

ENGLAND AND FRANCE DUCK PASSING ABOUT SELLING TURKS ARMS

Ismet Pasha Says Got Part in America and Played No Favorites

BIG UNDERGROUND BUSINESS IN ARMS

PARIS, Dec. 23.—The fact that there is still a large underground trade in munitions of war throughout Europe has been disclosed through the recent charges of British newspapers that the French government had supplied the Turkish Nationalist army with the weapons with which to defeat the Greeks, and possibly to defeat the British in the vicinity of Constantinople.

Information regarding Paris is believed to disprove this broadcast statement against the French. On the contrary, it is affirmed that no small part of the Turkish military supplies was obtained in London, through a firm partly British, and certainly with no Turk sympathies.

Even Bought From Greeks. When Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish peace delegation at Lausanne and organizer of the main Turkish army, was in Paris lately he said: "My war materials were obtained from American, British, Italian, French Greek and Russian sources; I played no favorites."

"Much of it came from the Greeks themselves," Ismet Pasha continued. "I waited until I had a good supply on hand, collected by agents operating in Europe. I did not waste any of my supplies until I was ready for a general drive against the Greeks in August. Hill, I instructed my artillery and infantry officers to wait until they saw like the American officers at Bunker the whites of the eyes of the enemy, and then to shoot. When the Greeks began to retreat, we got the very large stores they had collected. We are very grateful to them for some very fine field guns, made in England.

No Sentiment a Munitions Business

"There does not seem to be much sentiment in this business of furnishing to countries anxious to fight each other. The dealers will sell to all comers so long as cash is paid on delivery. There is a firm operating in Holland that will sell any kind of gun in any quantity, and deliver it on the high seas if ports are lacking. Firms in London will do the same. Trieste, at the head of the Adriatic, has become notorious as a place to buy war munitions. There are other agents for war goods located in Alexandria, in Constantinople, in various places in the Balkans, and in Paris.

"One of the most successful sellers of war goods is a German firm, the members of which were once connected with Krupp. They will supply anything asked for, including French munitions. Much of the material being sold is new. Twenty-six factories are said to be working in Russia, and war material may soon become Russia's chief export.

Buy Munitions For Song

The engineer war left, not only the United States, but each of the nations of Europe with large supplies on hand, which were sold for a song. These supplies slowly have been changing hands. Italians distributed to all comers large numbers of guns and cannon captured from the Austrians, the total value of which in 1918 reached possibly a billion dollars, and the post war value of which was possibly a million or so.

American travellers in Yugoslavia have been mystified at seeing what appeared to be American soldiers lounging about the railway stations. They were Serbs wearing joblot American uniforms, sold cheaply by the United States and resold to the Yugoslav government.

One of the standard propaganda charges made by the Greeks against the Turks, and conversely by the Turks against the Greeks, was that the enemy was wearing American uniforms as ruse to penetrate lines without being fired on. The evident answer was joblot American uniforms.

The governments of Europe seem to have taken little notice of this contraband. During the various periods of the British occupation of Constantinople, British subjects are said to have sold to the Turkish Nationalists either discarded British war material, or else Turkish war material that had been captured by the British.

At one time there was a large quantity of war material at Adrianople, with the keys of the storehouses in the hands of an Allied commission which had orders to destroy it. This commission apparently failed to do, and somehow the storehouses were gradually emptied.

Notice Wars No Longer. Small wars and revolutions have been so frequent in Europe, since the close of the great war, that the average citizen no longer attempts even to remember them. A war went on in Galicia for two years, almost unnoticed. Poles were opposed to Ukrainians, and 100,000 men were engaged. Each side bought supplies wherever they were for sale, notably in this case in Vienna and Budapest. Then there were new armies to equip, as in Yugoslavia, (Continued on page Eight)

OFFICER LANCASTER CUT BY FIERCE NEGRO

Cuts Policeman Severely In Hand After Being Shot—Bass In Time

Fred Booth, alias Fred Batcher, severely stricken Officer G. C. Lancaster in the hand in the early hours of yesterday morning when he attempted to arrest him in Little Washington. Officer Noah Bass arrived just in the nick of time and tapped the husky darky with his blackjack before he could get another cut in the darkness at Mr. Lancaster.

The latter had chased the darky several hundred yards, shooting at him several times. He finally caught the negro by a foot, just as he was getting over a fence, and the negro attempted to cut himself loose from the officer. It developed later that the negro had been shot through the leg. He is now in jail charged with assaulting an officer with a deadly weapon as well as larceny of a piece of meat from the store of John Pate.

The affair occurred when Officer Noah Bass and Lancaster went to Little Washington to arrest Fred Booth on the charge of larceny and found him there with his wife. While the officers were permitting him to get his cap, the woman opened the door and bolted with Fred Booth just behind her. One went one way and the other the other. Bass in front of the house couldn't see what had happened. He could hear the scuffle and took after the first dark object he saw, which happened to be the woman. Lancaster saw Booth and seized on to his clothing as he passed, but the negro broke loose, and the shooting and cutting followed.

PARLIAMENT DUMB TO WHAT KING SAID

George IV Wins Wager by Saying "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep," Unnoticed Premier Fooled

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The pomp and ceremony attending the opening of Parliament probably attracts more attention in the House of Lords than do the words of the King's speech, but the last address from George V, delivered a few days ago, contained no interpolation such as was once made in a speech from the throne by George IV.

It is asserted that when he was regent, George IV made a bet with Richard Sheridan, the dramatist, that so little attention would be paid to the reading of his speech that he could interpolate any nonsense he liked without anyone showing surprise.

The bet was accepted. The Regent, paused in the course of the address and said distinctly "Baa, baa, black sheep," and then went on. No one took notice of the strange words. Chagrined at the loss of his wager, Sheridan asked Geo. Canning, the Premier, if he had noticed anything strange.

"Oh, yes," said Canning, "I heard the Prince say 'baa, baa, black sheep' but as he was looking straight at you at the time, I took it for a personal allusion."

SOVIET RUSSIA GREAT EDUCATORS

MOSCOW, Dec. 23.—The number of public schools in Soviet Russia shows an increase under the Soviet regime as compared with pre-revolution times, according to recent announcement of A. Lunacharsky, commissioner for education.

During the first two years of the revolution, public education was given much attention by the Soviet government, and the number of public schools was brought up to 30,000 with a staff of 70,000 teachers and 2,250,000 pupils, as compared with 22,000 schools, 32,000 teachers and 1,200,000 pupils in 1911. But in 1921, with the change of economic policy and the abolition of the non-monetary system, came the first reduction of expenses in education and curtailment of public schools. In 1922 a further number of schools had to be closed, on account of budget difficulties, while many schools were deserted by parents.

KINSTON POST DON'T WANT ANYBODY TRYING TO PLAY PARSON

KINSTON, Dec. 23.—Now, the American Legion here ain't going to have no chaplain. Fine thing, and all that, but who wants to hear one of these "birds" playing parson? There hasn't been a chaplain in the local post since Jasper (Red) Allen, now post commander, will cast about and see if he can't find a minister who served in the war to become the post's chaplain.

There would have been a chaplain all right, but he eventually blocked the whole works himself. It was like this. The post elected the officers the other night. Mallard, pos twit and retiring commander, said there should be a chaplain by all means. He argued the merits of the offer. It was a fine thing, he said. There was no discussion. Everybody agreed with what he said. Then a sober-looking guy over in a corner slowly nominated Mallard. The matter was promptly pigeon holed. Mallard's authority had not yet expired.

SAY BOOTLEGGERS ARE TRADING UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Big Officials Believed To Be Buying Hooch And Orders Of Arrest Made

SMASHUPS CAUSE CHASING VENDERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Whispered charges that bootleggers ply their trade without restriction under the dome of the capitol of the United States and number among their customers some of the nation's foremost legislators were recognized today by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, chairman of the rules committee, who ordered the capitol police to arrest any bootlegger who ventured to trade in the capitol, irrespective of who interested for him.

President Harding had before him today a letter from representative Upshaw of Georgia, Democratic, urging him to issue a christmas proclamation calling on citizens and officials to respect the prohibition laws. Mr. Upshaw was in Georgia and the white house does not publish his letter which follows a sensational speech in the house in which Mr. Upshaw a "dry" called on the leaders in the national government to take a new oath of allegiance to the constitution.

The holiday bootlegging in Washington is beginning to feel the result of the concern recently expressed by the President and members of the cabinet at disregarded for the prohibition law. Chases of bootleggers through the streets of the capitol with resulting automobile smash ups and injuries to bystanders have become frequent. One of the latest raids was on a high priced apartment house in the exclusive Dupont circle neighborhood, where more than $6,000 worth of Christmas liquor was seized with a list of names of customers which the police said included leading citizens, lawyers and legislators.

GRANT $100,000 CHARTER TO EFIRD

RALEIGH, Dec. 22.—The secretary of state has granted the following charters and amendments to charters: Lambeth Furniture company, Thomasville, to increase its capital stock to $150,000.

The Phenix Mills company, Kings Mountain, to increase its capital stock to $200,000. E. A. Smith is named as the principal agent.

Efrid's Department Store, Goldsboro, to conduct a general department store; capital stock, $100,000; paid in, $300. J. B. Efrid, of Charlotte, E. L. Efrid, Weston-Salem, P. H. Efrid, Charlotte, incorporators.

GIRL SCOUTS WILL DISTRIBUTE CHICKENS

Will Tour City Tonight As Santa Claus—Community Program

Tonight, the Girl Scouts will stuff the stockings and play Santa Claus to the children in their families. They will start on their trips at 9 o'clock. They have made a collection chickens which they will distribute among colored families.

Tuesday night the girls of the Four Leaf Clover Class will give a Christmas party at the Community House at 8 o'clock. This is the first time that this place has been decorated for a Christmas occasion, and it is said that the decorations will be among the most cozy and beautiful of the season.

DELINQUENT DRIVE NETS $1,000,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A drive started against delinquent federal tax payers in the second New York district has resulted in the collection of $1,000,000, federal tax collector Bowers stated today. The collector has issued 80,000 warrants.

BROKEN RAIL WRECKS TRAIN

ROCKY MOUNT, Dec. 23.—Fifteen passengers were injured today when eight cars, including four sleepers and the engine of the Atlantic Coast Line number 82 in route from Jacksonville to New York, were derailed near Lucania.

Two of the injured were Mr. F. O. Bryant, F. Leary Glass of Laurel Mississippi, whose back was hurt and Mamie Riddle, negro of Rutherford, who suffered a nervous shock was brought to a hospital here. The others injured only slightly were given attention at Lucania. Officials said the theory was that the wreck was caused by a broken rail. The fact that out of 250 passengers none were injured seriously is considered miraculous.

NO PAPER TUESDAY

There will be no issue of the Goldsboro News Tuesday morning. The employees will take Monday for Christmas along with the other people of the city.

SURVIVOR OF GETTYSBURG MARRIES

WILMINGTON, Dec. 23.—Richard Reaves, 31, survivor of Gettysburg Shiloh and other battles of the war between the states, and now a pensioner of the city street department, was married here today to Mrs. Annie M. Barnes, 68. The ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace in the presence of newspaper men.

PRISON COMMITTEE WOULD ABOLISH ALL PRISON FLOGGING

Recommend Abolition Wards Criminal Insane—Want Compulsory Education

WANT FARM FOR COLONY OF WOMEN

PRISON COMMITTEE. RALEIGH, Dec. 23.—Recommendations for legislation to be introduced at the 1923 session of the North Carolina General assembly, increasing and establishing the reformatory system in the board of directors of the state prison, placing the state prison under support of government funds and returning proceeds from the institution to the state treasury, abolishing flogging and making other changes, have been decided upon by the committee on policy and program of the Citizens Committee of One Hundred on Prison Legislation.

Announcement of the program was made tonight by officials, following conference held here during the weeks Dr. J. F. Steiner, Chapel Hill; A. M. Seales, Greensboro; Dr. J. H. Pratt, Chapel Hill; Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, commissioner of public welfare; Mrs. T. W. Bickett, Raleigh; Royal Brown, Raleigh; and W. B. Sanders, Chapel Hill participating in the conference. An official summary of the program follows: "That at the session of the general assembly for 1923, the secretary of the state board of health and the state commissioner of public welfare be made ex-officio members of the board of directors of the state prison, thus increasing the membership of said board from five to seven, and that at the expiration of the term of the present board, there shall be elected by the general assembly, upon recommendation of the governor, five persons, who, with the two ex-officio members mentioned above, shall constitute the board of directors of the state prison.

"That the state prison be supported from state funds as other institutions are supported, and that the proceeds from the state prison and state prison farm, be turned back into the state treasury.

"The abolition of the state hospital for the dangerous insane now located in the state prison under the direction of the board of directors of the state prison, and the removal of all inmates now in said hospital to other state hospitals for the insane, or to the Caswell Training School, after careful examination of all inmates by a commission of mental experts.

"The establishment on the state prison farm of a colony for tubercular prisoners, sufficient to care for all tubercular prisoners, both state and county.

"The establishment in the state prison of an adequate system of prison industries, which would provide vocational training for such prisoners as are capable of receiving it, the products of such industries to be marketed at the discretion of the board of directors.

"The establishment on the state prison farm of a colony for women offenders, to which all women offenders under sentence shall be sent, except from such counties as have built homes for fallen women, in accordance with section 7344 of Consolidated Statutes; and except such as maybe admitted to Samaritan.

"That all prisoners sentenced for a longer term than 3 months by any court shall be sent to the state prison, the necessary expenses of such transfer to be paid from state funds.

"That section 7703 Consolidated Statutes, amended to read as follows: "Compulsory education for the prisoners in the state prison and the employment of teachers and instructors for same; said instruction to be during the regular work hours.

HYLAN CALLS KU KLUX "REPTILES SQUIRMING IN INVISIBLE EMPIRE"

Wires Congratulations To Parker On Effort To End "Infamous Outrages."

BELIEVE ALL OWE DEBT GRATITUDE

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Mayor Hylan, today wired Governor Parker, of Louisiana, his hearty congratulations on "your bold vigorous fight against the Ku Klux Klan," which he characterized as a "slim brood of venomous reptiles, squirming in an invisible empire."

"I believe," he said, "that every son and woman regardless of race, creed, or color, owes you an undying debt of gratitude for your heroic American fight to end the infamous outrages to which the members of the Ku Klux Klan will respond in their nefarious scheme to overcome the courts, seize the reins of government and trample upon the constitutional rights of the people."

Curran, Forestry Expert, Returns Experimenting On Two Hemispheres

RALEIGH, Dec. 22.—After experience in forestry service over most of the western hemisphere and the Philippines, H. M. Curran, "has wandered back home," where he "wanted to be all the time," to take up his duties as farm forestry specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service. Announcement of the appointment was made today. The new official, it was stated, will devote his time to the handling, improving and marketing of farm forestry products in the state. Mr. Curran graduated at the North Carolina State college in 1908, receiving the degree of bachelor of science. He then took special work at the New York College of Forestry and Cornell University.

MAN WHO ANNOYED MRS. VANDERBILT ESCAPES FROM THE HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Police today were directed to search for Sidney Collet, a war veteran who had escaped from Bellevue hospital, where he was under observation for having annoyed Mrs. Raymond Vanderbilt, formerly Mrs. Alfred O'Connell Baker, Collet was taken into custody last Tuesday by hotel detectives who said Mrs. Baker had complained that a man had annoyed her and had telephoned her at one o'clock in the morning. A court order issued yesterday noon before Collet's escape had decreed that he be returned to a government hospital for veterans. Collet is said to have escaped from government hospitals twice previous.

DAYLIGHT DIAMOND ROBBERY AMONG THE CROWDS OF BRADWAY

Thieves Park Car And Descend On Jewelry Store Like Two Millionaires

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Descending from their automobile in the midst of a throng of holiday shoppers on upper Broadway, three men smashed the windows of a jewelry store with a brick wrapped in a towel and escaped with 71 diamond rings valued at $10,000.

The robbery was carried on with the utmost daring. Parking their expensive car in the line of automobiles which stood at the curb, two of the bandits fashionably attired strolled nonchalantly toward the jewelry store's display window, leaving a third companion at the wheel. A dozen people were looking at the display window when one of them drew the brick and towel from under his coat and smashed the brick window. Gathering up the two trays containing the 71 diamonds the bandits quietly withdrew, climbed into their car, and disappeared into the streams of traffic before the police could be summoned.

NEW YORK BREAKS ALL RECORDS IN BUYING

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Holiday buying in New York has broken all records and $250,000,000 has been spent by shoppers here, it was estimated today in business quarters. This sum, represents an increase of from 15 to 20 per cent over that of last year.

Nearly every line of Christmas trade has reported an increase in sales and more persons than ever have been required to handle the business. In the 5,000 drygoods stores alone, nearly 200,000 people have been employed.

MARYLAND TO PLAY BOTH STATE AND "U" NEXT YEAR

COLLEGE PARK MD., Dec. 23.—The University of Maryland's 1923 football schedule as announced today included games with Pennsylvania, Yale, V. P. I. the University of North Carolina, and North Carolina State.

BOOTLEGGERS MAY LAND GOODS BY AIR

Blocked By Dry Officials Bootleggers Have Only One Chance Left

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Run running by airplanes is the next move anticipated from the few desperate sea bootleggers, who still are marooned off the coast with their Christmas cargoes, prohibition officials said today. The bootleggers, lulling off the three mile limit, are in a bad way, the dry navy officials declare. They cannot get small boats to run the blockade; their supplies are running dangerously low; and every night pirates are putting to sea and are making life for the bootlegger anything but a joy.

John D. Appleby, chief in charge of the dry navy for the prohibition agents, said today he had received information that 15 planes were being hurriedly prepared on the Long Island coast or along the Jersey marshes in the hope that they can beat the enforcement game.

CO-OP'S CHECKS REACH QUARTER OF MILLION

KINSTON, Dec. 23.—Payments of tobacco "coups," here have run into hundreds of thousands of dollars during the past two days. Association members said, the wholesale payment of second installments by the Raleigh headquarters was the "most encouraging thing yet" for the cause of cooperative marketing in the eastern bright leaf belt, where the greatest antagonism to "cooperation" has been met. Some estimates have placed the total of local checks at $250,000. In some instances payments have exceeded $1,000.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE PLENTY PRESENTS

Have Small Tree But Load it With Presents and Stack Them Around Base

The Baptist Young People's Union last night gave a Christmas tree to the children of Goldsboro, who do not attend any Sunday school. They just invited all the children who would come, and when they got there they gave them dolls, and doll chairs, for the girls, and automatic cap pistols for the boys. Every boy got a pistol. There were bags of fruit for all. The tree was of moderate size but it was loaded with presents and nicely decorated.

The evening was begun with a short prayer by Dr. Wall and by a speech by Little Miss Minette Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Bartlett. One other little girl, about three, picked out of the crowd, sang a solo about "Twinkle, twinkle, Little Star." Everybody bent forward eagerly and half smiling.

Arrangements for the tree were made by Miss Grace Warrick, and Laura Daugherty, and by Percy Jones. The latter brought all the Santa Claus to the church in his Ford in two huge boxes.

MR. ROSE GOT READY FOR CHRISTMAS BUT CHILDREN GOT TOO SICK TO ENJOY IT

C. L. Rose, of Fremont, who has children and grandchildren living in this city, made preparations to invite them all to a Christmas turkey dinner, paid $6 for a turkey and all that, to be notified the other day that all of the children were sick and that he couldn't have any Christmas dinner if they were the dependance to help him eat it. And all the little kiddies had long faces when they were told that they could not go to visit with them. Mr. Rose too, looked a little disappointed when he was chatting with his friend, John B. Hooks, clerk of courts.

CHRISTMAS TO BE SUIT AT WHITE HOUSE ACCOUNT MRS. HARDING'S ILLNESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Christmas at the White House will lack much of the usual spirit of times gone by because of Mrs. Harding's illness. There will be no house guests and no Christmas tree. Neither the President nor Mrs. Harding has made any holiday plans, she may come down stairs in her wheel chair and preside at the table for Christmas dinner, but otherwise the day will be like any other day since she was taken ill.

To add a little cheer, the white house has Yuletide wreaths in the windows, and there will be a profusion of flowers. As a Christmas present to the thousands of government employees, President Harding issued an executive order closing the government departments at noon today.

H. G. CONNOR THROWN THROUGH TRAIN WINDOW

WILSON, Dec. 23.—H. G. Connor, Jr., legislator, was thrown several feet through the window of a coach when eight cars of the northbound A. C. L. passenger train 82 was derailed near Lucania yesterday. He was brought to Wilson by automobile and his wounds dressed.

ALL ENGLAND WILL HAVE GREAT TIME THIS CHRISTMAS

Falls on Monday and Gives Three Successive Holidays—Have Boxing Day

BOTH UNEMPLOYED AND GAITY TO FEATURE

LONDON, Dec. 23.—England's Christmas will be ideal this year, for it falls on Monday, thus giving nearly every one three successive holidays.

The day after Christmas—boxing day—is observed as a holiday as strictly as Christmas itself. The day gets its name from the custom whereby landowners were expected to hand out boxes of Christmas gifts to their tenants, retainers and servants. Postmen and milkmen, as well as newspaper carriers, canvassed their routes religiously for annual tips, while even the patrolman on the beat seldom refuse a largesse. The postmen now have a union which this year opposes tips.

For many of the city workers in factories, shops and offices, there will really be four days of rest, because a large proportion of these establishments close before lunch today and will not reopen until Wednesday afternoon. No newspapers appear Monday and Tuesday. Tradesmen report that the Yuletide has been the most prosperous since long before the war. They give the timely rise in sterling and the general feeling that England is on the verge of better times, as the reasons for the large volume of trade.

Leave For Country

The Christmas spirit has also been reflected in the large number of Londoners who have left for the country and the continent, and the railway companies have carried more passengers than in several years. Almost as astonishing has been the influx of country folk who always take the Xmas season for seeing the sights of the city. These visitors dressed in their best, pay their respects to all the hotels, restaurants and theatres. The theatres are booked to capacity. Particularly popular are such perennials as "Peter Pan," "The Private Secretary," and "Charley's Aunt."

Contrasting with the holiday gaiety, is the great number of unemployed, the greatest, in fact, that the city has seen in many years. These unfortunate attempt to make a few pennies by singing and playing in the streets, while the curbs of the downtown shopping centers are almost lined with men—the majority of whom wear war medals—yearly holding out a handful of matches or shoe strings to the passer-by.

Give To American Museum

The expedition organized by two Englishmen, which will collect mammals, reptiles and birds in India as a gift to the American Museum of Natural History, in New York City in recognition of the hospitality shown by Americans to British officers during the war, is going into the Indian wilderness in January. The party is being organized by Colonel Fawthrop, British commissioner at Lucknow, who was in the United States on a British war mission, and Arthur S. Verney, an art connoisseur who lived in America for years. Mr. Verney sailed for India this week where he will be joined by Colonel Fawthrop, a cinematographer and a taxidermist.

The expedition will first go to Nepal to hunt a horned rhinoceros and a tiger; it will then travel to the United Provinces in search of swamp deer and later to Bhogal for black buck and to Mysore and Sambur for gaur. The specimens will be placed in Roosevelt Memorial Hall of the museum.

American Dinners a Problem

With Christmas at hand, Americans living abroad are faced with the annual problem of obtaining Christmas dinners, which, at least in gustatory comfort, will carry them back to the distant homeland. For one of the few issues upon which there is no international dispute is that the National dishes of one country rarely can be prepared satisfactorily by a foreigner.

It seems safe to say that few of the eager anticipations of the Yuletide feast, as it is prepared in any country, cross road town from New York to San Francisco will be realized by Americans whom Christmas finds abroad. They only are fortunate who have permanent homes in strange lands, where wives and mothers can prepare the traditional delicacies.

American residents in London have not forgotten that at the recent Thanksgiving dinner given here by the American Society, the pumpkin pie appeared as a tasteless and spineless concoction with a super imposed lattice work of pastry.

Miss Gladys Cooper, one of England's leading actresses and reputed to be the country's most beautiful woman, will sail for the United States on January 10 aboard the Olympic. Miss Cooper, upon the invitation of the King and Queen, recently visited Buckingham Palace where she received the royal congratulations for her performance in Pinocchio's "The Second Mistress" and "The Second Mrs. Tabor" which the royal family attended several times.
