

Raleigh Round-Up

LET HIM HAVE IT! There was nearly as much activity in Scott headquarters in the Carolina hotel here last week as during the campaign.

LIKES HORTON, BUT — Governor-nominate Kerr Scott likes the present chairman, Wilkins P. Horton of Pittsboro, but Capus Waynick, naturally, ranks first in Scott's preferences.

MANAGERS — Governor R. Gregg Cherry's manager was W. B. Unstead, who became U. S. Senator; J. M. Broughton's manager, E. B. Denny, is now an associate justice of the State Supreme Court; Clyde R. Hoy's manager, Hubert Olive, was made a Superior Court judge; but the manager for J. C. B. Ehringhaus, L. P. McLendon of Greensboro, who supported Kerr Scott this time,

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN — It is known here that Joe Blythe of Charlotte, national committeeman, supported W. B. Unstead for the U. S. Senate. It is thought, also, that he was for Charles M. Johnson for Governor. However, despite these two losses in one season, he is likely to remain as North Carolina's national committeeman. You would think that Winner J. M. Broughton and Winner Kerr Scott would have the say-so here, but the delegates to the National Democratic Convention—the majority of them at least—will probably side with Blythe. Kerr Scott hasn't shown any preference in this matter. He isn't too much interested in all this political jockeying for position except as it might affect his legislative program.

COMMITTEEWOMAN — Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton is almost sure to be moved out of the national committeewoman's position. Regarded as an Unstead-Johnson supporter by Broughton and Scott, her chances to remain in her present post are indeed slim. She became national committeewoman in 1936 during the Hoy-McDonald-Graham free-for-all.

NEEDS ATTENTION — Sitting at his home in Alamance county on the Sunday afternoon following his nomination for Governor, Kerr Scott described as "pure agony" the first two weeks of his campaign. He had no money. He could not get a manager. Many people were laughing at his chances of becoming Governor. It was different last week. He was at Black Bear Inn, out from West Jefferson, resting and eating. His lead over Johnson had been cut to 32,466 — Haywood county, for instance, had made a mistake in counting, and officially gave Johnson 1,088 more votes than in the unofficial returns—but this 32,466 was still more than twice the 15,000 which Scott thought he would beat Johnson.

HOWEVER — and this is the point — Capus Waynick and his assistants in the Scott headquarters could have raised $100,000 last week, probably more than that if they had been willing to raise Scott's campaign.

Health Officer Gives Precautionary Advice On Polio

Precautionary measures against the possible prevention of the spread of polio have been printed and issued in a bulletin by Dr. O. David Garvin, district health officer of Chapel Hill. Dr. Garvin, in cooperation with University of North Carolina officials, has had the entire Victory Village, occupied by married students and their families, sprayed with DDT and bulletins issued on precautions to be taken.

N. C. AUTO CENSUS UP 28%; STATE NOW RANKS 14TH

North Carolina, with its automobile population up 28.3 per cent since 1944, ranks fourteenth among the states in recovering from the wartime low in car registrations, Powell Crosley, Jr., lightweight car manufacturer, points out.

Marshall Clears Air Of Many Vital Foreign Issues

Secretary of State George C. Marshall is in almost hourly touch with European representatives in the tense situation growing out of the Berlin blockade. Furthermore, the bipartisan American foreign policy springing from the twin crisis of the Berlin blockade and the Marshal Tito-Moscow schism is being preserved by keeping Republican congressional leaders informed on State Department moves.
