

THEY'RE THEIR OWN BOSSES

TWO MILL OWNERS AND THEIR PLANT

Ben Bishop (shown in the foreground) and George Fountain, shown in the background, are hands in the shoe mill in the background. It's their mill, partly, at least. The mill's at Blaine, Washington.

Seven years ago it was idle, due to a strike and other troubles. The workers were idle, as well. Getting together, they took over the mill. They owned it, and worked in it, likewise. Run co-operatively, the business had its ups and downs. The down came first. It was a hard struggle. Some of the men banded together as the Blaine Manufacturing Company dropped out, discouraged. But others stuck. During the war and for a time after it, the enterprise had its ups. The shareholders made so much money that they were sorely tempted to splurge. They kept their heads, however, and the result was, when times grew hard again, that the company was able to weather them easily. Now they are picking up once more.

Everybody works. George Johnson, the president, is manager. The vice president files saws. The drag saw's operated by the secretary-treasurer, Bishop and Fountain, prominent stockholders, pack shingles. Nobody can afford to loaf. It would come out of their own pockets if they did.

Invitation To Return 'Home' Elates Negroes Of New York

King of Abyssinia Sends Greetings to Negro Improvement Association

CONVENTION SENDS ITS CONGRATULATIONS

New York, Aug. 31.—Liberty Hall was the scene of a wild demonstration lasting ten minutes yesterday, when a message from the King and Queen of Abyssinia was read to the convention of the Universal Negro Improvement Association. Men threw up their hats and women their handkerchiefs. Marcus Garvey, usually the personification of dignity, led in the cheering.

The message was delivered to the convention by H. R. Tapakyn, Persian Consul General, who represents Abyssinia in this country.

When the part of the message was reached in which the King and Queen invited members of the association to come "back to home land," the delegates yelled themselves hoarse.

Consul General Quotes King. Parts of the message delivered by the Persian Consul General, particularly pleasing to the delegates were:

"During a recent audience with these venerable and distinguished rulers of a great historic land, I spoke of this approaching convention. The exalted ruler quickly caught, as we do the significance of this gathering, and with visible emotion he said:

"Kindly convey our greetings, congratulations and best wishes to the assembly. Here their race originated and here it can be lifted to its highest plane of usefulness and honor. Assure them of the cordiality with which I invite them back to the home land, particularly those qualified to help solve our big problems and to develop our vast resources. Teachers, artisans, mechanics, writers, manufacturers, professional men and women—all who are able to lend a hand in the constructive work which our country so deeply feels and greatly needs.

"Here we have abundant room and great opportunities and here destiny is working to elevate and enthroned a race which has suffered slavery and poverty and persecution and martyrdom, but whose expanding soul and growing genius is now the hope of many millions of mankind."

"Black Man Showers His Grit. Thus the King of Abyssinia speaks and thus the thoughtful all around the world speak, for the black man is showing his grit and conquering genius today as never before. In his history, and future, he will witness his higher ascent in the realm of science, law, literature, religion, industry and economics, and his growing contributions to the world-wide structure of liberty and civilization."

The convention unanimously voted thanks and cordial congratulations to the King and Queen of Abyssinia.

Marcus Garvey was re-elected Provisional President of Africa. In his speech of acceptance he said: "This is the most troublesome office in the world, declaring for freedom of Africa, when at this time it is coveted for its gold and other mineral wealth. It is being elected to a powerful honor. Before many years roll by I hope we will have a real and able, President of the Republic of Africa whose affairs will be administered from New York, the United States of Africa, instead of New York, the United States of America."

TWO ARREST IN KILLING GUARDS

August 31.—Aug. 31.—Two white men were arrested in the city of Augusta, Ga. today in connection with the killing of E. M. Foster and Neely South, Southern railway guards, who were shot from ambush near the Danbury shop early yesterday.

United States Commissioner Skinner said the men were only being held for identification, and declined to make their names. The U. S. marshal at Augusta, S. C. is en route here to take charge of the case, the commissioner

Prohibition Commissioner Claims to Have Smashed Big Liquor Ring

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press).—One of the biggest bootlegging rings in the country was smashed today Prohibition Commissioner Appleby declared, with the arrest of Nona Kessler and Morris Sweetwood in connection with the illegal withdrawal of a half million dollars worth of liquor. The arrest came hard on the heels of the capture by the Aquatic prohibition enforcement agent of a large quantity of rum on board an excursion steamer, with a floating vim laden schooner and a rum running launch.

Mr. Appleby said there was a third man involved in the raid and he expected him to surrender tomorrow. The two men arrested did business ostensibly as real estate brokers.

WOMAN WHO CLAIMS TEXAS WOULD CEDE IT TO U. S.

Alleged Owner of Much of Far South-west Offers to Donate Surrender of Rights

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—An offer to transfer to the United States Government all her alleged rights to property which were declared to embrace "practically the whole of Texas," as well as extensive tracts in Mexico, Lower California, and along the Pacific Coast from California to Oregon, was made today by Mary L. Webb, of this city, in a memorial sent to Vice-President Coolidge for submission to the Senate.

The memorial set forth in detail the basis for Mrs. Webb's claim to the property, much of which was said to be embraced in the present and former holdings of the Colorado and Red River Land Company. No estimate was made of the total value beyond the statement that two minor tracts had been sold for $25,000,000.

According to Mrs. Webb, T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, is the present holder of the Colorado and Red River Land Company, in controversy to her rights, which she asserted were upheld in a recent decision of the United States Supreme court.

B. & O. TO BUILD BARRACKS TO HOUSE STRIKEBREAKERS

Authorization for Building Lodgings and Hotel at Brunswick Given By Willard

FREDERICK, Aug. 31.—The erection of a hotel and barracks at Brunswick for strikebreakers during the winter months was authorized yesterday by President Daniel E. Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, who visited that place in company with Vice-President Charles W. Galloway. The buildings will be erected on the company's property facing Third street, and excavation has already been started.

Soon after arriving at Brunswick Mr. Willard and Mr. Galloway conferred with business men of the town relative to the strike situation. It is understood that Mr. Willard told the strike leaders that if they returned to work within 48 hours he would discontinue his plans for the buildings. It is not known what effect his ultimatum will have on the strikers. Up until a late hour last night the strike leaders showed no signs of yielding.

The new buildings, when completed, will occupy a space of 200 by 500 feet. It is understood that other buildings will also be erected if this is deemed necessary. The strikebreakers have been living in tents on the property of the company and very few have ventured to leave their quarters and go into the town. They are called "scabs" by the strikers and townspeople, who have shown some animosity toward them.

Sylvia, the colored laundress, was very fond of Boston brown bread, and frequently told her mistress so, always adding that with a bottle of milk and the brown bread she could "just make a meal."

One day as she was leaving her mistress gave her a small loaf of brown bread and some leftovers, remarking as she did so: "Sylvia, you won't have to do much for your supper when you get home, as these little things will probably be enough for you."

"Law, yes, missy," responded Sylvia, "and thank you, ma'am. I'll stop at the grocery and get a bottle of milk, and when I get home I'll build a little fire to sit by, and with these dainty little bits and that brown bread and milk—my, how I will suffer!"

Island Was Afloat.

The Mississippi had just reached flood stage and I was just above Vicksburg, Miss., paddling along at a good rate of speed on a canoe trip to the gulf, when I noticed ahead, about half a mile distant, a small island. I set it as my objective, figuring it a dandy spot to disembark to prepare my noon lunch. Paddling more quickly, I was surprised that it required almost an hour to reach it. When I did, I found it to be a floating island, detached in some manner from the mainland. It was about 250 square feet in area, and upon it were three trees of good stature. I rowed along with it (at a safe distance), and when I made camp, six hours later, it was still on its way to the gulf.—Chicago Journal.

Census of Pigs.

A special census of the pigs of the country is about to be made through the aid of the 24,000 rural mail carriers connected with 9,500 post offices of the country. This will cover the 14 states of the country which are most concerned. The pig population of the remainder counts for little. The information will be of great value to the growers and the meat handlers and will show the extent of the consumption of this kind of meat. A very simple and easily filled questionnaire will be circulated by the carriers to be filled out by breeders and the information asked for will be regarded as confidential.

Psychological Benefit.

"You are strong for civil service regulations."

"I am," replied Senator Sorghum. "Even if they do not succeed in holding a man in his position they have a hopeful and comforting influence."
