Married Life Lasts 5 Minutes, He Says

Detroit, Sept. 15.—Five minutes after he had married Irene Sweeney she left him, and he has not seen her since. Adam Corbett, 28 years old, of 422 Macomb street, stated in a bill filed Wednesday asking that the marriage be annulled. Corbett also stated that although the girl is only 15 years of age she said she was 19 when they obtained the marriage license.

Corbett and Miss Sweeney were married by James M. Jeffries, justice of the peace, on August 22. As they left the court room Irene told him that she was going to the home of her aunt, at 795 Twentieth street, where she had been staying, to get clothes, Corbett says.

"I'll come right down to your home," she told Corbett.

The girl did not come back that day, Corbett says, and he has heard nothing more of her. After a few days he decided to investigate and went to the address on Twentieth street, where he met Mrs. Mary LaBelle, Irene's aunt. Mrs. LaBelle told him Irene had no right to marry as she was only 15 years old, he says. This was the first knowledge that he and Corbett says, that the girl was not of age.

Girl 20, Elopes With Her Stepfather, 42

Kansas City, Sept. 15.—Dear Mamma: Please forgive us. Don't look for us. We will be in Mexico soon. George and I love each other. We will be married as soon as he can divorce you. Be good and forget us.

With love, FREDDA. Mrs. Bertha Shireman brought the above letter to the police headquarters. It was from her daughter and bore an Oklahoma City postmark. Mrs. Shireman told the police that her husband, George P. Shireman, 42 years old, and her daughter, Freda, 20 years old, by a former marriage had eloped last Thursday.

Mrs. Shireman said she did not believe the couple had left the city, but had sent the letter as a ruse to throw her off the trail. The family came here recently from Oklahoma City. Shireman was a blacksmith. He was described as being 6 feet tall and weighing 190 pounds. The daughter had blue eyes and brown hair.

Mrs. Shireman said she would prosecute the pair if they were found. A general pickup order was issued by the police chief last night in addition to telegrams to Oklahoma City and Mexican border towns.

NAVY MAN WILL VISIT FARRAGUT'S HOME

Martin Luther's Castle Closed to Tourists by Difficulties

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Fort Mahon, the Balearic Islands, which is the birth place of Major George Farragut, father of the first admiral of the American Navy, will be visited this autumn by Rear Admiral Andrews, U. S. N., aboard the cruiser Pittsburgh, which has just completed a trip to the leading German and other Baltic ports. The Pittsburgh is now at Boulogne, but is going to Edinburgh for target practice previous to her Mediterranean cruise.

Admiral Farragut's father migrated to America from Port Mahon in 1776. After taking part in the American revolution he married a Scotch woman and settled near Knoxville, Tenn., where David Glasgow Farragut future hero of New Orleans and Mobile was born on July 5, 1801. The boy was named for Captain David Porter with whom he subsequently served.

10,000,000 Marks Won't Buy Lunch

Berlin, Sept. 15.—Prince Victor of Hohenzollern-Schillingfurst, the Duke of Ratibor, formerly owned large estates in Bohemia which were taken over by Czechoslovakia after the downfall of the House of Hapsburg. The Prince declined the payment which Czechoslovakia offered in the money of the new government, saying that he could not accept "revolutionary currency" and demanding ten million German marks. Czechoslovakia finally consented but there was much delay in effecting a final adjustment of the claim.

A few days ago the Prince handed his ten million marks but the sum was not enough to pay for a lunch in a second class Berlin restaurant. This was rather slight payment for the thousands of acres the Duke has lost, but he has many other estates in Silesia.

Battle Of Sexes Is Theme Of Picture

Dan'l Carson Goodman's "What's Wrong With the Women?" to Be Shown

The eternal battle of the sexes, raging from the very dawn of the human race, is the theme of Daniel Carson Goodman's powerfully dramatic and prophetic photoplay, "What's Wrong With the Women," which opens its engagement of two days at the Opera House tomorrow.

Woman, according to the view of Mr. Goodman, long noted as a writer and producer of plays for the stage and screen, has realized that if she is to hold her own in this, one of life's greatest battles—the battle of her own sex—she must borrow from the weapons of experience.

That is why, Mr. Goodman shows in bold and powerful strokes, she does not disdain the roughest pot, the powder puff, the pencil, the art of the makeup artist and the subtlety of the dress maker.

Mr. Goodman employs real characters of flesh and blood to tell his amazing story on the screen but he goes far beyond mere individuals. He treats the theme as a massy human canvas—as a world problem for the answer to which great men have been vainly groping for centuries.

"What's Wrong With the Women" is not unkind to womanhood. It is in no sense a sermon or propa-ga in behalf of mere man. But it reveals the modern woman in all her strength and weaknesses and shows by means of a tremendous dramatic human story how woman, in the present high-powered era of javes and bootleggers, can best serve society. In the cast are such noted players as Wilton Lackaye, Rod La Rocque, Barbara Castleon, Montagu Love, Huntley Gordon, Gila Swayze Gordon, Colman Bennett, Hedda Hopper and Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein. R. William Neil was the director and the picture was made for Equity.

"What's Wrong With The Women?" Big Photo Play

Ever since Mother Eve imbedded her pearly teeth in the fabled apple humanity has pondered from time to time the age-old problem: "What's Wrong With the Woman?"

Now comes a motion picture that sets for itself the same eternal question and comes pretty close to answering it—at least so far as the present high-powered, helter-skelter, flapper-persecuted generation of women is concerned.

It is called: "What's Wrong With the Woman?" was produced in powerfully dramatic sequence by Daniel Carson Goodman and thrill and entertained a big audience at the Opera House where it will be shown Monday and Tuesday for the first time. It's an Equity picture. Mr. Goodman with the facility and understanding of the master storyteller, wastes no time in getting into the core of the subject. With bold and powerful strokes he rips aside the curtains that hide the whims, the foibles and weaknesses of that dynamic of ever-changing emotions—the Modern Woman. It is in no sense preachy although in its big treatment may be found a sermon that will shatter deceit and extravagance and weld closer together the bonds of love and human sympathy.

The story, which was written by Mr. Goodman, is a straightforward and smart group of men and women in narrative dealing with the lives of the gilded strata of big town society—Women and men, too, plunge into the maelstrom of life unrestrained. Extravagance, folly, broken hearts and twisted souls. It won't do to reveal the plot.

A LITTLE BIT OF BROADWAY

Practices will begin Monday afternoon in the club rooms of the Business and Professional Business Club over the Book Store for the choruses and Monday night a rehearsal for the principals and the outlook promises a splendid success. This musical comedy has been given with tremendous success in both North and South Carolina and The Daughters of the Confederacy feel very fortunate in securing the Misses Burkheimer, of Wilmington, who will train the choruses for "A Little Bit of Broadway" to be given on Friday night, September 28th, for the benefit of the Veterans.

Six Killed When Alcohol Blows Up In Church

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—Six persons were killed and injured when a bottle of alcohol exploded during morning services in the temple of Our Lady of Remedios in San Bartolome Maucalpan, near here.

The Iliad of Homer, as well as most of the ballad literature of the world, were spoken or sung for years, perhaps for ages, before they were committed to writing.

A Confession

By the Ad Man of the OPERA HOUSE

I confess to you, dear folks of Goldsboro, that I have failed! I have struggled with my thoughts and my vocabulary and I cannot find words to describe the glory, the ravishing beauty, the daring scenes, the mighty geyser of joy that awed me as I viewed spell-bound,

What's Wrong With the Women?

If your mind comprehends the soul-stirring masterpiece of a Whistler, The Trill of the Lark, rolling waves of a huge emotional sea, combined with the literary, supreme effort of a decade, then you can but partially visualize the wonder picture—

What's Wrong With the Women?

See it! Marvel at it! Be thankful for the eyes you have that will telegraph these stirring scenes unending to your brain, which is weary of the trite and the commonplace.

Truly a Kohinoor in among the diamonds and gems of picture-dom.

You'll meet every thrill lover in town at the
