Keep the Hun on the run.
A lie is always a liability.
A part truth is a whole lie.
A broken promise can't be welded.

Don't be distrustful. Just be watchful.
It costs a lot to live and yet life is cheap.

The Germans won't collect any more Pole Taxes.
The thief hasn't repented if he keeps the goods.

Benjamin Franklin, invented one kind of wood-burning stove.
There are many species of bugs but the humbugs are the worst.

The longer the grower waits to plant oats, the lower the yield.
If a woman dares to buy one of those new hats let the sin be upon her own head.

It's agreed that women's wrongs should be redressed. Some of them should be, too.
Probably that big fish that got away boasts of how much good bait he got away with.

A newspaper story tells of a man writing his will while he was dying. He had will power.

The fellow who has an axe to grind keeps the axe concealed until he gets you to the grindstone.

Used motor oil and mortar coloring are good for "painting" out buildings on the farm. Several colors are obtainable.

Maize is proving an excellent feed crop in some areas of Eastern Carolina. Yields of 50 bushels per acre have been reported.

The farm population in the United States is about 4,800,000 less than 4 years ago. About half these people left the farm in 1942.

A thrifty growing forest pays taxes and produces a steady farm income. Cut fuel wood from the cull trees and the poorer species.

Red cedar for Christmas trees is a profitable crop for idle land, reports R. W. Graeber, in charge of Extension forestry at State College.

Supplies of fresh eggs in the United States were heavier during October than a year earlier but still short of needs, says a Government report.

Farm flocks of sheep should be given individual treatment for worms about December 1, says Leland Case, in charge of Extension Animal Husbandry at State College.

In the first nine months of this year, North Carolina poultrymen produced 871 million eggs, standing twentieth in the nation but fourth along the Atlantic seaboard.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY
"The Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung in unison, opened the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. LeRoy Rollins gave the devotional, reading Luke, the tenth chapter, and a poem on the "Good Neighbor" policy. This was followed by prayer.

A Thanksgiving message to the American Legions was read by Mrs. M. V. Horton. Mrs. W. M. Willis gave an interesting report of the area conference held in Wilson recently. The next area conference will be held next fall in Farmville.

Mrs. Louise Harris, treasurer, was asked to send Christmas checks to the Auxiliary's Olean patients. Mrs. Nona Barrett has been appointed personal services chairman.

The president, Miss Mamie Davis, gave sketches of the National Convention proceedings and stressed the fact that we must be on the alert and looking forward to the Future Terms that are to be used in creating a new world which will give to all our equal rights. Miss Davis said, "Let us not become too complacent. The activities must continue until the last battle is fought—yes, even until the last of our war set foot upon American soil once again."

The following Mrs. O. G. Spill, Mrs. J. H. Harris and Mrs. M. V. Horton were present.

LITERARY CLUB PLANS FOR SEAL SALE HERE
Mrs. Cherry Easley was hostess to the Literary Club on Wednesday afternoon, entertaining at her home in which vases of lavender and gold chrysanthemums were used in artful decoration.
The main business of the afternoon dealt with an announcement of the Tubercular Christmas Seal Sale, by the chairman, Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, who stated that the workers will be announced later. The Club recommended that Seals be mailed in Farmville and money for same be returned to the chairman.

Mrs. J. H. Harris presented the program on "Modern Greece," taken from the book, "Miracle in Hellas," by Betty Watson, and "Mediterranean Front" by Alan Morehead, speaking interestingly of the emerging Greece and the Greece that is to be.
The hostess served fruit jello topped with cream and black chocolate cake.

CIRCLE MEETING
Mrs. J. H. Harris was hostess for Circle Four of the Methodist Woman's Society on Monday afternoon, when fifteen were present. Mrs. Pearl Johnston chose Matthew 6:33 as a base for the devotional thought, "Man is a Seeker."
Mrs. M. Y. Self presented the missionary topic speaking of the privilege of carrying the Christmas message to all the world, emphasizing the fact that there is so much good that can be developed in every life.

Mrs. B. O. Turnage, retiring president of the Woman's Society, and Mrs. A. W. Bobbitt, incoming president, were guests of the hostess, and spoke briefly.
Refreshments were fruit cake, piñonito sandwiches, pickles, salted pecans and hot tea.

ALTAR GUILD
On Monday evening, the Episcopal Altar Guild met with Mrs. R. S. Scott and completed final arrangements for the Apron and Sweets Sale, Thursday of this week.
The hostess served coca-colas, nuts, crackers and cookies.

WESLEYAN GUILD
Mrs. Corinne Stitley, chairman, opened the Wesleyan Guild meeting on Monday evening, with devotional and prayer, after which Mrs. M. Y. Self gave an interesting program on Missions.
The Guild welcomed as new members, Mrs. C. C. Hedgepeth, Mrs. German Williamson, Miss Bertha Lang, Mrs. Ed Owens, Miss Jane Greene, Miss Effie Lewis and Miss Margaret Lewis.
Chrysanthemums, roses and carnations decorated the home and Mrs. J. W. Munden, hostess, served fruit cake and coffee.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB
Mrs. Leon Andrews and Mrs. W. J. Baker were hostesses for the November meeting of the Farmville Demonstration Club. The new president, Mrs. W. R. Hinson, presided and opened the meeting with the group singing, "Come Thou, Almighty King" followed by the Collect.
Miss Joyner lead a discussion on the "Nutritional Value of Sweet Potatoes," giving several recipes and urging that members use this food often in their diet. Miss Joyner also presented the study of the month, "No Space To Waste."

Plans for Achievement Day, held in Greenville, Thursday of this week, were made. The Farmville Club served as hostesses. Five members received awards for perfect attendance for the year and Mrs. B. R. Fields was presented a certificate for having given three book reviews.

Among new business discussed, was plans for the Christmas party. In the social period, individual potato pies, coffee and nuts were served.

BIRD CLUB
At Saturday's Bird Club meeting the Russet-backed Thrush was studied and Neal Howard read the article describing this Bird. It is seven and one fourth inches long. The upper parts are olive brown; the under parts, white and buff with spots of olive-brown; the wings are long and pointed; legs long and slender.
The nest is made in bushes, saplings, or thickets, usually within a few feet of the ground and near water. It is a large compact structure of twigs, bark strips, mosses, grass, and leaves. The eggs number four or five and are light greenish blue, spotted with light brown, chiefly around the large end.
The song of this bird is best late in the day after all other birds have ceased singing. It comes just before dusk. William L. Finley said it was the vesper hymn he loved better than all others.
This Thrush is an efficient destroyer of insects and during its sojourn in the fruit region a little more than half of its food consists of harmful insects. In an investigation of its diet the animal portion was insects, spiders, earthworms, sowbugs, beetles, caterpillars, ants, wasps, and grass hoppers. In its insect diet the Russet-backed Thrush is almost wholly beneficial as it eats but few pediculate beetles or other useful insects. As young Thrushes are fed almost exclusively on insects and as they eat almost continuously from morning till night, they must destroy an enormous number of these harmful creatures. The Russet-backed Thrush must be considered as one of the positively beneficial birds.

A tobacco barn can be converted into an excellent curing and storage house for sweet potatoes. Blue prints for conversion may be obtained from the Agricultural Engineering Department, State College, Raleigh.

Mrs. Jack Smith, Librarian, announces that the local Library will be closed Thanksgiving Day.
Book Week Aims At Unity
The better world of the Four Freedoms must be built from the ground up, leaders of National Book Week, November 12-18 feel. In sponsoring this year's theme "United Through Books," they are featuring children's books which will build a solid foundation of understanding among children of all nations, creeds and races for books are the open doors to the knowledge and understanding on which alone freedom and democracy can endure.
Library school and bookstore hold open house during Book Week with many colorful exhibits and delightful programs to reward the visitor. Everyone is invited and wide participation will help make our town truly "United Through Books."
You are invited to view a display of children's books, in the window at The Rouse Printery, arranged in observance of Book Week, by the Librarian, assisted by Mrs. George Farr.

Editor's Note: Many of the best classics among children's books are lying in homes today, catching dust on bookshelves. If your family has books which the children have grown too old to enjoy, won't you share them with others? This is your opportunity for an individual observance of Book Week. Take your donation to the Library on Tuesday, Thursday or Saturday or call 231-1 and your books will be called for by a member of the Junior Woman's Club.

"Farmers cannot afford to go in and out of the livestock business every time the wind changes," says Leland Case, Extension animal husbandman at State College.
