

Business Men Of LaGrange, N. C.

Endorse Co-Operative Marketing

A committee of thirty farmers of Lenoir county representing the Co-Operative Marketing Association for cotton and tobacco from every township in the county, made a canvass of the business interests of LaGrange Friday, May 26th, for the purpose of giving them a chance to endorse or to disapprove of the co-operative plan for marketing of cotton and tobacco. The business interests of LaGrange unanimously endorsed the movement with the exception of one merchant, E. S. Mewborne.

The following is a copy of the petition, and the names of the men who signed:

Whereas, certain Co-operative Marketing Associations have encountered such opposition from many whose interests are not served by the co-operative plan of marketing the particular crops affected by said associations, the question naturally arises as to whether or not this opposition extends to the principles and purposes of co-operative marketing as they apply to all associations of this kind, and especially as they relate to the North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association;

And whereas, the interests of the tobacco and cotton farmers in the country and the business men in the city are so closely related that both need the co-operation of the other, and the agitation of the question of co-operative marketing has reached that point that neutrality upon the question is impossible, and the farmers are wholly within their rights and privileges in organizing the Tobacco and Cotton Associations, and only following in the steps of business men in all lines of business in so doing; we, the undersigned business men of the city of LaGrange, N. C., do hereby give our unqualified endorsement to the principles and purposes of the North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia Cotton and Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, and extend our best wishes for the full success so richly deserved by the Association itself, and each individual member composing the same.

COTTON MARKET LOSES ON REPORT

First Bale of Texas Cotton is Reported On the Market

NEW YORK, June 2.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 4 points, most of the more active positions being a shade higher in response to the steady showing of Liverpool and reports of further rains in the South. There was a renewal of pre-bureau liquidation, however, also some scattered southwestern selling supposedly reflecting an improvement in crop prospects and the market eased off shortly after the call in consequence. July sold off from 20.40 to 20.40, and December from 20.00 to 19.99 with the general list working some 5 to 9 points below yesterday's closing. According to advices received here, the first bale of the new Texas crop was received at Houston today. Last year the first bale reached Houston on May 26 and two years ago on June 26.

The bulge, which immediately followed the government report, carried October up to 20.25 and December to 20.25 or 29 to 26 points net higher. This net scattered southern selling, the market eased off again during the middle of the afternoon under renewed liquidation.

The government report making the condition 69.6 was just about in line with expectations based on recent private reports or a shade higher, if anything, and prices quickly eased off to 20.11 for July, 19.93 for October and 19.73 for December right after its publication, or 20 to 22 points net lower. This break brought in considerable buying however, and the market quickly rallied, with July selling up to 20.65, October to 20.33 and December 20.27 or 19 to 28 points net higher within the first 15 or 20 minutes after the figures were issued. Both trade interests and recent sellers were buyers on the advance, which was encouraged by reports of rains in the eastern belt and firmness in the stock market. In the late trading there were small recessions under realizing by longs over the week end, tomorrow being a holiday in this market on account of Confederate Memorial day, but the tone was held steady by the large mill taking for the week, 245,000 bales against 157,000 this week last year. At 12:30 stack prices were at net advances of 14 to 17 points, with July at 20.20.

Cotton closed strong:

High	Low	Close
July	20.85	20.15
October	20.60	19.95
December	20.40	19.80
January	20.15	19.65
March	20.00	19.50

feet yesterday's advance on this side of the Atlantic. The opening varied from unchanged figures to 1-4 cent lower. Corn and oats were easier with wheat. Corn opened unchanged to 1-4 to 3-8 cent higher. Oats started unchanged to 1-8 cent lower. Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provisions market.

Wheat closed steady, but 1-8 to 1 1-2 net lower.
