible to receive the above "Certificate of Service" in the U. S. Crop Corps, says Dr. I. O. Schaub, Director of Extension at State College.

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: Can I cultivate my corn at the silking stage? ANSWER: It is difficult to cultivate corn after it is silking because corn roots are very shallow and fill up the entire space between the rows, says Extension Agronomist E. C. Blair.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

The BAE reports that consumer income and the domestic demand for agricultural products are expected to rise further during the second half of 1943.

WHEAT

The War Food Administration has announced an increase of 1 cent a bushel in the national average of wheat loan rates for the 1943 crop. The new rate is $1.23 per bushel.

Get Cotton Ready For Smooth Ginning

Cotton picking and ginning are just around the corner now and it is a good time to remember that neither "green" or "damp" cotton can be ginned without lowering the quality of the lint, says C. L. McCaslan, extension gin specialist at State College.

prices, the grower has the opportunity of getting some mighty good premiums for cotton of normal to high quality. Slight differences in grade will make big differences in profits.

What kind of cigarettes do Uncle Sam's fighting men prefer? Well, records show that the favorite cigarette is Camel. That is true not only with men in the Army, but with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen as well.

Further proof that Uncle Sam's fighting men like their smokes is given in the service man's preference in gifts from home—it's a cartoon of his favorite brand of cigarettes.

It may be bad taste to admit it, but when even our best friends and most valuable associates leave for their vacations we sometimes bid them goodbye with a kind of relief.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS The tradition of American cavalry threads back to Indian warfare days and although modern armies are largely motorized today, the cavalry still plays an important role.

When men are in the saddle for hours, their saddles, saddle rolls and other equipment must be made to stand the wear. Complete with carbine and helmets, the equipment for the cavalryman runs into hundreds of dollars.

SOLDIERS ENJOY A GOOD SMOKE

Is it true that a soldier is always hungry? Yes—up to a point, but the Quartermaster Department has found that—in spite of the wealth of variety in today's Army diet—some soldiers, particularly new recruits, actually don't eat enough.

After all, the Army mess table is exactly like a football team's training table. The food served there is carefully planned to aid in the physical development of the soldier. And the Army has discovered certain little ways to increase Johnny Doughboy's appetite.

For instance, today's soldier is no longer required to stand at attention before sitting down at his mess table. When the bugle sounds out the Army equivalent of "Come and Get It" the soldier does just that... with no preliminaries to dull his appetite.

Another way the Army has found to add to a soldier's enjoyment of his food—and therefore increase his consumption of all those carefully prepared vitamins, minerals, and proteins—is to allow the men to smoke during meals. Measured tests run by the Quartermaster's Department show that food consumption actually increased by 5 percent when soldiers were permitted to smoke cigarettes at the mess table.

"Smokes," of course, play a prominent part in many phases of the life of a soldier. Whenever you see a news photo of soldiers at ease, you're apt to see them enjoying a cigarette. Particularly among American troops overseas, cigarettes—real American cigarettes—are highly prized and almost never present in sufficient quantities.

Further proof that Uncle Sam's fighting men like their smokes is given in the service man's preference in gifts from home—it's a cartoon of his favorite brand of cigarettes. Tobacco dealers, recognizing that Camels are the favorite among service men, are equipped to help you in properly wrapping, addressing, stamping your gift of Camels to the man in the service.

It may be bad taste to admit it, but when even our best friends and most valuable associates leave for their vacations we sometimes bid them goodbye with a kind of relief.
