NEW BERNE, N. C., JUNE 15, 1882.

NO. 10.

Fraud and Adulteration.

The lie in labels and brands is becoming so serious a matter that special means should be employed to detect fraud, and severe penalties should be enforced against the offenders.

Insanity and Crime.

Insanity has been pleaded of late in behalf of so many notorious criminals that it is becoming a matter of public interest that the nature of brain diseases should be better understood, and that many of the delusions and present excuses should be dispelled.

murder and makes the preparation of it excusable—is, happily, much rarer than is commonly supposed. Homicidal maniacs may be classed broadly under three heads.

TO PREVENT CONSUMPTION.

Experiments in Vaccination.—Dr. Miller's Belief that they will Succeed. Dr. Wesley Miller read a paper entitled "Prevention of Tubercular Disease in Man and Domestic Animals," before the New York Academy of Science last evening.

Spasmodic Action.

The muscles are endowed with contractile power. They tend of themselves to draw their extremities toward their centre.

In Prison Without a Crime.

The life and safety of the great mass of mankind depend largely on the sacrifices made by a few. Who, that knows this will ever be ungrateful enough to forget the patient, hard-faring class who work and watch for us?

The Tariff.

The New York Times, in commenting on a number of letters sent from editors of North Carolina and other Southern States, in response to an enquiry as to what our people thought of the tariff, says the Southern people show considerable indifference and ignorance on this subject.

The Cotton Outlook.

The cotton situation is becoming interesting. It appears that the entire amount of cotton hauled from the plantations since September 1 is 5,270,382 bales.

Doubtful Compliment.

Walter Scott had a favorite servant, Tom. Parry, who thought his master the brightest and the best man in the two kingdoms.

His Interest in the Boy.

It is a pity that humanity should ever have a mercenary motive. But for a nature so sordid as to be incapable of any higher regard for another's life and welfare such a motive is better than none.

Brother Gardner's Difficulty in Becoming an Angel.

"How wicked we am when we not down and link it over," said Brother Gardner, as he was being tripped up by the foot of heaven.

How to Succeed.

It was said of the first Napoleon by one who read his character, 'Promote him, or he will force his way.' This energy is the secret of success with scores of men who have risen from humble life to wealth and power.

Common Sense.

A valuable horse had been lost and no one could find him. A half-witted fellow finally brought him back, and to the question, 'How did you find him?' when no one else could be replied, 'Well, I just quired where the horse was seen last, and I went there and sat on a rock; and I just asked myself if I was a horse, what would I go and what would I do? And then I went and found him.'
