

The Walstonburg High School News

The Walstonburg High School, last Friday night, was in gala attire, reports from the school's P. A. T. declare. The occasion was the annual Halloween Festival.

The entire festival, lasting from 5:30 to midnight, was under the direction of the Parent-Teachers Association. It began with a supper and ended with a cake walk. In between was a "Local Radio Program" followed by a Beauty Contest.

Financially, the report indicates, the occasion was a distinct success.

The radio program opened with the appearance of the school's Rhythm Band—their second for the season. The vocal solo contest was won by Dorothy Murphy. Mary Blair Shirley and Linwood Mann were declared the winners in the vocal duet contest.

Josie Galloway was awarded the prize in the recitation contest. In the Tap Dance contest, the prize went to Evelyn Speight. In the Stunt contest, the First Grade received the prize.

Following a skit called "Fifteen Lonely Heart's a maleless wedding," it is reported that this presentation was well received by the audience.

In the Beauty contest, Pauline Dixon represented the Twelfth Grade, Katie Gray Shackelford, the Eleventh Grade; Gladys Lechworth, the Ninth Grade, and Dorothy Hardison, Eighth Grade. The contest was reported as being a very close one with Katie Gray Shackelford finally being declared the winner and crowned the Walstonburg High School Queen for the 1943-4 school term.

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: Can you tell me how to take better care of the belts on my farm machinery?

ANSWER: David S. Weaver, head of the department of agricultural engineering at State College, suggests that first of all belts must be kept clean. Machine oil should not be allowed to come in contact with belts. Dampness makes belts become harsh and loosens the cement and, therefore, they should be kept dry. If it is necessary to run a belt under wet conditions, a belt capable of withstanding dampness should be used. Do not run a belt vertically, if possible. Keep proper tension on the belt for good power transmission and to lengthen the life of the belt.

QUESTION: Can I buy a pressure canner now for next year?

ANSWER: Yes, says Ruth Current, State Home Leader of the State College Extension Service. Find a dealer who has pressure canners for sale. A supply of 7 quart and 14 quart canners are available under relaxed regulations. The supply of the 14 quart canner is somewhat limited. Persons who need pressure canners may apply directly to the local War Board Committee for a certificate or get the old certificate reviewed under new rulings. "Now is the time to buy a pressure canner," says Miss Ruth Current.

QUESTION: Who classes the cotton samples sent in by growers from one-variety cotton communities?

ANSWER: These samples are classed by a Board of Cotton Examiners of the United States Department of Agriculture, says Dan F. Holler, Extension Cotton Marketing Specialist at State College. The examiners are all licensed Government classifiers and are checked daily by the USDA supervising board at Memphis, Tenn. The classifiers give the grade and staple of each bale of cotton. Before the classing card is returned from Raleigh to the grower, the loan value of the cotton is stamped on the classing card to guide the farmer in determining the value of his cotton.

Perhaps the rubber shortage has served a good purpose after all. We no longer have a rubber-stamp congress.

"We Are Buying War Bonds—Are You?"

Sgt. Carl Funk, 38, Clackamas, Ore., lost his right eye and sustained a fractured left knee in Sicily. He has been buying War Bonds regularly. He will return to civil life as soon as he is discharged from Halloran Hospital, N. Y.

Pvt. Irvin Lovinson, Baltimore, Md., was struck by shrapnel in the left shoulder at Salerno. The fingers of his left hand are amputated. When his father asked if he needed anything, his son replied: "Buy War Bonds." His father bought $1,500 worth.

Pvt. Thomas Dellarosa, Trion, N. J., 18th Infantry Postal, was wounded by shrapnel at El Guiler, Africa, and now must wear a special brace for his left knee. He won the Purple Heart. He buys War Bonds regularly and urges you to.

Pvt. Donat Carter, Berry, N. C., suffered a fracture of the leg above the knee in Sicily when struck by an 88 mm. shell. He was held prisoner for two days by the Germans, traveling in a tank. He is a regular purchaser of War Bonds.

Pvt. William E. Morris, Long Beach, Cal., is above draft age but has seen three years of service. He lost his left leg below the knee in Tunisia. He wears the Purple Heart and Good Conduct Ribbon and continues his War Bond purchases.

Marine Planes Using Airport

Greenville, Oct. 27.—First use of the county-city airport as a Marine air training base got under way today with the arrival of about a dozen planes here from Cherry Point for "bounce" drills. While several planes have previously landed at the field, today marks the beginning of actual use of the field for training purposes. A small contingent of Marines took over operation of the airport the latter part of last week and as soon as facilities are provided to care for them approximately 600 Marines and 50 to 60 officers and two squadrons of planes will be stationed here.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current, N. C. State College.

As you think of some of the most tantalizing odors of good food, aren't golden loaves of freshly baked bread high on the list? Good, home-made bread is uniformly shaped, evenly browned, a fine even porous texture, and above all, the flavor is wheaty and good. By all means use Enriched flour—and some should be made of whole wheat flour.

To make bread that will satisfy, understand the principles of bread making, use a tested recipe, select ingredients of good quality, and follow directions explicitly. If you stick to these simple rules, you won't have unlucky baking days.

As our civilian food supply grows smaller, the homemaker's problem of providing adequate diets and attractive meals for her family grows larger. Therefore, it is more important than ever for Mrs. Homemaker to know the seven basic food groups, the foods that insure the health and well being of her family. If you can't remember the seven basic groups, get a copy of the chart from the local home agent and hang it in your kitchen.

Keep wearing apparel and household supplies and equipment well aired and dry these days. This is the best way to prevent mildew, which is caused by mold. Molds need moisture and certain temperatures in order to grow. Wherever the closet is damp, poorly aired, and poorly lighted or dark, molds will flourish.

INCREASED YIELDS
Increased yields per acre of food and feed crops offer one of the best methods of getting a larger total supply of these crops, reports State College specialists.

FOOD CROPS

Growers can change their farming plans slightly to include several acres of food crops without interfering with tobacco or cotton, say Shoffner and Holmes, farm management specialists at State College.

We'd smash our radios today if we had to listen to the programs we thought were "just wonderful" three years ago.
