Beating the Attack!
WITH WAR BONDS

Don't worry about what you have lost. Be thankful for what you have left.

It is said the President never wears a hat. Of course not. He keeps it in the ring.

Nylons remain high" — Headline. True, but it isn't garters that's holding them up.

The fellow with a swell-head doesn't suffer pain from it but his associates do.

The clock doesn't need to be watched. It never stops to put its hands in its pockets.

"No liquor to be made this year" says the OPA and the bootleggers get a good laugh.

When the inductee received his new uniform he said to the sergeant "The army suits me."

More Grazing Crops Save Time and Labor

More and more grazing crops, not only to furnish cheap feed but also to save on time and labor, is the greatest need of dairymen, beef cattle feeders, hog producers, and poultrymen, say Extension specialists in animal husbandry and poultry at N. C. State College.

"Utilize the free labor of cattle, dairy animals, hogs, work stock, and poultry in harvesting grazing crops so that labor may be saved and cheaper products and gains obtained," the specialists point out.

Man hours of work are precious under labor shortage conditions caused by the war and every effort must be made to save time and labor whenever possible.

Many excellent grazing crops may be grown in North Carolina that will furnish cheap feed for the major part of the year. The specialists suggest small grain crops, lespedeza, soybeans, Sudan grass, cowpeas, velvet beans and other crops.

Early planting and fertilization of grazing crops are two of the chief points to keep in mind, according to the specialists.

They also point out that more grazing crops will help to cut down on the requirements for protein feeds and supplements. Dairy cows and beef cattle can make excellent use of high quality grazing and good hay.

"Keep livestock numbers in line with feed supplies and provide more grazing crops and permanent pasture," the experts advise.

State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By Ruth Current, N. C. State College.

Sharpen knives often. A tapered steel rod, oil stone, or grindstone can be used. See that the cutting edge always leads when sharpening.

To keep knives sharp, cut food on wooden cutting board and not on a metallic or enameled surface. Avoid leaving knives in hot water. Store in a wooden wall rack. Never store knives loose in a drawer as the edges become dulled.

To prevent dents in utensils, store them in an easy-to-reach place so they can be removed without moving others. Make racks for storing pots, lids, pie pans, tin-baking sheets, and trays.

Remove all ashes regularly from the firebox and ash pan of the range. Never allow ashes in the ash pit to remain in contact with the grate.

Clean soot from chimney, flue and pipe once a year, and from bottom of lids and around oven once a week.

Wash the inside of the oven and racks with soap and water, rinse, and dry thoroughly. If inside is rusted, clean with steel wool and paint with aluminum paint. If you can get it, allow oven door to remain slightly open until cool.

Never allow food in the oven.

Keep the top of the stove in good shape by rubbing it each day with a soft cloth. Use a piece of newspaper or newspaper rather than paper to clean the stove, as the paper may catch fire.

Pin-up for Those Not Buying Bonds

This American soldier took refuge under a truck during a Jap bombing raid on our positions at Rendova. A Nipponese bomb, however, had his number on it. Here you see his comrades gently removing his body from under the engine. When you are asked to buy War Bonds think of this picture. From U. S. Treasury.

INITIATION

The campus of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, was the scene recently of the formal initiation of twenty-five honor students in the department of business education into the Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, the national honorary business education fraternity. Membership in Pi Omega Pi is based on superior scholastic achievement in commercial subjects with general superior scholarship taken into consideration.

The formal candlelight service was preceded by a formal dinner at which Dr. E. R. Browning, head of the department of business education, was the principal speaker. His topic was "Your Chosen Profession and Its Future in North Carolina." Among those initiated were: Misses Dorothy Lewis, Farmville; Harriet Chestnut and Manora Mewborn, Snow Hill, and Vivian Yelverton, Stantonburg.

JAMES E. CASH

Funeral services for James Edward Cash of Farmville, who died at his home Friday morning, were conducted from the home Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Rev. E. C. Chamblee, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiated assisted by Rev. J. C. Moye, Free Will Baptist minister of Snow Hill. The Masons served as active and honorary pall-bearers and were in charge at the graveside services. Interment was in the Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Cash, the son of the late Joseph and Mary Cash of Granville County where he was born, came to this community 42 years ago, and was one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Farmville.

He was a member of the Farmville Baptist Church, a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge, an honorary member of the Fire Department, and an active member of the Farmville Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Baker Cash, one daughter, Mrs. Claude N. Allen of Farmville, and one brother, Charlie Cash of Chase City, Va.

FORMER FARMVILLE RESIDENT PASSES

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Phillips Walter, former Farmville resident, who died Tuesday night at her home in Morehead after an illness of long duration, were held from the First Baptist Church in Morehead on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Dr. J. H. Bunn, pastor of the church, officiated assisted by Rev. E. C. Chamblee, pastor of the Farmville Baptist Church. "Lead Kindly Light" and "Crossing The Bar" were rendered by the Church Choir and Elbert Holmes of Farmville sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Burial was in Bayview cemetery.

Mrs. Walter, widow of A. E. Walter who died here in 1935, was born and reared in Morehead and a year ago moved her residence from Farmville to Morehead. Up until her illness confined her to her home she was an active member of the Farmville Baptist Church and of the Rebecca Winborne Chapter, U. D. C.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Leland Day; two sisters, Mrs. S. P. Willis of Washington, and Mrs. W. A. Howland of Morehead City, and several nieces and nephews.

BIRD CLUB

The bird studied at Saturday's Bird Club meeting was the Olive-backed Thrush and the article, read by Willie Russell, stated that probably no bird family is as popular as the thrushes, robins and bluebirds. The olive-backed thrush breeds chiefly in the Canadian forests and when seen in the central and eastern states is no doubt on his way North. He flies Northward in May and returns to the South in September and October. The upper parts of this thrush, as indicated by its name, are wholly olive-gray. The sides of its head, its eye ring, and breasts are buffy. The breast is spotted with black. Olive-backed's four greenish-blue eggs, spotted with brown, are laid in a nest built in bushes or low trees. It is made of leaves, grasses and strips of bark. The food of this thrush is mainly worms, snails and insects.

In digging up mimosa trees for their own yards, the members showed much interest in hunting for snails and studying them.
