

Raleigh Round-Up

By Eula Nixon Greenwood REVERSE—In the months of campaigning before the First Primary, Kerr Scott, candidate for Governor, was accused of mud-slinging. He replied that he was only giving the "facts in the case—and if that be mud-slinging, I'm sorry." But he was informed, only the losing candidate ever slings mud. Candidate Charles Johnson, who is also State Treasurer (and a good one), did not resort to mud-slinging, seldom, if ever, mentioned Kerr Scott by name, always referring to him simply as "my opponent."

But so far, at least as this is being written, Scott has done no mud-slinging for the Second Primary. Scott is being accused of being "a machine man," of not living in Raleigh while he was Commissioner of Agriculture, of this, that, and the other. Johnson men are certainly tearing into him.

As the second week in the second campaign came to an end last Saturday night, Scott was using Johnson's First Primary strategy and Johnson was using Scott's.

ATTACK!—With Scott doing the lambasting during April and May, Johnson was on the defensive. Now the shoe is on the other foot. Johnson is attacking and Scott is on the defensive. Which is the better campaign strategy? Only the voters know—and they can't talk until June 26. Before that date rolls around, you will find both Scott and Johnson slinging at each other with all the ammunition they can muster.

MYSTERY POP — As a Father's Day advertising project, Lewis, Inc., here in Raleigh, has been running a "Mystery Pop" contest on a local radio station. It attracted quite a bit of attention, for Wade Lewis, Sr., and Jr., giving away approximately $2,500 worth of fine clothing—nine suits, three hats, topcoats, etc. Who won? Nine-year-old Parker Hodges, son of your State Insurance Commissioner William P. Hodges. So, the best-dressed State official for several years to come should be Bill Hodges. And who was the mystery pop? Jim Kilgore, president of Pine State Creamery and the son of the late great agriculturist, Dr. B. W. Kilgore.

YOU CAN'T ESCAPE—The N. C. Dairy Products Association, led by Elie L. L. Ray of Alamance county, and the Dairy Council and N. C. Milk Producers Association, are now pushing June Dairy Month. This week's salute goes to this worthwhile program which is making North Carolinians more conscious of the value of dairy products. Ray has appeared before several civic groups within the past three weeks telling them of this State's goal—to make North Carolina the Dairy State of the South. He has appeared on several radio programs from one end of the State to the other. There is money in tobacco and in cotton. However, the real need for a strong agricultural program in North Carolina is more cows, more corn and legume crops to support them, and a year-around income for the 800,000 farmers.

GETTING HIS SHARE—Although R. Mayne Albright, who ran third in the Governor's race, came out in the runoff as a neutral, Charles Johnson seems to be getting his full share of Albright supporters. Scott, as was to be expected, is winning over the preponderance of the Albright strength, but the way many former Albright managers and committee members are swinging to Johnson is causing quite a bit of surprise around Raleigh.

WHO WILL WIN? The $64,000, or possibly the $164,000 question, is: "Who is going to win out for Governor?" Well, brother and sister, your guess is just as good as anybody else's. This question is being asked all over North Carolina. Nobody knows the answer, yet.

PRAY TELL US—Men throughout the State, men who are supposed to know, or think they know, more about political trends than the average citizen, have been wiring friends in Raleigh and making trips to Raleigh within the past two or three weeks to find out who is going to be the winner. This winner business—the desire to be with the winner—is doing more than anything else to cripple democracy and is seriously damaging the Democratic party right here in North Carolina.

FREE!—If you vote for a man having a head on his neck, you will win. You can win a trip to Europe in a campaign for Governor. This is the plan of the N. C. Dairy Products Association. They are offering a trip to Europe to the man who wins the Governor's race. The trip will be to London, England, and will include a visit to the British Museum and the Tower of London. The trip will be for the man who wins the Governor's race. The trip will be for the man who wins the Governor's race.

CITIZENS OF TOMORROW

in your heart think is right, merely to be with the man you think will win. Are you a free citizen? Then you vote as you wish. Don't let anybody tell you how to vote! You have just as much right to your opinion as anybody else. Go down fighting for the man you think is best fitted for Governor. If it's Johnson, stay with him. If it's Scott, vote for him.

NOTES—Jim Vogler of Charlotte, head of the N. C. Food Dealers' Association and defeated candidate for State Treasurer, is supporting Scott in the runoff, while Brandon Hodges, the winner, is for Johnson. Johnson men got the move on Scott in the second campaign and have already flooded the State with new Johnson posters. Nell Battle Lewis, who has been doing a column for the Raleigh News and Observer for 26 years, is the new associate editor of the Raleigh Times, will also write a column there.

Horton Doughton, prominent merchant of Statesville, is reported to be sheeling the woods for Kerr Scott in Piedmont North Carolina. E. B. Jeffress, president of Greensboro Daily News-Record Co., visited Scott headquarters for a long chat last Wednesday. The Charlotte News is planning for Johnson. Gov. R. Gregg Cherry took some wind out of the Scott sails last week when he made it financially possible for State college to complete its handsome college. Scott had already assured State alumni this would be done immediately upon his becoming Governor. Johnson has had one State Senator, Rivers Johnson of Warsaw, on the air in his behalf. Others are expected. The road contractors are now said to be all out for Johnson. This also goes for virtually all the leading manufacturers in North Carolina.

IN AN ENVIABLE POSITION—Charles M. Johnson is in an enviable position, and that's putting it mildly. Although J. M. Broughton is said to be neutral, many of his most ardent supporters are for Johnson. Congressman Monroe Redden is doing him a lot of good in the Hendersonville-Asheville section. Oscar Pitts, who certainly knows his way around, politically, is living in Asheville now and is doing some contacting in the mountain counties for Johnson. One of the best public relations men in the business, Claude Raney of Asheville, is turning out some handiwork for Johnson. On the other hand, Sen. W. B. Umstead is doing nothing for Scott, and his home county of Durham is said to be swinging to Johnson.

Looking at it from here, it is hard to imagine Johnson's losing. He has some of the smartest politicians in the State in his camp. He has the money. He has ability. He makes a good speech, particularly on the radio. But Sen. W. B. Umstead had all these things, too, and he lost. The difference is that Johnson does not have a Broughton running against him.

If the pattern which was set in 1932 and was followed in 1936, '40, and '44 holds, Johnson will win. If not, Scott will be the next Governor.

Only 2 Positions On Local Faculty Remain Unfilled

Sam D. Buncy, principal of Farmville school, announced today that all but two of the vacancies in the teaching staff for next year have been filled.

The sixth grade vacancy, created by the resignation of Mrs. W. E. Joyner, has not been filled and no one has yet been obtained to take the place of Mrs. J. M. Wheelers, Jr., who taught science in the high school. The principal states, however, that the science position has been offered to two persons, the first of whom did not accept because of acceptance of a position elsewhere, and the second refused on the ground that she wanted to be nearer home.

The places filled are as follows: Miss Margaret Coates has accepted a position as second grade teacher. She is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Coates and received her training at East Carolina Teachers college. She taught the past year at Scotland Neck school, having the second grade.

Miss Jane Goff has accepted position as third grade teacher. Miss Goff is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John Goff of Williamston. She received her training at Atlantic Christian college in Wilson and did her practice teaching in the Wilson city schools.

Miss Anna Holmes Lewis of Rose Hill has accepted a position as fourth grade teacher. Miss Holmes is a graduate of Meredith college in Raleigh and did her practice teaching in the Thompson school, Raleigh.

Miss Miriam Moore of Ayden has accepted the position as Spanish and English teacher. Miss Moore is a graduate of Atlantic Christian college and has taught in the Rock Ridge high school and the Wilson city schools. This summer she is teaching Spanish in summer school at Atlantic Christian college.

Mrs. John L. Johnson (formerly Miss Rose Graham) has accepted the position as teacher of commercial subjects. She is a native of Turkey, N. C., and after taking a secretarial course at Lenoir college completed her business education course at East Carolina Teachers college, receiving a B. S. degree in commerce. Her practice teaching was done in the Greenville high school.

Miss Alma Whitley of Enfield has accepted the position as full-time teacher of public school music in the Farmville school. She is a graduate of East Carolina Teachers college and comes highly recommended by the music department. Her practice teaching was done in the Greenville city schools.

Elbert S. Moye has accepted the position as physical education director and coach. Mr. Moye graduated from Farmville high school, class of 1936. He took his undergraduate work at Atlantic Christian college where he starred in basketball and baseball. Mr. Moye taught and coached two years in the Cameron high school before he entered the Armed Services, where he had charge of a physical education program. For the past two years he has been a student at the University of North Carolina and has received his Master's Degree in Physical Education. This summer he is a pitcher on the Lincoln (N. C.) baseball team.

Capt. Newton C. Maenbent of Irving, N. Y., has indicated in a telephone conversation that he would accept the position as band director, but written acceptance has not been received. Mr. Buncy states that he is hoping to receive this acceptance within the near future.

The principal states that he feels the teacher selection is fortunate for the Farmville school, for those who have taught were reluctantly released from their former positions in other schools and the teachers just completing their college work come highly recommended by their respective institutions.
