n 38 German Plane Latest Attack; The street of Kiel

London, Dec. 22.—United State Righth Air Force heavy hombers as Senters shot down 38 German figh n of the mighty Allie re against Nazi Europe. ne heavy bombers a ers aboard Flying Fortres berators shot down 28 and planes while escorting Thunderbolt and Lightening fighter pilots bagged 15. The assault, the Eighth Air Porce announced, was carried out by "large formations" of the American heavyweights.

Today's victories made a total of 282 German fighters shot down in seven missions this month by heavy bomber gunners and fighter pilots. A total of 117 heavy bombers have been lost on the raids, all but one against Germany.

Not Identified. The bombers encountered heavy louds, possibly explaining why the Eighth Air Force for the fourth time this month did not immediately identify the targets. It was revealed earlier today that under its policy of conservatism no announcements would be made until full results of the bombings were determined. It was revealed for the first time oday that a December 13th raid on "Northwest Germany" was directed against the port of Kiel. The Americans struck after RAF Mosquito bombers had kept the sirens wailing in Western Germany Tuesday night with attacks on unspecified targets, made without loss. Heavy bomber crews indicated that at least two separate targets were attacked today.

Beace. Beace To The World

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; Not as the world giveth, give I unto you, (St. John 14:27)

How wonderful are these words of two thousand years ago, and how appropriate to our needs today. The peace of mind, peace of soul, the peace within ourselves is happiness—a sort of happiness that the world cannot give. Neither money nor power can command it, and nothing man-made can produce it. And yet it is yours for the asking. Worth more than all the kingdoms of the world, it costs nothing. But you will say, "I must sample. I must dany myself if I want that happiness." Of what? Only of earthly things that vanish quickly enough in their own importance. Look at the lilies of the field, the birds of the forest, the sunset; the trees whose lofty nature radiates the joy of heaven.

And we who possess the "power and will to create"—made in His image—sit back and whine. And we do this simply because we have not created within ourselves the knowledge that God is love, and that love is power, and that nothing material matters. If we would have real happiness we must cultivate that power, realizing that we possess and are part of Him who possesses all things and can boughs cry out as they sway in the breeze-all do all things.

Seek first the kingdom of God. Seek it within yourself. Find your own soul. And when you have thrown aside all earthly, material, vain, imaginary pleasures, and brought yourself into the higher realms of thought, you will find that you have in that soul a love and sympathy for others. You will find it so beautiful that to soil it would be the last thing you would do. And when you are once aware of this, God will speak to you through your soul. He will show you things hidden from the foundations of the earth. God will make life worth living because you will see the world as He intended, clothed in beauty. For all this natural beauty was given for our happiness and because of His great love for the object of His creation.

Then you will find the peace that the world cannot give—peace with Him, peace with yourself. And nothing will interrupt this holy peace; for you will then realize that as St. Augustine said, "Our hearts are made for Thee, oh Lord, and cannot find peace until we rest in Thee."

Do this, and the so-called cares and troubles of

Do this, and the so-called cares and troubles of this man-made world will vanish. You will look with your eyes upon the light of a true life of happiness, intended for us from all creation. You will go through life with a smile since you will be will go through life with a smile since you will be free of worry. You will be an implication and a joy to others. Your and will speak out in your countenance, and your body will radiate that health which only a free mind and a clear conscience can.

Your mind will be free to do His bidding, and to accept it for your best interest. Your love for everyone you meet will bring you through His advice, success in business. You will know loy in living, and realize that your passing will leave to others a remembrance that your life has been worthwhile. They will know that here at last was one who had found the secret of life—because he had found in his soul the image and likeness of God: a God of peace and love existing for all enternity. God of peace and love existing for all enternity, and of whom we are a part.

The Sacred Trust . . .

Our hearts, though burdened, must keep Christmas

Our busy hands must find time to arrange The holly wreaths, the candles on the sill. Our boys on land and sea and in the air Will think of Some, of Christmas they knew, Assured that back of war and its dispair The old loved things are changeless, steadfast, true.

There are some things we must not, dare not change. We dare not fall them! Let us keep the night A holy thing of starshine; let us rise
To meet the Christmas morning with delight,
Like children, still with wonder in our eyes.
After their baptism of scarlet flame,
Let them come home to find leved things the same.

Sermons Carry Theme of Hop Of Peace on Earth And Good Will

The theme of sternal hope of "Peace on earth, good will to men," was weven into the sermone of the ministers of the Farmville churches, Sunday, as they relayed the message from the angels to the shephards, in the Judean hills nineteen hundred years ago, and the choirs in their turn rendered echoes of the song of the heavenly chorus.

The spiritual leaders read from lasial prophecy in the Old Testament and from Matthew and Luke's accounts of the Nativity, and they stressed wonder of His birth, His life and death, His power and teachings and the grave responsibility with Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner at the

Moscow's communiques reported

The annual Christmas-card blinard is fast gathering. Before it blows itself out in the last hours of 1743, it will have heaped about 400 million cards—most of them bearing the simple message above—on the table tops of American homes alone. The fall will be heavy in other lands, too, The Christmas card is not old, yet it has instituted proportions. It is the cornerstone of a 500 million-dollar greeting-card industry; it is the object of the collector's hunt; and, though its use is an almost too rigid convention, it is one of man's readiest.
