Lookout Mountains, famous for the "battle above the clouds." The panorama from the crest of Old Lookout is said to be unexcelled in all America. On a clear day one can see across into seven States. The view from the top of Missionary Ridge, another of the Civil War's greatest battles—is one that will linger long in the memory. Signal Mountain is just a few miles north of Chattanooga and can be reached in 40 minutes by electric car.

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Goldsboro last week held an informal luncheon at the Kennon hotel. This is the beginning of what it is hoped will become regular weekly or fortnightly luncheons, much on the order of the business man's club luncheons. Sixty husiness women attended the luncheon, a feature of which was an address by Mrs. Aiken Smith, superintendent of the local chautauqua. Mrs. Aiken Smith made an inspiring talk on the subject of "Confidence in One's Self". Confidence and perserverance overcome call obstacles.

"Confidence in One's Self". Confidence and perserverance overcome all obstacles—poverty, ill health and repeated failures. Mrs. Aiken Smith cited the life of Alice Freeman Palmer as an instance where confidence in herself enabled her to surmount all obstacles. The Raleigh Business Women's Clubhad a luncheon meeting last week, at which the retiring president, Miss Elsie Riddick was presented a lovely silver plecher as a token of the clubs appreciation of her untiring and unselfish work. Miss Riddick was given quite an ovation, the seventy five members ovation, the seventy five members each loining in recognition of the lendid work of Miss Riddick. Miss ttie Lewis, candidate for treasurer Wake county made a brief talk durthe meeting.

KINSTON, May 31.—The possibilities of the livestock industry in Eastern Carolina have been amply demonstrated on the Daniel Patrick plantation in Green county, it was stated today by Dr. Joseph Sallade, federal district very erinsrian, after a visit to the Patrick farm. Planter Patrick, prominent agri-culturist and politician, died recently. Dr. Sallade found 135 beeves on the Patrick place, an unusually large num-ber for an Eastern Carolina range. "Many of the animals," he stated, ed pastures and other natural protecir or more. Greene county has taken the lead in pork-raising in this

IN THE PRIMARY JUNE 3D

Manual Post 311

She is better qualified in every way to hold the office than any candidate asking your support. Ask any one who knows her and find out for yourself.

Women do the work in the office, and I believe they should receive the pay. She is the only woman asking for your vote in the Democratic Primary. Surely the party should grant the women at least one place on the ticket.

Vote for her. See that your neighbor does also. You will strengthen the ticket and elect an efficient Register of Deeds.

Captain Nathan O'Berry, one of the State's foremost citizens, who has been repeatedly urged by party leaders to become a candidate for governor of North Carolina, has the following to say about the candidacy of Major Matt H. Allen for congress:

> "Some sage has said that every man should be close to his preacher, to his doctor and to his lawyer.

> "For more than ten years Major Matt H. Allen has been one of the attorneys that represent the corporations in which I am interested. During all these years I have watched him closely and believe him to be a man who is entitled to the confidence of everyone.

> "His character is as good as any man's. As a lawyer his ability is unquestioned and his fitness to occupy the position made vacant by the dealth of our lamented friend, Hon. S. M. Brinson, goes without say-

> "I am supporting Major Allen in his race for congress and doing so solely for the reason that after all these years of association with him, I think him eminently qualified to represent the district in congress."
