Allied Church League
Hears Fine Talk On Alcoholic Problem

"We'll not defeat our enemies by shooting them, but by loving them," stated Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church in Greenville, in a challenging message to the Pitt county unit of the Allied Church League, meeting last Thursday night in the Shepherd Memorial library in Greenville.

Rev. Russell did not condemn nor criticize users of alcoholic beverages or the distillers. Rather, his message was a constructive one, setting forth ways in which the League could oppose the sale and use of strong drink, and at the same time help its victims. Pursuing the thought expressed in his opening statement, the Methodist pastor said that the approach to the alcoholic problem must be the same as that toward any other evil—that of "overcoming evil with good."

Among other constructive suggestions offered by Rev. Russell were the following:

1. Be careful to distinguish between the victims of alcohol and alcohol itself.
2. Seek to help, not condemn the alcoholic. Don't laugh at them; it is not a matter for jesting.
3. Show people how to be happy without drink.
4. Organize in churches groups of young people who do not drink and who do not want to drink.

5. Out-propagandize those who advertise and sell alcoholic beverage.

The meeting of the League was called to order by the president, Roy L. Turnage, Jr., of Ayden, while the opening prayer was offered by Rev. C. L. Patrick of Grifton.

Wyatt Brown reported that a local unit of Alcoholics Anonymous had been organized in Greenville. Roy Turnage read letters from Congressman Herbert Bonner and Senator Frank P. Graham concerning the Langer bill, now before a Senate Committee, which would outlaw advertising alcoholic beverages in interstate commerce and over the radio. Mr. Bonner assured his support of the bill and Senator Graham promised his careful consideration of it.

The League will have its next meeting at the Ayden Free Will Baptist church on Thursday night, April 27. E. G. Cole of Winterville serves as secretary of the league.

CANDLEWICK SPREADS ARE STUDIED BY FOUNTAIN CLUB

The Fountain Home Demonstration club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Fred Moore in her home.

Mrs. John Joyner, president, presided. Ten members were present and the club welcomed Mrs. Carlton Cobb as a new member.

Mrs. Jenniss Johnson gave a report on food and nutrition. Mrs. Moore made one on poultry. Four book reports were made by Mrs. J. C. Park-

THAT GYPSY SPIRIT—Far from the plains—figuratively speaking, that is—Hollywood actress Jane Russell wears a striking three-piece casual costume in a camouflage print and huge gypsy earrings. That smile is just enough to kindle the old gypsy spirit in anyone.

Miss Verna Lowery, home agent, discussed "Know Your Organization" and demonstrated the making of a candlewick bedspread. Each member made a small sample of tufting and fringe tying. Refreshments were served.
