THE BIRD CLUB

"Nesting Birds", read by Donnie Bryan, was the subject for study at Saturday's Bird Club meeting. With birds, as with humans, making a home starts as soon as the formalities of courtship are done. The male picks the area for the nest and the female chooses the exact tree, shrub or the thicket. Sometimes the male helps build the nest. Other times he gets in the way or just sits around and sings. When the nest is finished the female starts to lay eggs in it, usually at the rate of one a day. Some males do a full share of nest sitting while the eggs are incubating. Regularly the eggs are turned over so they will be equally warmed on all sides.

A great many water birds, which are usually born with eyes open and muscles developed, can leave the nest a few hours after being hatched.
Most shoreland birds, however, are weak and helpless for days. At first, some bird parents swallow food, then regurgitate it into the mouths of their babies. Careful parents push insects far down a young bird's throat so the insect can't fly away.

Birdlings are not fed in rotation.
The one that yells the loudest is fed first and continues to be fed until another birdling yells louder. Birds automatically cease to swallow—but not to yell—when they have had enough to eat. If the mother sees an unswallowed bird she picks it out and gives it to another baby. Nestling appetites are enormous. A Robin can eat 14 feet of earth worms in one day.

Color photographs of parents and nestlings were exhibited. Cookies were enjoyed by the members.

You county agent, Extension farm forester, and TFWA foresters will assist you in cutting and marketing your pulpwood this fall and winter. Uncle Sam is asking farmers to use their spare time in getting out logs and pulpwood supplies wherever possible because lumber supplies are extremely short. R. W. Graeber, in charge of Extension forestry at State College, advises you to do selective cutting and suggests that you contact your county agent before finally deciding how to cut your timber.

State College Hints
For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current,
N. C. State College.

To distribute the wear on sheets we suggest to homemakers that they put the small hem at the top of the bed at least half of the time.

To protect sheets from snagging and tearing we suggest that a mattress cover be placed over the bed springs. Remember too that a bit of adhesive tape carefully bound over a rough place on the spring will also help to avoid a tear.

Wash rag or chenille rugs just as you wash blankets; let them drip dry. When hanging, fold over line and fasten two clothespins down each hanging side, pinning double thicknesses. Shake or brush when nearly dry to fluff up.

Wash curtains as you would silk.
Put curtains of fine materials such as lace and scrim in a net bag to wash. Starch keeps them fresh, crisp, and clean longer. Use a large kettle so that all curtains for one room can be starched evenly and at once. Do not hang curtains on the line to dry but roll up in a sheet.
Iron when damp dry.

In hanging sheets out to dry, put large and small hems together; swing large hem over the line, with small hem on the outside. Place clothes-pins at one-foot intervals. Straighten out selvages. When removing, fold sheet crosswise again, and it is ready for ironing.

Hang tablecloths lengthwise, putting selvage edges together. Pin closely, like sheets.

Hang guest towels singly with a third over the line, and with embroidered part or colored edging at the bottom.

Hang bath towels singly, a third over the line. Shake when dry to fluff up nap. Do not iron towels.

For handkerchiefs, napkins and washcloths, hang two or three over each other by the hem, not by the corners.

COTTON

Entirely too much green and damp cotton is being hauled to the gins this fall, resulting in losses of from $4 to $8 a bale to the farmer, reports Extension Gin Specialist C. L. Mc-Casian, State College.

PROCLAMATION

North Carolina Wants Three Recruits by October 15

To The People of Farmville:
It is with great pleasure that I, George W. Davis, Mayor, heartily indorse this city's participation in the nation wide all states campaign for the Women's Army Corps' recruiting drive.

You doubtless know there is a tremendous need for WAC's. General Marshall stated recently: "Commanders to whom WAC's have been assigned have spoken in the highest terms of their efficiency and value—in 165 kinds of Army jobs." This statement is indicative of the excellent job the Women's Army Corps is doing.

However the present objective is to release more thousands of soldiers for combat training. In order to accomplish this, each state will participate in the campaign. Likewise each city and county. Our office of Civilian Defense has been designated by Governor Broughton as the recruiting agency in North Carolina.

Our city's participation in this nation wide drive is needed to assure the success of this program. Our county has been selected to enlist three recruits by October 15. I feel sure that the people of Farmville will want Pitt County and North Carolina to lead all others in the nation wide enlistment drive.

The Army has asked for 600,000 WAC's. The North Carolina Company will be sworn in by the Governor at the State Capitol, will go through basic training together, will carry the N. C. Flag as part of the color guard, will wear a N. C. insignia on the uniform. This group will train at historic Fort Oglethorpe, near Chattanooga, Tenn.

Application Blanks can be secured through OGD or U. S. Army Regt.
Stations at Asheville, Charlotte, and Durham. Qualifications for enlistment: American women citizens between the ages of 20 and 60; have two years high school education; have no children under fourteen years of age; be without dependents.

North Carolina wants three recruits from each county by October 15th. Join the N. C. Company of the Wac, TODAY.
