FARMVILLE GIRLS WIN COUNTY BASKETBALL TITLE AND BOYS GET SECOND PLACE HONORS

Girls Defeat Grimesland, 17-12, in Tournament Finals; Local Boys Almost Succeed in Outing Highly-Favored Bethel

Turn about's fair play seems to be the prevailing policy with Farmville high school basketball teams. The boys, who last year captured first place honors in the Pitt county tournament, are taking a back seat—though not too far back—this year and the girls are basking in the limelight, with another well-earned championship to their credit.

In the final round staged Tuesday night in the Wright gymnasium at E. C. T. C., Greenville, the girls defeated Grimesland, 17-12, taking an early lead and managing to hold it. On the previous night, the Farmville team eliminated Ayden, 20-16, with a fourth quarter scoring spurt which netted eight points while holding Ayden to a single field goal. Ayden dominated the play in the first quarter, which ended 8-3. Teams were deadlocked at the half, 11-11.

In the championship contest, Jean Baker was high scorer for Farmville, scoring 12 of her team's 17 points. Faye Corbett accounted for the other five. Farmville guards completely bottled the Grimesland offense in the last quarter, holding Grimesland to a single free throw.

Boys' Game

Seeded in fourth place at the beginning of the tourney and given little more than an outside chance of winning the county title for the second consecutive year, the boys started badly in the final game and it looked as if the Bethel five, favored to win, would have little trouble walking away with an easy victory. The first quarter ended 12-5 in Bethel's favor; at half-time, Farmville had whittled the lead to three points, with the score 18-15, and continued the improved play in the third quarter, which ended with the teams tied at 22-all. A spurt in the final quarter gave Bethel the victory, and title, as the game ended with the score, 28-24.

Line-ups were: Farmville—Carraway (9), Hathaway (3), Satterthwaite (4), Allen (5), Bennett (1), Barrett, Stroud, C. and G. Windham (2), Dupree; Bethel—Whitley (6), House, Hemingway (5), William Keel, Earl Keel (2), M. Whitehurst, Worsley (13), Tom Whitehurst, Rollins, Smith (2), Tetterton, Bullock.

Line-ups were: Farmville—Faye Corbett (5), Joyce Corbett, Jean Baker (12), Grace Brock, Murphy, Pippin, Hathaway, Bynum, Rouse, Kemp, Corbett, Rollins; Grimesland—Galwood, Edwards (8), Campbell (1), Bailey, Hodges, McLawhorn, Tyler, Bailey, Hardee, Daniels, Edwards, Saitton.

Supremacy of the Farmville players was also shown in the all-tournament teams selected by coaches and officials. Farmville boys placed Ed Allen on the first team and Sidney Carraway and Dewey Hathaway on the second team.

Faye Corbett, a forward, and Grace Brock, a guard, were Farmville's selections on the girls' first team. Others picked were: Crawford, Arthur; Whitehurst; Moynig; McLawhorn; Grimesland; Ayden; Crisp, Bethel; Turnage; Ayden; J. Crawford, Arthur; Bailey; Grimesland; White, Bethel; McLawhorn, Ayden.

At The Kiwanis Club

Robert Lee Humber's proposal for a world federation of all countries to insure law and order were explained to the Kiwanians Monday night by the author, a Greenville native, who reviewed events leading up to present world crises and outlined what he believes is the practical solution of the current dilemma.

Mr. Humber was the guest of Jim Joyner, by whom he was introduced, and John B. Lewis was also Jim's guest for the evening.

Humber has been preaching his idea of a world federation to preserve peace for years, and has spoken on the subject before numerous audiences in many parts of the country, and has had his plan approved by a number of state legislatures, including the North Carolina general assembly.

He prefaced his talk by paying tribute to Frank Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, and praising him for the fine manner in which he handled negotiations leading to a peaceful settlement of the differences between the Dutch and the Indonesians.

Humber then drew a historical background of the Palestine crisis, and also outlined some of the events that might take place. The Jews moved into Palestine about 80 years ago and, protected by the British from the native Arabs, real owners of the country, have made great strides. The British have stated they will withdraw this protection—May 15 has been set as the date—and the United Nations has formulated a plan, entirely unacceptable to the Arabs, which calls for partitioning Palestine, with part going to the Jews and the remainder to the Arabs.

The Arabs have stated that they will oppose the partition plan with force. When the British move out, the Arabs may move into the Jewish territory. The United States has refused to intervene with military help for the Jews and the UN has no authority to back up its mandate. According to Humber, the Jews may appeal to the Russians, who will gladly respond and will use the foothold in Palestine as a springboard for pushing on into Iran, Iraq, India, and no one knows how much farther.

He stressed the present world crisis and said it was one of many through the centuries. Answering his own question as to why the present generation is afflicted with a cycle of wars, he said it was because the "present generation lacks the courage and the will to settle its problems in realistic manner. Until that is done wars will not cease. The present is one of the significant stages of history. Once the city is the center of life. Gunpowder came and then the province became the center. Then the industrial revolution, the province was superseded by the nation and the individual became a citizen of the nation. Now that age is dying and we are the architects of a new age. The atom bomb ended nationalism and civilization is now on a world level, like it or not, and we must bring our thinking up to that point."

He clarified his point by explaining that the British Government, because of its tobacco purchases, is of more importance to the people of Farmville than is Buncombe county, in the same state.

"We have today a world community and order must be established in that community," Humber continued. "Every war has the faculty of ending on a note with which the next one begins. Airplanes and tanks were first used in World War I but were not effective, although they shaped the course of World War II. Hiroshima's atomic blast ended the war and the next one will begin with the atomic bomb. If there be another. Atomic bombs have been developed with 200 million times the explosive power of gun powder, and they will be carried by jet planes.

"There are two ways of stabilizing the world community. It must be done diplomatically as nations have adopted diplomacy, only more effectively. There have been and are treaties but they have not prevented wars. Courts have not provided the solution.

"The United Nations is set up on a diplomatic basis, without enforcement power. If diplomacy fails decisions are enforced only by war. There must be political organization on a world basis backed by law, and when there is no law there is anarchy, which is what the world has now."

March Of Dimes Drive in Farmville School Nears $700

The March of Dimes drive has officially ended and the Farmville school reports a very successful campaign. The drive for funds in Farmville was directed by the school under the direction of Sam D. Bundy while a similar campaign was directed in the colored school by Prof. E. B. Sugg.

Mr. Bundy stated today that he wanted to express thanks and appreciation to all who had a part in the giving and the collecting. Special praise is due the teachers and pupils of the school who actually did the work in connection with the fund raising.

Miss Herring's own led the primary department with $42.55; Mrs. Gaskins' fourth grade led the grammar grades—and the entire school—with $100; Miss Decker's 11th grade led the high division with $23.10. The amount raised per teacher and room is given below:

Miss Darden, first grade, $20.25; Miss Lewis, first grade, $24.11; Mrs. Herring, second grade, $24.55; Mrs. Hardy, second grade, $24.77; Mrs. Thompson, third grade, $36.73; Mrs. Batchelor, fourth grade, $36.36; Mrs. Gaskins, fourth grade, $100; Mrs. Robinson, fifth grade, $37.59; Mrs. Baker, fifth grade, $31.27; Mrs. Jones, sixth grade, $48.53; Mrs. Joyner, sixth grade, $61.85; Mrs. Bynum, seventh grade, $31.06; Mrs. Thomas, seventh grade, $29.4; Mrs. Spier, eighth grade, $34.46; Mrs. Whitehurst, eighth grade, $17.45; Mrs. Brown, ninth grade, $8; Mrs. Dunn, ninth grade, $13.80; Mrs. Joyner, tenth grade, $21; Mr. Johnson, tenth grade, $5.50; Miss Duke, eleventh grade, $23.10; Mrs. Wheeler, twelfth grade, $16.64; ball game, $10.50; boxes, $12.35.

Total amount raised was $681.60.

Mr. Bundy stated that the pupils had been promised a half-day holiday for this work if $1.00 per child was raised. The present enrollment of the school is 675 and thus the holiday has been earned. It will be given on a little later in the spring when the weather gets a little warmer. The school superintendent also stated that he would like to make Farmville's contribution an even $700 and would gladly accept any gift from any who might have failed to donate.

Former Farmville Teacher Gained Fame As Western Educator

The following article about Mrs. Meta Chestnut Sager, who taught school in Farmville nearly 60 years ago, appeared in an Oklahoma paper shortly after her death several weeks ago. Mrs. Sager taught here with her brother, Isaac Chestnut. The school was located in the building on the corner of Wilson and Walnut streets and was later converted into the Horton apartments. Among her pupils still living are Mrs. Dora H. Keel, Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Sr. and Dr. D. S. Morrill. Mrs. Sager was the aunt of J. E. Garris and Mrs. Essie Bell of Farmville. The article follows:

Funeral services for Mrs. Meta Chestnut Sager, 84, one of Grady county's first two teachers, will be conducted Sunday in the First Christian church by Rev. Kenneth Garrison, pastor. Interment will be in the Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Sager, who was actively connected with educational work in Grady county for more than 50 years, died in a hospital, where she had been a patient since Sept. 25, 1941. In poor health for several years, she was hospitalized following a fall at her home in which she fractured a hip. She had just been home one day from West Virginia and North Carolina, where she had spent several months visiting a niece, Mrs. Connelly T. Saldow of Princeton, Va., who is here now, and other relatives.

The flag at the Oklahoma College for Women was at half mast today.

A resident of Chickasha for 25 or more years, Mrs. Sager was a member of the college faculty beginning in 1932 until the past few years.

Mrs. Sager has been identified in education in Grady county since the first school was established at old Silver City, not far from what is now Tuttle.

Born on a Southern plantation in Lenoir county, North Carolina, Sept. 8, 1863, Mrs. Sager was educated in private and district schools, Bethel academy and Greenville institute. She received an L. I. degree from what is now George Peabody college for teachers and an M. A. degree from the University of Nashville.

She had taught several terms in North Carolina before coming to the Indian territory on Sept. 3, 1889, to take up her work with seven pupils in a little house at Silver City. A year later she moved to Minco when the early settlement at Silver City was abandoned for the new town, opened when the Rock Island had been completed that far south. The school was continued in Minco as "Sunny South," but in October, 1894, it moved into a three-story building and became the El Meta Bond college, so named by its co-founder, Mrs. W. J. Erwin. The college continued in Minco for 30 years.

Men and women whose children have completed their education and have families of their own in schools today were once pupils of Mrs. Sager at Silver City and Minco and much of the data relating to the county's early history has been furnished by her.

In one of her narratives she told of efforts she had made to have a playground leveled off in Silver City school yard for children. That plan was abandoned when she learned the "deep rut" were the last trace of the old Cherokee Trail leading north to the South Canadian river crossing.

Survivors include five nieces and nine nephews, who live in North Carolina, California, Washington, Virginia, West Virginia and Canada.

Jaycee Charter Night Is Gay Occasion

Demonstrating that they intend to contribute to Farmville's civic betterment—and right away at that, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce last Friday night received their state and national charters and, on the same night, presented Mrs. J. M. Carraway, one of the local Girl Scout leaders, with a check representing proceeds of the scrap paper drive conducted recently. The check is to be used toward the construction of a scout hut here.

Joe Joyner served as toastmaster at the banquet, held at the Country club and followed by a dance, and a delightful evening was the store for all who attended. Places were set for 88 guests and 87 of them had been taken when the session was called to order and Rev. E. W. Holmes, pastor of Farmville Baptist church, pronounced the invocation.

While there were no principal addresses of the evening, several short talks were made by prominent visiting Jaycees. Bill Redding of Wilson, vice-president of Eastern North Carolina Association of Junior clubs, presented the state charter to President W. T. Candler of the Farmville club and stated that he and others were looking for great progress from the local Jaycees, the first to receive a charter in North Carolina this year.

Photographers Will Take Pictures Of Children Tuesday

Next Tuesday is the day for the picture-taking of youngsters (and oldsters). The Enterprise is having pictures made of children who are brought by their parents or other guardian to the Farmville high school between 1 o'clock and 3 o'clock.

The Walt Studios of Des Moines, Iowa, will be in charge and will furnish The Enterprise with an engraving of pictures of all children whose parents examine the proofs and pick out the one they want published.

These pictures will be incorporated in a feature "Children of Tomorrow," and the more parents who cooperate the better the feature will be.

It often seems to parents that children are little one-minute and are grown-up the next, so fast does a child's growing stage pass. Here is a splendid opportunity to catch a little more of your child or children at this present stage for the pleasure you will get out of it in years to come and for the pleasure you will get out of seeing it in print.

There is absolutely no charge or obligation for taking the pictures. Parents are not required to be a subscriber of The Enterprise. They do not have to purchase pictures, although additional prints may be obtained from the studio.
