BRIDGETTES AND N.E.C. ENTERTAIN AT BRIDGE AND CANASTA TOURNAMENT

The Bridgettes with Mrs. Tommy Lang, hostess, and the Night Bridge Club with Mrs. M. L. Eason, Jr., as hostess were entertained at the Junior Woman's Club Bridge and Canasta Tournament, at the hut on last Thursday night.

Prizes for the Bridgettes went to Mrs. Dewey Fuquay, high, a Bean Bay ash tray, and low, to Mrs. Leroy Bass, a linen handkerchief. Mrs. Harold Rouse, a guest, was remembered with a sewing kit.

The Night Bridge Club members winning prizes were Mrs. Curtis Flanagan, high, and Mrs. Bill Candler, low.

Tournament winners in Bridge were: ladies, Mrs. Frank Davis, Jr., who was given earrings; men's, Critz Hillard, a bill clasp. Canasta winners were: ladies, Mrs. Arthur Joyner, Sr., note paper; men's, Mack Caraway, a leather telephone pad.

Refreshments served to guests of the two clubs and other players attending the tournament were: tuna fish and pimento cheese sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, brownies and coca colas. Dahlias and marigolds were used to decorate the hut for the occasion.

The Junior Woman's Club members were pleased with the success of the tournament.

COUNTY SUPERVISOR SPEAKS TO JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Miss Payne Sugg of Hookerton, Supervisor of the Greene County Health Department, gave an interesting and informative talk on welfare work at the Junior Woman's club meeting on Tuesday night. She cited the duties and responsibilities of the public in general. Miss Sugg was introduced by Mrs. David Quinn.

Miss Mary E. Carr, Mrs. Cecil Lilley, Jr., and Mrs. Arthur Joyner, Jr., were hostesses at the meeting. The hut was decorated in the Halloween motif; marigolds and chrysanthemums, Halloween napkins, plates and cups were used, and the idea further accentuated in the refreshments.

Mrs. Carroll D. Oglesby, president, presided over the business session during which the members discussed a rummage sale and decided to have the sale October 27. Reports on the bridge and canasta tournament were also made.

The hostesses served delicious chocolate eclairs, peanuts and coffee.

ATTEND HOMECOMING HELD AT CAROLINA

Misses Anne Bynum and Gayle Flanagan attended Homecoming at the University of North Carolina this past week end. The activities included the game between Carolina and South Carolina on Saturday afternoon, a dance on Saturday night and a visit to the Planetarium on Sunday.

The young ladies were guests of Robert Pollard and John R. Joyner.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan, Jr. was hostess to the Lampad Club and special guests, Mrs. John B. Wright, Jr., Mrs. Charles Duke, and Mrs. R. T. Monk, at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Dahlias and chrysanthemums in shades of pink were used in artistic arrangements as a setting for the tables in play.

Strawberry pies and cheese straws were served before play and coca colas were enjoyed during the games.

Mrs. J. Y. Monk, Jr., compiled high score for the afternoon.

LADIES PLAN TO ORGANIZE B AND P WOMEN'S CLUB

A group of local women met at the American Legion Hall Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Grace S. Ayscue, Director of District 7, Miss Ruth Pealing, president of Eastern County Club, of Morehead City; Mrs. Ruth Garner, president of the Greenville Club; Mrs. Chester Walsh and Mrs. Ruel Tyson of Greenville, to learn about the aims of, and the manner of organizing a Business and Professional Women's Club in Farmville.

The Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc. is the largest organization in the world devoted entirely to the interests of employed women. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-profit. Any woman actively engaged in business or the professions acceptable to the local club is eligible for membership. Reasons for belonging to the club are listed as follows:

Because, it gives me business prestige.

Because, it gives me the opportunity to work for worthwhile civic projects and to help promote the welfare of the community.

Because, it gives me opportunity to work for legislation which will be for the best interest of business and professional women.

Because, it gives me opportunity to join with others in promoting a program which will raise the standards of education in business.

Because, it gives me opportunity to help younger business women get an education which will fit them for entrance in the business world.

Because, it gives me opportunity to participate in nationwide programs promoting the interest of all women wage earners.

Because, it gives me opportunity for self-expression.

Because, it gives me opportunity for wholesome recreation.

Because, it gives me opportunity for mental, physical, and spiritual growth.

Because, it gives me opportunity for development of initiative and leadership.

Because, it offers me the friendship and fellowship of leading business and professional women.

Because, the membership card of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club is equivalent to a card of introduction to outstanding business and professional women in every section of the country.

Women joining before the next meeting will be considered charter members. For particulars contact Miss Annie Lee Jones, Miss Charlotte Williams, Miss Mary Elizabeth Carr, Miss Lela Frazier, Mrs. Alfred Lewis or Mrs. Cherry Beasley.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB WILL SPONSOR RUMMAGE SALE
