Sales On Local Market Resumed At Conclusion Five-Day Holiday

Sales on local tobacco warehouse floors were resumed Wednesday morning, following a five-day holiday which was voted into effect when rodding and processing plants became too congested and prices appeared to be getting weaker.

Prices on the re-opening were good and Sales Supervisor Fred Moore stated that those who patronize the local market appeared to be well pleased with sales made here.

Farmville warehousemen have the reputation of being among the best in the whole flue-cured area and, like many other observers, Supervisor Moore believes that they come nearer pleasing all their customers than any other set of warehousemen anywhere. Some people can't be pleased anywhere or anytime, but Mr. Moore is of the opinion that Farmville's share of this class is small indeed.

Sales on the Farmville market have passed the 15 1/2 million pound mark.

It is estimated that 60 per cent of the crop in this section has been sold. The market is maintaining an average of 56 cents, which means that more money will be paid out this year than ever before in the history of the market.

Like all other markets in the area, Farmville is selling only four and a half hours a day. The schedule was shortened to prevent congestion.

ECTC Professors Will Appear On PTA Program

Music and a speaker for the Farmville Parent-Teacher association program Thursday night will be furnished by students and a faculty member at ECTC. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the gymnasium.

Dr. Rudolph Willman, head of the music department, is arranging the musical numbers.

Dr. Edward J. Carter, acting head of the education department, who is a speaker of force and ability, will discuss a topic in the education field. A native of Mars Hill, Dr. Carter received his A. B. degree from Lenoir-Rhyne and the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of North Carolina, where he majored in sociology and educational administration. He has taught in the North Carolina public schools, acted as state supervisor of schools in Alabama and currently is on a year's leave from his regular position as head of the education department at Murry (Ky.) State Teachers college.

During World War II he served overseas as a civilian administrator in charge of evacuation and care for civilians in combat areas in the Mediterranean theater. Later he was stationed in Washington to train overseas personnel for service with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration.

It is hoped that all parents and other interested citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Dr. Carter.

School Schedules Saturday Classes

Principal Sam D. Bundy of the Farmville school announces that the school will operate four Saturdays this fall in order to make up for the four-day delay necessitated by the renovation program that had not been completed in time for school to begin on schedule.

Classes will be held tomorrow, and on October 14, October 23 and Nov. 11 to make up the time lost.

By enrolling in these four Saturday sessions, the school will be able to complete exactly four months of work before Christmas holidays begin.

Classes will be held tomorrow from 8 until 12:30.

At The Rotary Club

Howard McGinnis, Rotary Governor of District 279, met with the Rotary club Tuesday night and used as his theme for discussion, "Just Rotary." We need to know more about Rotary, said McGinnis, a great number of us don't know enough about it to enable us to put as much into it as we should.

Rotary now has approximately 342,000 members in 83 countries of the world and if each member were properly informed and lived up to the motto of Rotary in its fullest meaning, even a much greater record of service could be boasted than now already exists.

As a source of information, McGinnis recommended several publications, perhaps the most outstanding being "The Rotarian."

Attendance was 86% and Randolph Eagles was a visitor from Tarboro. The fellowship prize went to Charlie Rasberry and Manly Liles received the attendance prize.

Charlie Fitzgerald will have the program Tuesday night. Club President Walter Jones presided.

This week end marks the time of year when members of the Farmville Kiwanis club doff their professional dignity and step out from their businesses to operate a home-talent carnival that has as its objective the raising of money for funds from which loans are made to deserving girls and boys desiring to get a higher education.

The carnival provides fun for all and a large number of attractive and handsome prizes. It will be held in the high school gymnasium tonight and tomorrow night. It costs nothing to enter, but the Kiwanians are frank to admit that they hope those who attend will "shell out" generously for the worthy cause which has done valuable work in the past and has all the earmarks of becoming more valuable as time passes.

Hammers started ringing in the gymnasium Tuesday night as the Kiwanians readied their booths and the display spaces which local merchants have secured in order to present some of their most attractive items to the public.

The Kiwanis carnival deserves the support and backing of all citizens in the community. The past events have been very successful and the Kiwanians hope for the same measure of success this year.

Hertford Downs Farmville Grid Team In Opener

Farmville high school Red Devils went down in defeat, 25-0 at the hands of the Hertford high school eleven Friday night in the opening game of the 1950 football season.

It was a costly night for the Farmville squad in the loss of the game and in injuries to players. Randolph Allen, Farmville's quarterback who was expected to spark Coach Elbert Moya's backfield this year, suffered an injured ankle in the first five minutes of the game and was out for the remainder of the fray. End Albert Cannon discovered after the game that he had sustained a fractured finger. His finger was injured during the contest but he remained in the game. The fracture was not discovered until after the game when Cannon's finger was examined by a doctor.

Two fumbles by the Farmville team early in the game gave the Hertford squad the breaks they needed for two quick touchdowns. Farmville fumbled behind its own goal line in the first quarter and Hertford recovered for a touchdown. The Hertford players added two more tallies in the second quarter but in the second half the Farmville defense stiffened and Hertford was able to score only once during the third and fourth periods.

Gene Fountain, Bobby Fulford and Roy Flores were the best defensive players for the Red Devils. Gene Meeks was outstanding on offense.

Today the Devils travel to Martin county for a Coastal Conference game with Robertsonville.
