"97" Store Moved To New Location; Grand Opening 26th

The newest addition to Main street in Farmville is the fully equipped grocery and market establishment of Jack Freedman, located in one of the Davis buildings, next door to the Bank of Farmville. Mr. Freedman has been moving the stock from his former location this week and preparing for a grand opening an advertised in a page spread of special prices in this issue, on Saturday, August 26, and will observe the event with a sale lasting through Thursday, August 31st.

The new store has been recently remodeled, painted, and the floor covered with inlaid linoleum, and Mr. Freedman has had up-to-date and sanitary refrigeration equipment installed for meats, fresh vegetables and fruits and will carry a full and varied stock of these, kept in perfect condition at all times, as well as an enlarged stock of fancy and staple groceries, seeds and feed.

Mrs. Freedman has been prominently identified with the "97" Store since its establishment here, four years ago, and the business ability and courteous manner of this young couple have been important factors in the continually increasing business experienced by this store. Perhaps few grocery firms in the State, in business for the same length of time, has experienced as rapid growth.
