Holy Week services in Farmville will be climaxed Sunday with two union services—one at sunrise and the other in the evening—and the regular morning worship hour at each of the participating churches, Baptist, Christian, Methodist and Presbyterian. The sunrise service, to be held at 6:30 in the Baptist church, will feature a program of solos, selections by a young people's choir and the scripture reading.

Under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Jr., the choirs of the churches will present a festival of Easter music at 7:30 Sunday evening in the Methodist church. Mrs. Haywood Smith will serve as accompanist for the choir of more than 60 voices.

Tonight the four participating churches, which have been worshipping together each evening this week, will have individual services. Communion will be observed at the Presbyterian and Christian churches. The Baptist church will present the Easter story through the use of 35 slides portraying events of that occasion. Rev. E. R. Clegg will speak to the Methodist congregation.

Easter sermon topics for members of the association are given below.

The final topic, "The Road to Immortality," in the "Road to Victory" series of sermons which began the first Sunday in the month, will be the subject of Rev. E. W. Holmes' address at the Baptist church.

At the Christian church, Rev. Z. B. T. Cox will preach on "The Great Victory." The choir will sing "In Joseph's Lovely Garden" by Clarence Dickson.

Rev. Clegg at the Methodist church will use as his text II Corinthians 13:4, "For lo he was crucified through weakness, yet he lived by the power of God. For we also are weak in him but we shall live with him by the power of God." Two anthems, "Early in the Garden" by Wilson and "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" by Norman, will be sung by the choir.

VFW Wants Pictures Of 500 Veterans For Historical Volume

Section Devoted To Children Under Six Years Of Age Drawing Attention; Civic Clubs And Churches Will Be Feasted

Farmville's Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Burnett-Rouse Post, is seeking pictures of 500 World War I and II veterans for the historical volume the organization is sponsoring and which will feature interesting facts about the community. Published by a Missouri concern, the volume will be to the Farmville community what an annual is to a college or school.

Veterans and their families are invited to clip the questionnaire, which appears on another page in this issue of The Enterprise, and return it to R. R. Newton, Jr., chairman of the publication committee, after all the facts requested have been given. Sponsors are particularly anxious to have pictures of the veterans. These will be returned, if owners desire and request it, and it makes no difference whether the pictures were taken while the veteran was in uniform or if they were made before or after his or her military service.

Another section of the book which bids fair to become one of its most popular features is the section devoted to youngsters under six years of age. Since the book is sponsored by a veterans' organization, some persons are of the opinion that the picture section for children is limited to veterans' youngsters. Such is not the case, as all children of the community are eligible.

Pictures of churches, schools, the country club and swimming pool will be included. Those who have interesting pictures of the community are urged to lend them to the committee.

Abernethy For Solicitor
Charles L. Abernethy, Jr., endorsed by the Craven County Bar Association for appointment as solicitor of the Fifth Judicial district following the death of the late Solicitor D. M. Clark, Thursday announced his candidacy for that position in the coming Democratic primary election. A former congressional candidate, he is well known throughout this and adjoining judicial districts.

Born in Carteret county, he came to New Bern to live in 1914. After graduating from New Bern high school he attended the University of North Carolina for two years and then transferred to Harvard university and graduated from Harvard in 1922. Then he entered upon the study of law at Harvard and at Trinity and Wake Forest college. He received his law license in 1924 and entered into active practice with his father, Congressman Charles L. Abernethy, Sr., under the firm name of Abernethy and Abernethy.

The younger man has been actively identified with public and private affairs, and has enjoyed an extensive practice in his profession and has specialized in criminal cases. Upon the death of Solicitor Clark he had the unanimous endorsement of the Pamlico county bar as well as that of Craven county and the endorsement of many other attorneys and outstanding citizens throughout the district.

Discussing the candidacy and the position to be filled, Mr. Abernethy said "The death of my friend, Hon. D. M. Clark, leaves a vacancy that it will be impossible to fill. His record of public service was outstanding in the history of our state. I would never have been a candidate against Mr. Clark, but I have many friends in all parts of the Fifth Judicial district who have encouraged me to run for solicitor and many of them have expressed a strong conviction that the people should exercise their privilege of choosing whom they want for solicitor and that a position of this importance should, when a vacancy arises, be shared by some other section of the district and not remain in one location indefinitely. I approach this contest in a humble spirit in the sincere hope that I may, if nominated and elected, prove worthy of the confidence reposed in me."

Repairs were also ordered for the courthouse which, jurors stated, had not been painted in 18 years.

Ben Lewis of Farmville is foreman of the jury.

Pertinent paragraphs from the report follow:

We visited and inspected all county offices and the County Jail; we recommend that the Court Room be immediately painted; we recommend that the rest of the courthouse be painted as soon as convenient, both inside and out; we recommend further that all windows (including frames, sashes and panes) be immediately and adequately repaired; we recommend further that modern and adequate furniture be installed in the judges and lawyers' consultation rooms of the courthouse.

We visited and inspected the County Home and found certain needed repairs being made; we further recommend that a deep freeze unit be installed at said County Home.

We also found some minor repairs need to be made to other schools. This has been placed before the County School Superintendent to be acted upon as soon as possible.

We visited all county jails and found them in good condition.

We found that the County Agent's office needed some repairs, including loose plastering in the front hall which appears in an unsafe condition.

We express our sincere regret for the loss of our beloved and efficient Solicitor, D. M. Clark, and do hereby extend our profound sympathy to the people of the Fifth Judicial District and especially to his good wife and children.

We visited and inspected the County Home and found certain needed repairs being made; we further recommend that a deep freeze unit be installed at said County Home.

We visited and inspected the County Jail; we found that one unit of the colored school in Farmville needs replacing, and have been advised that an election has been held at which bonds were authorized for the replacement of this unit and plans are now in progress to make this replacement. We also found some minor repairs need to be made to other schools. This has been placed before the County School Superintendent to be acted upon as soon as possible.

We visited all county jails and found them in good condition.

We found that the County Agent's office needed some repairs, including loose plastering in the front hall which appears in an unsafe condition.

We express our sincere regret for the loss of our beloved and efficient Solicitor, D. M. Clark, and do hereby extend our profound sympathy to the people of the Fifth Judicial District and especially to his good wife and children.
