PIANS THAT ST. JOHN MAY GET A BETTER PREACHER

Rev. J. W. Potter Says He Doesn't Hope For Better Change

Rev. J. W. Potter, the pulping pastor of St. John M. E. church, writing in the...

"As we approach the close of four years of blessed fellowship with the good people of St. John, Goldsboro, I am constrained by grateful appreciation of their constant kindness to us to say through the Advocate that when appointed to another charge, we still leave them with sincere regret and with hearts full of love and with an indebtedness for their love and helpfulness that we shall never be able to settle. St. John is a plucky little bunch. Thoroughly organized and active and efficient in every department. A fine official board they determined at the beginning of this year to quit the old habit of logging around with the finances until the last of the year, and to run on a cash basis. Every man was on his job, and four weeks before conference the budget was paid in full. We found 324 members here when we began; 285 have been added.

"During the past summer the stewards catered the couple at the passenger-auction of cow-works in the mountains of Western North Carolina, with a parcel of one hundred dollars to defray expenses. Upon our return we were greeted at the passenger by a host of good people with a generous ponding. We feel our poverty of speech in the midst of the tokens of their love that have so greatly added to our comfort and happiness.

"With the generous money from this church, we are supporting Miss Dorothy Matthews, a concentered and well-trained nurse in Changchow, General Hospital, China, while the Sunday school is taking care of a medical student in Korea.

"We are proud to have from this church a fine young man, Cary Maxwell, at Trinity College preparing for the ministry, and a splendid young woman, Mrs. Maude Hunter, heading for the Highlands.

"Our success may count himself fortunate to be associated with the love and loyal people of St. John. God bless them every one and send them a better preacher. I don't hope to go to a better charge."

SEAGULLS HAVE WING SPREAD OF SEVEN FEET

BIRDING AT LAKE CHARLENE. The herring gulls of Lake Charlene left for the North earlier than usual this fall, and observers are wondering whether this means a long winter.

The gulls are given protection on the Four Brothers Island, where they raise their young, and they are highly valued by the municipality of Burlington because of their usefulness as scavengers at the outlet of the city sewer in the lake.

The special of calls were here it said need to have been found farther south than Albany, N. Y. The islands were purchased by Edward Hatch of New York, a 1870s, and are for the purpose of protecting the birds, and the High Commission for some time has been engaged in trying to obtain the islands from the Hatch family. The area is 100 acres and has some 1000 birds.

LOSE 36 PC. OF CORN

Only 64 Bushels of Every 100 Possible Are Realized.

One Out of Every Three Acres Planted Does Not Produce Grain, Agricultural Experts Say—Various Causes Given.

Washington.—Of every 100 bushels of corn that farmers set out to grow, only 64 bushels are realized, according to figures compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture over a period of 13 years. The difference between the potential crop and the quantity harvested is due to weather conditions, defective seed, plant diseases and insect and animal pests. For every bushel of corn harvested, some what only one-half bushel fails to reach harvest.

Were it not for the elements that tend to reduce the size of the crop, the average crop for the 13-year period would have been about 4,374,000,000 bushels, instead of the 2,805,000,000 bushels actually harvested, provided the same acreage had been planted.

The department points out, however, that if these elements did not exist and corn growers were certain of 100 per cent results, the corn acreage probably would have been greatly reduced, so that the final output did not have been a larger crop than that actually harvested. It would mean simply that the farmer could get from two acres the crop he now harvests from three.

The largest potential corn crop was one of about 5,000,000,000 bushels in 1917, although the actual harvest of 3,065,000,000 bushels in that year was exceeded in the three years 1912, 1920 and 1921, the largest harvested crop being 3,200,000,000 bushels in 1920.

A large crop of corn is due to a relatively low prevention of production by the many causes by which it is limited, but of course production is also related to acreage, the department records show.

During the 13 years the lowest degree of prevention was 22.5 per cent of a potential crop in 1920, and the highest was 44.5 per cent in 1913. Within the period covered, from about one-fourth to nearly one-half of a potential production has failed to be realized. The average is a little more than one-third.

GETS $20,000 FOR SAVING LIFE

Sea Captain Rewarded for Heroic Deed Performed Thirteen Years Ago.

New Brunswick, N. J.—Capt. John W. Vandervoer has just learned that to him has been left the $20,000 estate of Patrick Lang of Atlantic Highlands as a reward for saving Lang's life 13 years ago. The estate was willed originally to Mrs. Lang, with the proviso that at her death it should go to Vandervoer. Mrs. Lang died only a short time ago.

Lang was rescued by Vandervoer in September, 1909, off the rocks at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Lang was one of five passengers in a motorboat returning from a fishing trip off the Highlands. Captain Vandervoer, standing nearby in his motorboat, saw the peril. Two of the men were saved by other fishermen, and Captain Vandervoer plucked into the sea and got Lang safely to his boat. The others were drowned.

CENTURY AND QUARTER OLD

A century and a quarter old lock, hand made and bearing the inscription "General Post Office U. S. America 1798," recently came into the possession of the Post Office department and will be placed with other relics of the department in the Smithsonian Institution. It was sent by the postmaster of Birmingham, Ala., who acquired it from an old darky who said his master had given it to him before the Civil war.

YESTERDAY'S MARKETS

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Yesterday's big break was followed by nervous and irregular fluctuations in the cotton market here at the opening today. Liquidation was about as usual, but the local market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 20 points on covering and trade buying. January quickly sold off from 25.27 to 25.27 within two points of yesterday's closing, but there appeared to be a good deal of rebuying and a little more demand at this decline, and the market steadied up some 8 or 9 points during the early trading.

After selling off to 25.14 for January the market rallied to 25.40 for that position on covering and rebuying promoted by reports of big exports for the day, and the smaller volume of liquidation. The advance, however, brought in a renewal of commission house selling and local pressure promoted by reports of a slack spot demand in the South and January sold off to 25.23 early in the noon hour. Private cables reporting that British spinners were considering a proposal to work only three days a week, probably helped to unsettle the forenoon market.

The market became very weak and unsettled early in the afternoon under a renewal of heavy liquidation, and stop orders were uncovered on the break below 25 cents for January. At 24.95 for that position, or about 60 points net lower, the decline was checked by trade buying and the market rallied as rapidly as it had declined with January selling at 25.57 around 2 o'clock, or 22 points net higher.

Cotton futures closed firm. High Low Close. December 25.70 25.08 25.68. January 25.70 24.90 25.67. March 25.64 24.90 25.60. May 25.48 24.80 25.44. July 25.16 24.50 25.13.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 17.—Wheat developed an upward tendency today by its early dealings; commission house saying of all grain being the chief factor. Basis for this buying was found largely in reports of high prices at Ypsala. An advance in Liverpool counted also as a bullish influence. The opening, which ranged from 1-4 cent decline to 1-8 cent advance, was followed by moderate gains all around.

Profit-taking sales in the corn market were readily absorbed. After opening unchanged to 3-8 cent off corn scored a general advance.

Oats started a slide lower to 1-4 cent higher, and then climbed with corn. Provisions were inclined to sag in the absence of any special demand.

Wheat, closed firm, 5-8 to 1-1/4 cent net higher.

Corn closed nervous at the same as yesterday's final figures, to 1-3 cent advance.

VARIABLE ROUTE TICKETS WILL ADVERTISE SOUTH

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., November 15.—The Southern Railway System has announced that this season will offer to tourists coming from the North and West to Florida resort points, a great variety of optional routes with stop-over privileges at all intermediate points in both directions.

This will enable tourists to use different routes on their going and returning journeys and in this way to become acquainted with the attractions and advantages of different sections of the South.

A handsome booklet with maps and detailed descriptions of 118 different routes which are open to travelers using the Southern from Washington, Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis or Memphis to winter resorts in Florida and other southern states, has just been issued by the Southern and will be given a wide distribution through out the North and West.

As the variable routes privilege is very popular with tourists, it is thought that this booklet will prove a valuable advertisement for Florida and the intermediate states traverse by the lines of the Southern.

BOY WEDS SISTER SEPARATED FROM HIM WHEN A CHILD

Youngsters, He 17, She 19, Elope and Live Together Until "Ann" Ends Honeymoon.

BRONX GIRL PRINCIPAL IN STRANGE ROMANCE

A modern love drama paralleled only in literature was revealed yesterday by the confession of John H. Creiger, seventeen, of Binghamton, N. Y., that a week ago he married his sister, Elizabeth H. Hafner, adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam J. Hafner, No. 914 Sulham avenue, Bronx, and lived with her three days, reports the New York World. The boy admitted each knew their relationship and could say only that they were infatuated with each other.

Creiger told his story at No. 1 Lawton avenue, Binghamton, where he has lived since he was a little boy with Mrs. Margaret Peep, whom he calls aunt, but who never legally adopted him and who is not related to him. She was present when a correspondent of the World confronted the boy with proof of his marriage. Humane Officer Samuel J. Koebel of Binghamton, before whom the ill will be brought, today also heard his confession.

The bridegroom, a bright handsome lad, and his sister are the children of Edward B. Creiger, sixty-two, a farmer of North White Lake, Bethel, N. Y., where they were born. Their mother died when Elizabeth was six and John four. Elizabeth was adopted on April 16, 1909, by Mr. and Mrs. Hafner, no quite a year after her mother's death. Margaret Peep, mother of Mrs. Margaret Peep, lived North White Lake and fancying the little boy, John Creiger, obtained the consent of his father to take him as his son.

John only saw Elizabeth three times between her adoption and their elopement, and does not remember her as a little girl. Their first meeting he recalls was when he was twelve years old and he says that at the time he told they were brother and sister. He said he could not remember feeling any particular affection for her at the time.

Elopement Planned. Last summer, however, he saw her again and the mutual infatuation commenced. Late in October with the excuse of a visit to a half-sister living in New Jersey, he came to New York and met Elizabeth again. The beautiful girl almost twenty, appealed to him more strongly than ever and her response seems to have been the same. An elopement was carefully planned and on November 4, they went to Binghamton, where John knew he would find his home vacant, as Mrs. Peep was away on a visit to relatives. A week ago yesterday they went to Binghamton marriage license bureau to obtain a marriage license.

Here Elizabeth Hafner seems to have faintly realized for the first time what she was doing, for her application contains several false statements. First of all she took care to spell her name Hafner. She said she was born in this city and gave the names of her parents as Joseph and Cora (Cook) Hafner. Her foster father's middle name by which he is generally known, is Joseph. Mrs. Hafner's name is Cora P. Hafner. The girl said she lived at No. 1 Lawton avenue, Binghamton.

John misstated only his age, which he gave as twenty-two. He is a shipping clerk.

They obtained the license and on the following day, a week ago today, went to Conklin, a suburb of Binghamton, and were married by Justice of the Peace H. H. Evans. After they returned to No. 1 Lawton avenue, and remained there until Friday.

They it was that Mrs. Peep returned home with a letter from John's and Elizabeth's, and found the pair. Elizabeth returned hurriedly to this city. The other officials tried to try to keep the event in secrecy, and according to Mrs. Peep she planned to have the marriage quietly annulled.

Whether the Binghamton authorities will prosecute the young bride-groom is undetermined. Humane Officer Koebel said last night he did not desire to punish the youth.

Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Hafner were overwhelmed by the return of Elizabeth and her explanation of her absence. Mr. Hafner is a wealthy realty operator and the couple, childless when they adopted the girl, had lavished the love of parents upon her.

When seen by a reporter for The World last night, Mr. Hafner was almost too overcome to speak coherently. Mrs. Hafner, he said, had been made ill by the occurrence and was confined to bed. He could not give any reason for Elizabeth's action and only repeated again and again that she had had the best care.

Edward B. Creiger, father of the elopers, was informed by The World last night by telephone of what had taken place. He said he had written Elizabeth a letter and had advised her to see John for a year. According to the boy, however, it is three or four years since he saw his father, who from the Mr. Creiger had nothing to say.

David Skade, the California waiter, who is looking at a fact clip just now, says he is a worthy opponent for Champion Mickey Walker.

New York gossip has it that wedding bells soon will be rung for both Frank Frisch and Pitcher Lynn of the world's Champion Giants.
