FAR HEEL TEACHERS AID FELLOW WORKERS OVERSEAS

Teachers of North Carolina will rally to the aid of teachers across the sea, so stated Ethel Perkins, executive secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, in announcing that the NCEA Board of Directors has unanimously endorsed the Overseas Teacher Relief Fund campaign launched by the National Education Association in Washington.

Because the teachers in war devastated countries are the key people in the vital program of educational reconstruction, said Miss Perkins, our Board of Directors urges the hearty cooperation of North Carolina teachers in this Thanksgiving to Christmas campaign. Each teacher will be given the opportunity to make a contribution. One hundred and ninety local unit presidents of the NCEA have been notified and many of the units are already collecting their share of funds. The campaign funds will be forwarded from the local unit of the NCEA headquarters in Raleigh. They will then be sent to the Executive Committee of the National Education Association which will allocate the money through the best established channels.

The money collected in the campaign will be used to provide food, clothing, and supplies for our colleagues overseas. Miss Perkins stated, and the campaign will enable us to play a practical part in the worldwide struggle between democracy and totalitarianism.
