Walstonburg Man Killed By Train Tuesday Morning

Claudius Mercer, 47, of near Walstonburg was killed early Tuesday morning, between 2 and 3 o'clock, by a southbound Norfolk-Southern train, one mile west of Walstonburg. Mercer's headless and battered body was found after daylight by the crew of the train following the one which hit him.

Sheriff Cobb of Greene county, one of the investigating officers, stated that Mercer apparently was asleep on the tracks. A spokesman for the railroad company stated that Mercer had been asleep on the tracks before but that the train crew had seen him in time to stop.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of his mother, with the Rev. L. B. Bennett, pastor of the Walstonburg Christian church, conducting the rites. Mercer was a member of Rev. Bennett's church. Burial was made in the family cemetery nearby.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sally Craft Mercer; a sister, Mrs. D. L. Bateman of Rocky Mount; four brothers, Harvey and Jacob of Walstonburg, Clifton and Charlie of Norfolk, Va.

Town Hall Presents Improved Appearance

Since the town's net worth is in excess of $1,300,000, officials vested with the responsibility of directing its affairs are in positions comparable to that of directors of a corporation or business worth $1,300,000.

The operation of a business of this size requires the expenditure of huge sums of money and Farmville's Board of Commissioners spent a lot in managing the town's affairs. To a man, however, they will agree with Commissioner O. G. Spell who, viewing the improved appearance of the town hall after the repainting and renovating work, declared Tuesday night that the cost of the job ($600) was the best expenditure the board could make.

Mayor Walter B. Jones presided at the meeting. Commissioners Spell, R. O. Lang, Jr., Claude Joyner and Fred Moore were present. The fifth member of the board, John M. Stansill, is on vacation.

PERSONAL ITEMS

President Bobby Rouse, Herbert Moore, Grimes Lewis and Dr. Frank Harris of the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce attended the district meeting in Jacksonville Thursday night. The next district meeting will be held here in the fall.

S. S. Farabow and son, William Sidney of Charlotte spent Thursday night with Dr. Paul E. Jones.

Archie Speight entered Woodard-Herring hospital, Wilson, last week for treatment. Mr. Speight's mother, Mrs. Ora Speight of near Stantonburg, who has been ill for several months, is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Copeland of Durham and Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Spell spent a few days last week at Blowing Rock, Linville Falls, Mount Mitchell and other points of interest in western North Carolina. They attended the pageant, "Unto These Hills," at Cherokee Saturday night.

Friends will be glad to learn that Mrs. J. I. Abernathy, who underwent an operation at Duke hospital Friday, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. A. MacLeod Freeman and children and Edward Cook of Ft. Worth, Texas, will leave Sunday to visit relatives in Fayetteville after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith. Mr. MacLeod's mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Paul of Washington, will accompany them home.

Mrs. S. E. Ewell is visiting the Brewer sisters in New Bern this week.

Mrs. Ben Lewis, who is ill at her home, is improving.

Mrs. Robert Teel spent a few days this week in Metter, Ga., with Mr. Teel, who was on the tobacco market there. Mr. Teel returned with her.

Miss Ora Lee Flanagan, student nurse at Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, is spending three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Flanagan.

MRS. DAILY'S NEPHEW WOUNDED IN KOREA
Capt. Fred L. Spivey of Snow Camp, N.C., was wounded in Korea, according to reports received here.

SCARED SOUSAPHONIST—Little ladies and giant sousaphones seldom make harmonious companions as two-year-old Korobyn Low proved at the 48th annual Music Industry Trade show in Chicago. Unable to extricate herself from the mammoth instrument after an ear-shattering solo passage, Miss Low let loose with a scream that brought music dealers racing to the scene of discord.

At The Rotary Club

With the assistance of a loud speaker, James Darden presented a transcribed program of current events of several years ago, "I Can Hear It Now."

The attendance prize was won by Jesse Moye.

Dr. J. G. Raby was a visitor from Tarboro. Col. Charles M. Duke and son, Charles, Jr., were guests of Dr. Paul Jones, and Dr. Chas. E. Fitzgerald had as his guest, P. M. Cate, Jr., of Pahokee, Fla.

Board Will Consider Extending City Limits

The Board of Commissioners Tuesday night voted to consider, at the meeting on September 5, the annexation of two sections adjacent to the city.

The two sections under consideration are on the eastern edge of town, and the section on the Fountain highway to North Main street, skirting the golf course and Country club.

Full description of the properties in question will be given in next week's paper.

John D. Walston, 73, Succumbs At His Home

Final rites for John D. Walston, 73, who was found dead at his home about noon Friday, were held Sunday afternoon from the home on the Farmville-Wilson highway.

Mr. Walston, a retired farmer, had been in poor health for several months.

Rev. E. S. Coates, pastor of the Farmville Presbyterian church, was assisted by Rev. J. D. Young, Snow Hill Methodist minister, in conducting the rites. Interment was in Tabernacle Methodist church cemetery near Walstonburg where Allie Jones, his first wife who died in 1913, and Letha Speight, his second wife who died in 1937, are buried.

Members of the Presbyterian choir, assisted by Miss Ruthie Tyson, sang "My Faith Looks up to Thee," "How Firm a Foundation," and at the graveside "Have Thine Own Way."

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Cornelia L. Walston of the home; four sons, William, James and Fred of Walstonburg; RFD, and Sam of Greenville, Route 1; a foster daughter, Mrs. Jessie O'Quinn of Farmville, Route 1, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Jaycees Meet

President Bobby Rouse presided at a semi-monthly meeting of the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night of last week in the Royal Grill.

The attendance prize, donated by Miss Rnbl, was won by Miss Nichola Harry Candler of Henderson was the guest of his brother, Bill Candler.

Prior to the meeting a steak supper was served.

Shearin Family To Have Reunion Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shearin will be hosts Sunday at their home to about 30 members of the Shearin family at a reunion and celebration of Mrs. Laura Shearin's eighty-second birthday, which falls on Friday.

Mrs. Shearin, who lives on Leitchburg, Route 4, has 22 children. J. R. Shearin, Farmville, has 12 children. Mrs. Shearin's husband, J. R. Shearin, was born in Rocky Mount, N.C., and Mrs. Shearin's husband, J. R. Shearin, was born in Rocky Mount, N.C.

Laws Passed To Curb Recklessness On Local Streets

A campaign to lessen the danger of traffic accidents in Farmville and to improve parking habits in the business district was taken Tuesday night when the Board of Commissioners, evidently tired of having its safe-driving pleas ignored by the public, took the following two steps:

(1) Adopted an ordinance setting the speed limit at 25 miles per hour in the residential section of town, and 20 miles an hour in the business district. The ordinance also prohibits motorists from making a U-turn on any street or at any intersection.

(2) Ordered a strict accounting of tickets issued by policemen for violation of traffic regulations and put teeth in the way tickets are to be handled.

The ban on U-turns and the limits on speeds were voted into effect when the executives agreed that certain streets in town were fast becoming speedways and that the practice of turning around at intersections was creating a hazard which, sooner or later, they feared would result in disaster.

The town board also directed that proper signs be erected on streets to indicate the speed limit.

In ordering that a strict accounting be made of tickets issued by officers, the board directed that all local motorists who receive a ticket for failure to observe traffic laws will be assessed one dollar, unless they prefer to take the matter into city court and let the judge rule on the guilt or innocence of the offender.

The board decreed that leniency is to be shown out-of-towners for the first offense; but that the second offense would cost out-of-towners one dollar, also.

The reckless driving problem has been disturbing the commissioners for several months, and scarcely a meeting is held without someone bringing up the question. The parking problem bobs up from time to time, the seriousness rising and falling in proportion to the efforts of policemen to enforce the laws.

Dr. Paul E. Jones, Jr., Practices In Kannapolis

Dr. Paul E. (Ras) Jones, Jr., left the first of the week to become associated with Dr. Joseph B. Johnston, Jr., in Kannapolis in the practice of internal medicine.

Dr. Jones, who had been spending a month with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Paul E. Jones, was on the staff of Watts hospital, Durham, for the past two years. He practiced at Charlotte Memorial hospital for one year. From July, 1945, to September, 1946, he served in the Navy. He graduated from the University of North Carolina and received his degree in medicine from Jefferson Medical college, Philadelphia, in 1944. He interned at Philadelphia General hospital.

John Jones had charge of the program, and Alex Allen, who was one of the first to support the Kiwanis Exposition which raises funds for the scholarship loans. Introduced the 3 ladies.

The presence of the three was an inspiration for the club, which now is making plans for its annual affair.

Other guests of the club were Bill Jones, Emma Sue Nanney, Robert Bruce Owen and Stanley Tyson, the four high school students selected by the faculty as showing the most improvement during the year.

Dr. Berger of the Canal Zone was the guest of Dr. E. R. Smith.

The club will meet with the Goldboro club on Monday, August 14, in Goldboro.

J. R. Shearin is to have charge of the meeting Monday night.

Town and Country

(By James B. Hockaday)

It is generally agreed that the tempo of life becomes faster as the size of a town increases, thus causing a great deal of confusion and rush. Some friends of ours in one of the State's largest cities have a young son who recently finished his first year of school. One morning during the closing days of the term, the family had gotten off to a late start. The mother, who had been accustomed to driving the young man to school each morning, instructed the father to finish getting the boy's breakfast into him while she got out the car. She backed out the automobile, headed for the school, and was nearly there before she finally realized that she had left the youngster at home!

From Moffett Field, California, comes word that the Army has airplane models flitting with air speeds of relative impossibility. Engineers say, in theory, there is apparently no limit to the speed at which missiles and airplanes can travel and still stay in one piece. The following limerick epitomizes, somewhat, according to the Christian Science Monitor, the thinking of those aeronautical experts who have made possible model tests up to an incredible speed of 11,000 miles an hour, 15 times the speed of sound:

There was a young fellow named White,
Who flew beyond the speed of light.
He went off one day
In a relative way,
And returned the preceding night.

Sunday's issue of The News and Observer enumerated some of the different versions of the Lord's Prayer, as repeated by children who so often come up with peculiar phraseology. One little boy kept saying, "Harold be Thy Name." Another begged, "Give us this day our jelly bread," while one youngster, from New York prayed, "Lead us not into Penn Station."

One of my favorite juvenile versions of Biblical passages is the one Mickey Joyner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Joyner, used when he was repeating the 23rd Psalm for Miss Myrtle Nichols, his Sunday School teacher. Said the practical-minded Mickey: "Thy rod and Thy reel they comfort me."

At The Kiwanis Club

Two young ladies who have been attending college with the help of a Kiwanis scholarship loan and another who intends to enter for the first time this fall were guests Monday night of the Kiwanis club and each expressed her appreciation of the confidence and faith given them by the club. The three speakers, all of them top-notch in ability and looks, were Melba Jessa Baker, who has been attending Mars Hill college for two years; Ruth Moore, a student at the Shenandoah Conservatory in Dayton, Va., and Jennie Murphy, who will enter Woman's college in September.

John Jones had charge of the program, and Alex Allen, who was one of the first to support the Kiwanis Exposition which raises funds for the scholarship loans. Introduced the 3 ladies.

The presence of the three was an inspiration for the club, which now is making plans for its annual affair.

Grandchild Of Local Couple Is Victim Of Polio

Funeral services for Barbara Ellene Freeman were held from the Farmville Funeral home at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon with Rev. H. L. Davis, pastor of the Farmville Methodist church, in charge. Interment was in Forest Hills cemetery.

Barbara died of bulbar polio at 3:30 Friday afternoon at City-County hospital, Fort Worth, Texas, where she resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus MacLeod Freeman.

Barbara, who had been in and out of an iron lung since she was hospitalized on June 21, celebrated her eleventh birthday July 20 with a small party in the polio ward of the hospital. She had a cake with 11 candles. She was the ninth person to die from polio this year in Fort Worth.

Barbara would have been a sixth grade student this fall at Arlington Heights elementary school. She excelled in art and had won honors for her paintings which were exhibited in the Fort Worth schools' art festival. She was an "A. P." student. Her artistic efforts also found expression in crocheting and embroidering.

The child's mother is the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith of Farmville. Mr. Freeman is a native of North Carolina and is now a procurement assistant for the U. S. Weather Bureau at Fort Worth.

The child is survived by her parents, a brother, A. MacLeod Freeman, Jr.; a sister, Ann Shepherd Freeman, all of Fort Worth; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Haywood Smith of Farmville and Mrs. Bertha MacLeod Paul of Washington, N. C.

Active pallbearers were Arch and Curtis Flanagan and R. P. Wholes of Farmville, James G. Smith of Greenville, J. B. MacLeod of Robbins and N. C. MacLeod of Fayetteville.

Among out-of-town relatives and friends attending the funeral were Miss Dorothy Wilson and Richard Wilson of Durham, Mrs. Ralph Beator of Kensington, Md., Mrs. Royal Stephenson of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. George Hinton and Miss Sally E. Klingenschmitt of Kenly; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. MacLeod and Mr. and Mrs. Cary L. MacLeod of Carthage, Mrs. David McCallum of Southern Pines, Mrs. Bertha MacLeod Paul, Mrs. H. B. Carawan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul and daughter, Beth, of Washington, N. C., Mrs. T. J. Herring of Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Teabeat of Fayetteville, Edward Cook of Fort Worth, Texas.
