
 PARMVILLE DAY DE LA VARIANTE

Raleigh Round-Up

By Eula Nixon Greenwood NO ABSENTEES-The fact that here can be no absentee ballots cast in the Primary-either first or secin the Primary—either first or sec-ond—seems to be sharply changing the old political pattern that politi-cians of this State used to their ad-vantage in other days. The absentee ballot beat Dick Fountain in 1932. It downed Dr. Ralph McDonald in 1936. It has now gone the way of the buffalo and takes its place in the realm of lamplight, the horse and buggy, and half-forgotten things.

THAT OLD BLACK MAGIC - If the pattern which was set in 1932, and which was followed in 1936 and 1944, and to some extent in 1940, holds this time, Johnson will be your next Governor. But indications are that it just is not holding. It's ripping at the seams. It is disintegrating, falling apart. All the old tricks are being used, but they don't seem to be working. That old black magic has lost its power. Money is being used by the bucketful, but what is money worth these days?

NOT PASQUOTANK - Former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus went on the radio last week in behalf of 272; Beamon, 257; Mewborn, 250 Charles M. Johnson. It was a wonderful speech. Ehringhaus, a charming gentleman, pulled out all the stops. But reports from Northeastern North Carolina, which nurtured him in his youth and sent him to Raleigh in 1932, where he has since remained, say this section is still for Kerr Scott, "Ehringhaus or no Ehringhaus."

AYCOCK INFLUENCE—The great Charles B. Aycock, known as the father of education in North Carolina, has been dead for nearly 40 years. However, last week found his son-in-law and his grandson speaking for Kerr Scott. Major L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, chairman at the recent State Democratic Convention, spoke for Scott at a rally in Roxboro. Charles Poe, son of Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, and Aycock' grandson, went on the radio for Kerr Scott.

THE NEW DAY - There is no ronger Scott supporter in North Carolina than Clarence Poe. He isn' saying much about it publicly-in fact, nothing-but he is of the opinion that a new day is now dawning for North Carolina.

CAM MORRISON - The grandes old Democrat of them all, Cam Morrison, made speeches last week for Charles M. Johnson. He has lost a lot of his vigor, but the fire is still there. And so two of our four living ex-Governors are for Johnson-Ehringhaus and Morrison. However, the late Max Gardner's son-in-law, Senator Clyde R. Hoey, is strangely silent, and so is the other ex-Govern- last week with the class in agronomy

Gov. R. Gregg Cherry might come out for Charles M. Johnson, but it can be said definitely now that he holm, Sweden, and Christine Worth of Charles, returned with her to spend a will not. PREDICTION-Visits in many sec tions of the State and reports which have been received from the other sections within the past three days lead this column to predict that Kerr Scott will defeat State Treasurer 20,000 votes on Saturday. This would result in great changes in Raleigh.
A further prediction: If this happens, one of Scott's first moves will be a us rural road-building pro ram.
