To the People of this Community

Even if the war ended this very moment you still would be doing the best thing for yourself and your family by investing the biggest amount in War Bonds today you have ever saved for future spending.

From a strictly self-interest viewpoint you cannot afford to fritter away war wages in a market of scarce goods. New autos, new homes, new appliances, new radios, will not be coming off production lines instantly the last shot is fired by one of your tired relatives or friends. War Bonds will make wonderful peace-time ammunition when they mature $4 for every $3 you store away now.

P. S. Just to bring you out of that postwar dream, take another look at the headlines. There's still a war on. You and your money are needed to beat the Japs. The bonds you buy today are WAR bonds. There'll be time 10 years hence for you to think of them as PEACE BONDS.

Why serve good food in dim candlelight?

There's a way out of every dilemma—fortunately.

Our dreams never did come true so we quit dreaming.

You need a priority or a reservation for everything, even a haircut.

It is unfair to men that women don't get bald and don't have to shave.

How does a man who holds down half a dozen big government jobs find time to write a book?

If the guests aren't important, the hostess wears last year's gown and foregoes the special hair-do.

Some men are as frightened in the presence of a wit as some women are in the presence of a mouse.

The less a man reads the more eager he is to recommend without reservation what he does read.

Women hate to be told this, but they're at their best when angling for a man and minding their children.

It requires infinite tact and skill to extract from a man without pain the price of a fur coat, but it has been done—and often.

Let's Not Ration Recreation in '45

A few hours alone with one's family away from the chores and responsibilities of the home and the farm, job of tomorrow and a greater appreciation of life in the country, says L. R. Harrill, state 4-H club leader for the State College Extension Service.

"For the home group let's plan a family picnic," he explains. "Select a good location and enjoy a meal out in the open with the songbirds to furnish the music and the great Mother Nature to furnish the picture—'Sunset'—probably the greatest of them all. The plans for such a picnic or meal need not be elaborate.

"Good, wholesome food that can be prepared and served outdoors is the important thing, and there are many dishes that become more appetizing when prepared and served in the open. The actual preparation and cooking of the meal will be as much fun and recreation as any other part of the evening and should be participated in by every member of the family." Hard boiled eggs, when cooked over an open fire, become a delicacy as does bacon broiled over the open coals; and for dessert—who ever heard of a better one than homemade ice cream. But, don't let the meal scare you or work a hardship. Remember, it's all for fun! Use what you have to the best advantage. You will have lots of fun planning the meal.

"When the meal is finished and all dishes and equipment packed and the grounds cleaned up, let's turn our attention to the other things. While our little campfire is still burning and as the sun sets and radiates its golden glow and paints an undecipherable picture, we have a perfect setting for a story-telling session—use by father, son by mother, one by Peggy, and one by Jack.

"This is going to be lots of fun. If you don't believe it, just try it and see! The best picnic in the world is the family picnic."

Orthopedic Clinic
Greenville, June 1

We wish to remind our readers of the State Orthopedic Clinic to be held in Greenville, today, Friday, June 1, from 12:30 to 4 p. m.

This Clinic takes all types of cripples, both white and colored, free of charge who are unable to afford private treatments. It is desired, though not required, that patients be referred by a physician or the Welfare Officer, and that the patient bring such note to the Clinic.

The Clinic is set up to serve especially the Counties of Beaufort, Carteret, Pamlico, Pitt and Tyrell, though patients from other counties who desire to come may do so.

The Clinic is conducted by Dr. Hugh A. Thompson, orthopedist, Raleigh. This Clinic has been running for something over five years and is now serving a large number of cripples, adults as well as children, in this area.

The Pitt County Health Department Offices are located at the corner of Third and Greene Streets in Greenville.

Three Months Extra Grazing By New Plan

Extending the grazing season from the usual five or six months to, at least eight or nine months results in much lower costs for milk and beef, says A. C. Kimrey, Extension dairyman at State College. Labor requirements for feed production are also reduced.

"This is not just a paper plan hatched up by some man in an office but it is the result of repeated tests that have been modified by dairymen and beef cattle growers in all parts of the state to fit their conditions," he adds. "Many farmers have supplemented their permanent pastures with lespedeza seeded during February and March on small grain but we can still further expand our grazing program."

"We put our stock on the permanent pastures entirely too early in the spring and then too our pastures need some help during the dry periods of summer and also in the fall. How are our best dairymen and beef cattle producers getting nine months grazing instead of six? While they all vary the plan somewhat, the general schedule runs about as follows.

"In the summer they turn to grazing crops of soybeans, Sudan grass, and lespedeza. Then they get ready for an early fall and winter temporary grazing crop. It should be seeded by September 1 and this date is very important. They seed about 3 times as many bushels of small grains per acre as for grain with rye grass and crimson clover. They have found that heavy seeding and good fertilization pays. No wheat is used because of the Hessian fly threat. Some topdress with nitrogen because their goal is grazing by October 15 to relieve the strain on the permanent pasture.

"Many have paid the entire expenses of the crop in the fall grazing season. Some get grazing in December, January, and February but by March 1 they are in clover. It's a good plan. Give a trial."

ETO Map Unit Arrives In POA To Carry On Work

Press censors have recently lifted one corner of the security cloak shrouding what apparently is the first complete unit of troops to be redeployed from ETO to POA.

The unit—an engineer topographic battalion—now under the command of Lt. Col. Charles M. Duke, Jacksonville, Tex., didn't arrive in this theater until January, 1945, yet helped map the Ryukyus invasion for the Tenth Army. Tucked away in a costly installation, the battalion operates a round-the-clock work schedule on the most vital of military information-maps.

Invasion maps for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps roll 24 hours a day through the huge lithograph presses. Operations maps for phases of the Mediterranean campaign, for the invasion of Normandy, have been produced and eventually the battalion will be turning out road guides to the Palaces.

This intricate map making process requires some of the highest priced photographic and reproduction equipment.

BIRD CLUB

Donald Bryan read a story to the club members on Saturday about the Baltimore Oriole.

A small boy noticed one of these birds for the first time and wished it would nest in his yard, so upon advice from his mother he took hairs from the horse's tails and bits of string, put them in the trees and on the fence posts for it to make a nest with. He watched the birds build the nest in the very top of a red maple tree.

They selected a place where the strings could be woven about three limbs. It required nearly a week and when completed was a sort of bag about six inches deep and 3 or 4 inches in diameter. It was woven so securely that it was almost as strong as a cloth bag. Inside was a lining of sheep's wool, feathers, soft grass and moss.

The boy spent so much time watching the work that the birds finally came to regard him without fear, continuing the building as though he were not near. He enjoyed watching the orioles take a bath which they did regularly, but he never knew two to bathe at the same time. One always waited until the other was through and thoroughly dry.

He wanted one of the young ones for a pet but when they left the nest they were able to fly so well he could not catch one. However a neighbor succeeded in catching some and put them in a cage, hanging it near the nest thinking the parents would feed them. For two days they did, trying all the time to get them out of the cage. The next day they fed them at noon but did not return. Before night every bird was dead. Evidently the parents had poisoned them rather than allow them to languish in prison. After that the little boy never tried to catch young orioles for he felt it would be cruel to keep birds that preferred death to captivity.

Many farmers believe a pair of orioles nesting in the orchard will save at least fifty bushels of apples from becoming wormy as they eat the moth which lays the egg that makes the apple worm.

Piums from a tree in the yard were enjoyed during the meeting. Roy Moore was welcomed as a new member.

Russell Knowles of Bertie County has 63 pigs on 5 acres of oats and lespedeza. He seeded 3 bushels of oats and 30 pounds of lespedeza seed per acre. He plans to rotate his grazing with 6 acres of soybeans.

Corn should be topdressed when about 2 feet high. Potash should be mixed with nitrogen for potash deficient soils. Late topdressings do not pay as well as those applied early.

There are striking differences in the productivity of turkeys in breeding flocks. In a recent test one hen laid 2 eggs during a period of one hundred days while another hen laid 98 eggs.

THE 7TH WAR LOAN IS ON!

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now!

There are new planes to be built...new tanks...new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close.

Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours!

And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

Those quotas are big. Uncle Sam needs $7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1—there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now—we've got to do a two-loan job in one.

But Americans have never failed to meet a War Bond quota yet—and we won't fail now! So find out what your quota is—and meet it!
