SCOOPEROO - J. M. Broughton Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, has pulled another fast one on the wise boys—a "scoop," newspaper folks would call it.

A few hours after W. Kerr Scott had been nominated for Governor and while hundreds of people throughout the State were saying, "Look where R. Mayne Albright would be now if he had thrown his support to Mr. Scott." Mr. Broughton contacted Albright and requested him to become his administrative assistant.

This position now pays upwards of $10,000 per year. Will Albright accept it? Well, he hasn't as this column goes to press, but since his wife is a Washington, D. C., girl, and since you could name on the fingers of one hand the jobs with the State that pay as much, chances are he will go with Broughton.

TWO SURPRISES - The first surprise is that J. M. Broughton offered the position to Albright-you would think there would be at least 100 bright young men closer to the Broughton campaign-and the second eyebrow-lifter is that Mayne Albright didn't snap it up the second it was offered-or proffered.

The answer to the first is that Broughton needs more strength a- 1948-49. mong the youthful members of the By this plan the State Textbook search Farm, Friday afternoon, July
