Evangelist Shows That There Is No Reason in the World for TI Anyone To Go To Hell Unless He Choses To Go, and Recites Many Instances Where He Was Instrumental in Turning Wicked Men From the Error of Their Ways and Starting Life Anew — Jerre McCauley Found That God Had Given Him a New Stomach as Well as a New Heart

If men go to hell it's their own fault, So said Mr. Ham last night in a sermon on "Why Men Go To Hell." That included women also. There will be about as many women longing for water as men no doubt. But that doesn't matter, God made hell for Satan and his angels, and if men insist on going there when they have invitations to heaven, then its no fault of God: It's no fault of Mr. Ham either, nor of Mr. Ramsay's or anybody else connected wholesale are sent out from the tent every night, and they all bear "K. Rodeheaver would then catch up his trombone and get the attention of the crowd back again, for Rodeheaver was a better trombone player than he was choir leader. MOUNT OLIVE, July 12.—The Go'dsporo News writes readably about cats, big cats, little cats well fed cats, homeless cats, cats that have taken lessons in voice and those who have not. The talent that describes the midnight wails of souless choristers has a real treat for its pen awaiting in Mount Olive. This time however the wail is not feline. It is canine instead, and louder than any back fence chorus ever dared to be.

It begins somewhere about two in the early morning and continues without ceasing until Aurora takes out her flash-light and goes out to hitch her horses to the aurora takes on the flash-light and goes out to hitch her horses to the sunny chariot. Darkness seems to have a soothing effect these beasts. The wait of a cat is more noticeable on a moonlight night, but a dog, especially the hound, needs no moon for his tenor. Cats do have a certain harmony, but the dog has not reached that stage in evolution when he can distinguish between the base and high soprano. He strikes one nete and keeps on striking it until se one pops off a shot gun near his head or some one comes with his breakfast.
