EUROPE RELUCTANT TO REDUCE ARMIES

Disarmament Experts of the League of Nations Think Nothing Can be Looked for

GENEVA, May 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The nations of Europe are in no mood to disarm, or even substantially reduce the size of their armies, and no material progress toward the reduction of land armaments can be looked for during the next three or four years.

Such is the opinion of the disarmament experts of the League of Nations and the members of the temporary mixed commission on armaments, which is the instrument through which the league has been trying for the last two years to make some headway in the direction of world disarmament.

The commission, created in September, 1919, by the first assembly of the league, will end its work next June when a final report will be drawn up for the September meeting of the assembly.

The mixed commission and league officials have learned from unmistakable sources that there is no disposition on the part of the European nations, particularly, and the world generally, to disarm while the present political situation in Europe continues. The Geneva conference and the Russo-German treaty have, in the estimation of the commission members and league officials, dealt a serious blow to the disarmament campaign of the league.

Information reaching the league indicates that the representatives of the various countries are leaving Geneva with greater uncertainty as regards the future than when they started for the economic conference. Consideration of the problem of disarmament itself is out of the question for the present, owing to the Russo-German attitude, the league experts believe. The only outstanding exception to what league circles call the general refusal of the world to disarm is the Washington conference.

But for the initiative of the United States government, it is pointed out, the record of disarmament since the armistice, excepting, of course, former enemy countries, would be virtually blank.

HIS PENANCE DONE BABE RUTH GOES BACK TOMORROW

Tactfully Admitting Old Landis is Bigger Man, Champion Will Again Swat 'Em

IN LINE-UP FOR FIRST TIME OF THE SEASON

One Fourth of the Season Gone, He Must Slam Out a Home Run Every Other Day and Three on One Day in Order To Match Last Year.

NEW YORK, May 19.—His penance all performed, Babe Ruth, the prodigal son of Swat, takes up his bluejean again tomorrow, weather permitting, as the New York Yankees open a long home series at the Polo Grounds with Kenneth Williams, the "Ruthian Lechner" from out of the west, trying to make his 1922 metropolitan debut the beginning of a fade-out for George Herman.

Since he has read of the ball-claiming prowess of Williams, since he has been shown that the Yankees are more than a "one man" club, since he has found that Commissioner Keneaw M. Landis means to enforce the rules and since he has discovered what it means not to be allowed to play, it is reported that Ruth's uniform, including his cap—fits better.

But regardless of the interidity of Mr. Williams, who seems intent upon galloping past the Babe's highwater mark of 59 home runs for last season; regardless of the fact that Ruth has a "record"—as a baseball Sherlock, if one there was, would term it, the Crowned King of Klouters is still the pride of Harlem and the biggest baseball drawing card the world has ever known.

Crowds Will See Him

In the view of many fans the attitude that Babe has displayed since receiving his "sentences" from Commissioner Landis, the quiet manner in which he has conducted himself, his willingness to "play the game" and his apparent determination to make up for lost time—all of this will bring as many people to the ball yards to see him this year as did last.

According to those who have the Babe's confidence he has been elated over the fact that the Yankees have set without him in the line-up and now that he knows he is a trifle more valuable as a magnet to the box office than as a counter in the total scoring he will attempt more than ever to be more of a first class baseball player and a diligent purveyor of satisfaction to fandom in general.

Ruth's appearance in the line-up tomorrow will mark his first appearance in a league game this year, 38 days after the opening of the season and with one-fourth of the season gone, necessitates Ruth slugging out one homerun at least every other day and three on one day to surpass his record of last year.

Banished Last Fall

The Babe was banished last fall by Commissioner Landis together with Bob Meusel, another Yankee whose achievement of getting 24 homers in last season is seldom thought of, for playing an exhibition game with the Buffalo International League team after the world series had ended, in violation of the rule that prohibits world series players from indulging in such exhibitions.

Not only did Ruth and Meusel violate the rule but they did it after Commissioner Landis had personally talked with Ruth and told him what would happen in case the rule was violated. After that conversation Ruth expressed his determination to forget the Commissioner, and Landis meeting the most severe test of his baseball career, foreshadowed what his decision would be by saying:

"It will be a personal issue between Ruth and me to determine which man is bigger in baseball. With the 38 days suspension on him it looks to baseball fandom as if Landis is convinced that Landis is the bigger and that Ruth also is convinced.

As soon as he had flouted Landis, Ruth was sorry, but he "had gone and done it." Full of remorse and forebodings, Ruth hurried back to New York, swore repentance and took a rest. Soon the Landis decision came along and Babe became quiet—quiet until Colonel Huston, part owner of the Yankees, found him at Hot Springs and got the Babe to sign a five-year contract calling for between $75,000 and $100,000 a year flat salary.

A Better Balanced Man

Babe went to the training camp with the club and played in the exhibition games across home and at home, but when the club opened in Washington Ruth sat in the grandstand like President Harding. Since then he has practiced off and on, read the papers, travelled a bit, played golf, undergone a minor operation, and become glum and downcast, anticipatory and happy.

He dons his uniform again tomorrow, "better balanced," as Commissioner Landis, who is now his very good friend, would say.

Ruth, unquestionably the greatest hitter of all time, has batted out 75 home runs in the last six years. He scored four in 1915, three in 1916, two in 1917, 11 in 1918, 29 in 1919—breaking the then world's record, 54 in 1920, and 59 last year—a total of 133. His homerun hitting has become so prolific that it was suggested last season that he be handicapped by being allowed only two strikes or to bat only with one hand.

Few expect that he will come near equalling last year's mark, let alone establish a new record, considering that one-fourth of his playing time for last year is gone, although on May 20 last year, Ruth had collected only 12 circuit smashes, approximately one-fifth of his total in one-fourth of his time. His attempt, however, will supply interest for the lagging period of dog days.

U. S. TO INVESTIGATE VALENTINO WEDDING

His Haste to Wed Miss Hudnut Before Getting Divorce Starts Mann Act Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—The federal government, through department of justice agents, will investigate the marriage of Rudolph Valentino, screen actor, and Miss Winifred Hudnut of New York of Mexicali, Mexico, it became known today.

Valentino will be questioned by federal officers, it was stated at the Federal building and an effort will be made to interrogate the bride, who as she can be reached at some point between here and New York, her reported destination on a trip which began yesterday.

Frank M. Sturgis, in charge of the department of justice bureau here, said that the investigation into the Valentino marriage was prompted by reports made to his office that Valentino had violated the Mann White Slave act.

Two Others to Be Probed

Investigation of the marriages of two other prominent motion picture actors who took this step after obtaining an interlocutory decree of divorce and without waiting for a final decree is under way, it was announced.

These actors are Frank Mayo and Henry R. Walthall, according to the district attorney's announcement. Mayo was married at Tia Juana, Mexico, after the granting of an interlocutory decree of divorce here. The bride of the second marriage at Tia Juana was Laagop Godowsky, daughter of Dr. Leopold Godowsky, noted pianist.

Valentino an Italian

Valentino, who was born in Italy, and is known as an American citizen "by adoption" was married here in November, 1919, to Miss Jean Acker, from whom he was given an interlocutory decree of divorce January, 1922. His name was given in the marriage application as Rudolph Guglielmi, and his place of birth as Italy. He was then 24 years old.

Valentino came to America as a youth and was employed in New York and elsewhere as a tango dancer. He entered motion picture work about the time of his marriage to Miss Acker in 1919.

PERFUME MAGNATE OUT OF TOWN

NEW YORK, May 19.—Winifred Hudnut Valentino, who started East last night, leaving behind her actor bridegroom, whose legal right to marry her husband is questioned, may pass her father, Richard Hudnut, perfume manufacturer, on the road.

As his office today, it was said, he had not been in for several days, and it was thought the had gone to Los Angeles. Members of the office staff said Mr. Hudnut had closed up his home here recently and was living at a hotel. Efforts to locate him were unavailing.

WANT WALLACE FOR HOME COMING SPEECH

Reunion of 30th and 81st Divisions to be Part of the Celebration

Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace has been invited to deliver the principal address here on "Home Coming Day," July 4th.

The invitation has already been extended by Senator Simmons at the request of the special committee which has in hand the arrangements for the big event. Yesterday this invitation was supplemented by urgent telegrams from the Kiwanians, the Rotarians and other organizations.

If Secretary Wallace can't come to Goldsboro and make the big speech independence day, the committee hopes to secure either the former Governor, Chief Justice William Howard Taft or General John J. Pershing. The invitations, should Mr. Wallace decline, will be presented in the order given above.

The committee is making extensive preparations for the big home coming celebration. Already letters going from Goldsboro to former residents are carrying invitations to the "old timers" to come back for a day. A much more elaborate advertising scheme is under way.

Brass bands, numbers of them, will be secured. From early morn until late night, the day will be given over to the entertainment of the former boys and girls of Wayne. Combined with the home coming celebration will be staged an abbreviated reunion of the 30th and 81st divisions, composed of many Wayne soldiers.

If you have a suggestion to offer, you are invited to communicate with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce or Dr. C. F. Stroensider, chairman of the special committee.

FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of Wayne County subject to the will of the voters in the Democratic Primary, June 3rd. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to faithfully discharge the duties of the office.

PLAYED JAZZ MUSIC EVEN DURING FUNERAL

NEW YORK, May 19.—Thirteen hours of jazz music a day constitutes a public nuisance, in the opinion of Magistrate Simpson. He fined James Secular $10 today when neighbors complained that their ears were surfeited from 10 every morning until 11 at night with noisy dance hits, pouring from a horn over the entrance to his Eighth avenue music shop.

The complainants decided to take their troubles to court yesterday when Secular ignored the requests of mourners attending funeral services in a nearby chapel that he stop the phonograph at least until the service was over.

Secular said he "couldn't understand this lack of appreciation for music."
