

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GUARANTEES TOWN'S PROGRESS

Business And Professional Men United In Promotion Activities

To give Farmville business firms an avenue for a unified program and to provide the town of Farmville with an added assurance of permanent progress, a group of forward looking citizens met four years ago and formed an organization of the business and professional men which marked a decided step in the direction of future development for the town. This organization is called the Farmville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association.

Since its organization, with George W. Davis as president, the Chamber has moved along rapidly and satisfactorily, having been fortunate in the leadership of Farmville's most active business men. This year J. O. Pollard, who is interested in the promotion of any worthwhile movement for the betterment of the town heads the organization and an advance in its activities is indicated.

The unusual conditions and difficulties, prevailing in the business world, since the organization of the business heads here, have been met and dealt with collectively, the progress of the community being the dominant note of every meeting and the fostering of a deeper sense of civic responsibility its main objective. This has been accomplished to a gratifying extent and a fine spirit of pride and cooperation in this endeavor is being evidenced by the members.

During the past year the organization under the leadership of J. O. Pollard, well known business man and junior partner of Pollard Auto Company, has played a leading role in a town program designed for progress, the results of which have been most gratifying. The Chamber promoted a number of successful trade events, the outstanding one of which was Dollar Day.

Other officers reelected at the annual election are; Robert D. Rouse, vice president and John B. Lewis, secretary and treasurer. Directors are; T. E. Joyner, L. E. Walston, W. H. Fisher, J. W. Munden, R. H. Knott and Dr. J. M. Mewborn.

The organization prints and distributes to its members a weekly bulletin of credit transactions in Pitt and Greene counties, which has proved to be a valuable reference sheet for the merchants. It regulates the business hours, acts as a Bureau of Information, makes decisions as to holiday closing, investigates industrial proposals and assists new people in getting located and at times in finding jobs for citizens who are unemployed.

The Association in its progressive program, undertakes to present Farmville to the world as a town of opportunity with emphasis placed on the essential resources and advantages, which would attract industries and prospective residents.

As a continuation of its publicity and advertising campaign, and as concrete evidence of its interest and pride in the Farmville Tobacco Market, the Chamber cooperated in the issuance of this the Market Edition, and directed that a special space be allotted to it for a timely message to the farmers of this section of the State. This valuable message will be found in these pages.

Professional activities of recent months have also included; presentation of radio programs; the raising of an advertising fund for the market in conjunction with the warehousemen; effort to encourage a trade-at-home policy.

Offices of the Chamber of Commerce are in the Pitt County Insurance Agency building, and are open not only to Farmville citizens but visitors from other towns as well, who will always find the efficient and genial secretary interested and anxious to be of service and to offer the cooperation of the organization in providing united action by all business and professional men here in any movement that tends towards the promotion of the town, county and state.

PROMOTED

Wyatt C. Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Tucker, of near Farmville, was promoted recently to Staff Sergeant. His address is Co. C, 17th Marine Corps, care of Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

AT FORT BRAGG

Jack Paylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill Paylor, left Friday for Fort Bragg to enter military service.

An astronomer observes that the nights are darker than they once were. Perhaps that is because less moonshine is being made.

Nichols-Myrick Invitations Out

The following invitations have been received by friends here:

"Mr. and Mrs. James H. Fullilove Myrick request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Anna, to William Johnson Nichols, Junior, Lieutenant United States Marine Corps, on Saturday, the twenty-eighth of August, at eight o'clock in the evening, Grace Episcopal Church, Silver Spring, Maryland."

Lieutenant Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nichols, of Greenville and College Park, Md., is well remembered here as "Bill" Nichols, who visited his aunts, Mrs. T. M. Dail and Mrs. Marinda Cobb, and an uncle Heber Nichols, often, and made many friends in the town and community during his boyhood, and news of his approaching marriage will be received with interest.

The young Lieutenant, a graduate of the Washington, D. C. schools, attended the University of Maryland for four years, taking a pre-medical course, prior to joining the Marine Corps at Farris Island, December 2. Here he made a good record and was classed as a sharpshooter. He later was graduated from the Quantico officers candidate school, and in competition with 200 classmates, was among the twenty candidates receiving commissions as lieutenants.

Miss Myrick received her diploma from the University of Maryland with the '43 class in the Spring.
