ANSWER TO SMEARS

Senator Kefauver's proposal to enable victims of charges made under congressional immunity to answer their accusers would go a long way toward correcting the abuse of this vital instrument. One strong point in the resolution, in which Mr. Kefauver is joined by Senators Hunt, Tobey and Margaret Chase Smith, is that it suggests no change in the constitutional right of immunity itself. Instead, it would permit persons named in derogatory fashion on the floor to file sworn statements in reply which would be read on the floor and published in the Congressional Record. Insofar as practicable, a member intending to name some individual in a derogatory manner would be asked to notify the person in advance. In instances in which the name came up spontaneously in the course of debate the clerk of the respective house would notify the individual of his rights.

The most notorious practitioner of abuse in this respect is, of course, Senator McCarthy. He himself recently gave a damning illustration of why a corrective is necessary. Speaking of the 26 persons he named as loyalty and security risks in the State Department, he said on August 9: "Some of them may be able to prove that they are neither security nor loyalty risks. If so, they may have been hurt by this publicity, and I regret it." That is an object admission that some of the names may be (and probably are) innocent. Yet under the present system the victim of a smear all too often is presumed guilty in the public mind, and the reply, if any, seldom catches up with the accusation.—Washington Post.

CHURCH SETS EXAMPLE

In calling upon the DeKalb County Grand Jury for a bill for whatever services may have been rendered, the Druid Hills Baptist Church has dramatized the issue of separation of church and state and in establishing a precedent which will be an excellent guide to other religious organizations.

The pastor of the church, Dr. Louis D. Newton, protested a recent presentation of the grand jury which found no illegality or irregularity in the fact that the county had rendered free service, involving use of convicts, county employees and county machinery, to 68 churches.

Dr. Newton insisted that since the grand jury considered the help of the county agent, a service, the church should be billed for the time, car expense and any other charge. He was supported by his congregation at a conference on Sunday.

That is in keeping with the American concept of church and state and both Dr. Newton and his congregation are to be commended for their insistence it be preserved. They have won the gratitude of all thoughtful persons.—Atlanta Constitution.

Mrs. Roland H. James, Librarian General, of Tucson, Arizona, was a guest of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and Dr. W. E. Marshall, graduate of the University of Texas, Professor of Political Science at East Carolina College, College, former dean at the school, who received his Doctorate from the American University, spoke on the subject, "National Affairs," at their meeting in the Chapter House last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mark E. Dixon, Mrs. W. C. Holston and Mrs. R. O. Lang, Sr. were hostesses. Special guests, in addition to Dr. Marshall and Mrs. Roland H. James, were Miss Eunice Bland of Tucson, Arizona; Mrs. W. E. Lang of Walsenburg, and Mesdames: J. W. Bass, Marian Davis, E. L. Davis, W. J. Rasberry, Madeline Roundtree, R. A. Fields, T. W. Lang, A. B. Moore, R. D. Rouse, L. E. Walston and Misses Georgia Howard and Willa Harper.

The devotional was given by Mrs. E. B. Beasley, Sr. Mrs. Henrietta Williamson, Regent, presided and named the following committee chairmen: Americanism, Mrs. W. C. Murray; Hospital, Mrs. J. O. Pollard; Memorial Bell Tower, Mrs. M. V. Jones; Bonds, Mrs. M. E. Dixon.

Committee chairmen making reports were: Mrs. R. O. Lang, approved school; Mrs. J. O. Pollard, defense; Mrs. M. V. Jones, gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. W. C. Holston, membership chairman, presented the names of Mrs. Clara Barrett Currie of Farmville and Mrs. Hazel Williams Jordan of Greenville, who were voted new members.

Mrs. Mark E. Dixon presented to the chapter an antique silver ladle and read a letter of presentation from Mrs. Augustus Rogers, of Lake Alfred, Fla., the donor.

Miss Tabitha M. DeViseonti gave a report on the District meeting held in Halifax, October 8, and in her Conservation report urged members to contribute generously to the Christmas Seal Drive, the Cancer Drive and to give gifts to service men and women in the hospitals at Christmas and Thanksgiving. She announced the transfer of Mrs. W. C. Murray from the Caswell Nash Chapter in Raleigh.

Mrs. Ellen Lewis Carroll introduced Mrs. Roland H. James of Tucson, Arizona past Regent of her local chapter and State Regent, and now Librarian General, who stopped by Farmville enroute to a board meeting in Washington, D. C. In her remarks, Mrs. James paid tribute to the work of Miss Virginia Horne of Wadesboro, N. C. State Regent, and Miss Gertrude Carraway, editor of the National Magazine. She urged members to assist in sending needed books, pamphlets, copies of old papers and Bible records to the National Library.

Mrs. Herman Baker, program chairman, introduced Mr. Marshall, who spoke on "National Affairs," and discussed particularly the United Nations. The speaker in discussing the part to be played in the future by the United Nations, pointed out that in reality the "Specialized Agencies" of that organization were destined to supplant the political agencies which now have been given the limelight. He recalled the basic philosophy upon which the United Nations was founded might be summed up in the "demonstrated truth of the traditional philosophy that everlasting peace can be established only if it is based upon social justice." Dr. Marshall outlined the twelve Specialized Agencies and discussed them briefly, with specific emphasis being given to the Food and Agriculture Organization, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Monetary Fund, the World Health Organization, the International Labor Organization, the International Civil Organization and the International Meteorological Organization. He concluded his talk with the following quotations: Confucius: "It isn't square acres that make a country great, but square men." Shakespeare: "Don't look like innocent but be the serpent under it." Lincoln: "What we need to be most concerned about is not whether God is on our side but whether we are on His." Christ: "Do unto others as ye would have others do unto you." The Chapter house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Pymcanthe berries and autumn leaves were used in artistic arrangement on one mantel and the other mantel was made lovely by the use of magnolia leaves and berries. Yellow chrysanthemum corsages were given to guests as they arrived, and berries and chrysanthemums were used throughout the house. The refreshment table was covered with an imported embroidered cloth and was covered with an arrangement of red roses and chrysanthemums, a gift of Smith.

During the social hour Miss Willa Harper sang two selections, "O Del Mio Dolce Ardor" by Gluck and "Smilin' Thru" by Arthur Penn. She was accompanied by Mrs. Haywood

Ever stop to think
Your First Car can be a Buick!

This being a land where it is every man's right to dream of getting ahead—and the pursuit of happiness is guaranteed by the Constitution—it happens that a great many people aspire to own a Buick.

But too often they start with a lesser car first—from a feeling that Buicks are something you have to build up to gradually, as your take-home pay improves. So—if you have any such notion—we'd like to set you straight, right here and now.

You don't have to hope and dream and wait. If you can afford a new car—the first car you buy can be the Buick SPECIAL pictured here.

Its price tag says so. Its low cost of operation says so too.

We know that it looks like a lot of money. That's what makes it such a buy.

We know that it has a long list of features found in costlier cars, and that it rides and handles like cars that sell for a great deal more.

But that simply means that—at its price—you're getting a very big money's worth.

All of which adds up to one conclusion: the smart thing to do is come in and give this neat and nimble new SPECIAL a thorough going-over.

Try out its power—the power of its high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine.

Try out its ride and handling—and you'll discover it has the "big-car feel" that you'd expect from a Buick.

Try it out for size—for room—for comfort—for all the things that you've dreamed someday of having in a car—and you'll thank your stars that you found out the facts of life in time.
