YANKS WIN WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

LIST OF CANDIDATES IN NEWS GIFT CAMPAIGN IS BEING PUBLISHED TODAY

This Week Expected to Break All Records in Nominations—Every Town, Village and Hamlet Expected to be Represented in Award of Gifts

Now it is known who they are: With the publication in today's issue of the names of those men and women who have been nominated in The Goldsboro News' $6000 Gift Campaign, the public is told for the first time who are the aspirants for the $1875 Buick Sedan, two other splendid automobiles, other awards and all the cash commission checks to be distributed free in just a few weeks' time.

Tomorrow the race will begin in earnest. The publication of nominations marks the real beginning—the active start—of the campaign. Everyone knows now who the contenders are and the competition will become lively. A glance at the list will show there is unlimited opportunity for energetic folks in every one of the four districts. This coming week is expected to break all records in point of new nominations received. The widespread interest being shown in the News great prize distribution leads to the belief that every town and hamlet where the News circulates will be represented. Favorite sons and daughters may look forward to many credits when the civic pride of home towns injects itself into the merry race for honor and reward.

The votes which will decide the ownership of the prizes are given on subscriptions to the Goldsboro News, and getting subscriptions to the Goldsboro News is very easy, because people appreciate the good work this paper is doing and will be only too glad to subscribe to it.

To enter this stupendous prize campaign it is only necessary to fill out and send in the Nomination Blank that appears in each issue of the News. When this is received at the Campaign Department, full information, together with receipt books and other necessary supplies will be forwarded at once. This blank counts 10,000 credits for any club member, so clip it and send it at once.

Then the four OPPORTUNITY COTTONS count for 100,000 credits each when sent in with four subscriptions for one year each. This gives any new club member a flying start toward the steering wheel of any one of the three prize motor cars. Don't you think you had better come on in! The big race really starts tomorrow, and if you want one of these three prize beauties you had better be starting too, for you know "tis the early bird that gets the worm."

Land Tenancy Body Is Still Held Idle

Raleigh, Oct. 15.—A meeting of the Land Tenancy Commission scheduled to take place here tonight was postponed until tomorrow when a majority of the commission members failed to arrive.

The meeting will be the first held by the commission since four of its members toured California and other States this Summer and a report of its findings is to be formulated tomorrow.

Fork Township Citizen Passes

A. R. Holloman, well known citizen of Fork township, died at his home in that section of the county last Saturday night, following a lingering illness. Mr. Holloman was about 70 years of age and was one of the best known citizens of the section in which he resided. He was unmarried, but is survived by several brothers and sisters.

Funeral services were conducted at the late residence in Fork yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Elder J. W. Gardner officiating, and interment took place in the Holloman family cemetery at that point, there being a large concourse of friends and relatives in attendance.

CHANCE TO SEE SELF AS OTHERS SEE YOU

Miss Sarah Gliddens, by reading Sunday morning's issue of The Goldsboro News, and thereby recognizing the description which was furnished, secured two free tickets to the show at the Opera House here last night.

A young lady with brown hair, blue eyes, wearing a grey pleated skirt, a blue and grey sweater, gray hose and black sweater, was shopping in Nell Joseph's store here last evening at 7:45 o'clock. If the young lady recognizes the description as being that of herself, she is cordially invited to call at the office of The News any time today and secure two free admissions to the Opera House picture show tonight.

Watch tomorrow's Goldsboro News. There will be another description and this one may be of YOU.

WOULD PUT STATE TO BED WITH THE SOUNDING OF TAPS

Former Governor Says Dry Issue Should Not be Carried to White House

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 15.—Taking direct issue with Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania on his suggestion that the President personally supervise prohibition enforcement, Henry J. Allen, former governor of Kansas, in an address here tonight declared he believed it the duty of the State of Pennsylvania "to exert all of its resources for the enforcement of the Volstead Act before bringing the problem to the doorstep of the White House."

Mr. Allen made his address after he had a long conference with President Coolidge.

"If I were the Governor of Pennsylvania and 1,300 bootleggers of Philadelphia had sent me word that they did not intend to obey the laws of Pennsylvania," said Mr. Allen, "the next morning Philadelphia would be awakened by the rattle of a soldier's bugle and that night she would go to bed at soldier's taps and every saloon would wear a padlock. Clifford Pinchot could do this the same as he could place under control 1,300 men who had announced their intention to rob the banks of Philadelphia and it is my prediction that he will do it before he is through."

Secretary Mellon also expressed his disagreement today with Gov. Pinchot's suggestion that the prohibition unit be made an important establishment responsible to the president. Secretary Mellon believes that the prohibition unit should be transferred from the treasury department to the department of justice on the ground that enforcement of the dry laws eventually evolves on the latter department through prosecution of violators.

Offer Free Tickets To Boy Scout's Here

All the Boy Scouts of this community will be very deeply interested in an announcement made here last night by Scout Executive Rivers and which is to the effect that any Boy Scout of Goldsboro doing an exceptionally good turn during the next few weeks and promptly reporting the same to the Scout Executive, Mr. Rivers, will receive a pass to the Opera House picture show here. The good turn, says Executive Rivers, must be of an unusual nature, and it must be worth while.

In connection with the offer, Mr. Rivers says that he and the Boy Scout executives are deeply appreciative of the kindness shown in this connection by Manager Finley of the Opera House.

BORAH DENOUNCES U S VIOLATORS OF "DRY" AMENDMENT

Sowing Seeds of Destruction and Lawlessness Idaho Senator Asserts

WEALTHIER CITIZENS THE MOST AT FAULT

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 15.—Wealthy Americans who violate the Eighteenth Amendment and "reds" who denounce constitutional provisions designed to protect property, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared in an address here today, "are both traveling the road of lawlessness, sowing the seeds of destruction and undermining the whole fabric of law and order." The Senator spoke before the Citizenship Conference on "Shall the Constitution of the United States be Nullified?"

"The hot bed, noisy rendezvous of lawlessness, of cynical defiance to the Eighteenth Amendment" he declared, "are among those of social standing, of large property interests and in the wealthier homes. Without their patronage, their protection and their example, the bootlegger would be easily within control of the law. The 'red' sits in his darkly lighted room around his poorly lighted table and denounces those provisions of the Constitution placed there to protect property. The 'white' sits in his brilliantly lighted room about his richly laden table, and defies or denounces the provision of the Constitution placed there to protect the home."

"The man of property, of course, is deeply concerned in preserving respect for law, for that is his protection to property. Do not they assume a sinister hazard in defying or disregarding any part of this Constitution? So long as this amendment remains a part of the great Charter, you not only strike at this amendment but at the whole structure of a government of law when you disobey its mandates. This provision of the Constitution is in the Constitution by the same authority, carries the same force and sanctity as the Fifth Amendment which throws the protecting shelter of the whole government around life and property. The spirit of lawlessness which undermines the one will in time destroy the other."

"These men have a perfect right to change the Constitution, or any part of it in the way by which changes are permitted. But so long as it stands there, it is entitled to their earnest and conscientious support. You cannot have your protection to property, your security for life, the things which you prize and deeply cherish, if you continue to teach disregard for the things which challenge your opposition. What one citizen may like another may dislike, and we shall soon witness a general assault upon the whole structure."

Declaring that the prohibition amendment is "the storm center bow of the Constitution," Senator Borah continued:

"It is the Constitution after years of agitation and discussion, after 33 states had already adopted statewide prohibition laws, after long debates in the Congress, after consideration by the State legislatures, and after ratification by 46 states of the Union. Surely no one can candidly claim that this amendment is in the Constitution by accident or as a result of undue haste."

At another juncture he remarked: "Prohibition, or anti-prohibitionist, sober or drunk, we ought as citizens be loyal to our common country and be willing to support the law so long as it is the law."

With the observation that "the guarantees of the Constitution are the most sacred guarantees in behalf of civil liberty ever placed in any instrument of government," Senator Borah declared he was of the opinion that "if any one provision of the Constitution could be regarded as more vital to the cause of freedom than any other, it would be the first amendment, which guarantees free speech, a free press and the right to worship God according to the dictates of one's conscience."

"But such are the effects of war upon the Constitutions," he continued, "such are the effects of war in breeding hate and intolerance, that men are in prison today and have been for six years in absolute violation of the fundamental principles of the first amendment to the Constitu-

IMPENDING DANGER SENSED BY OWSELY IN FINAL ADDRESS

No Back Sliding For The American Legion Declares The Commander

LAW AND ORDER MUST BE KEPT AND PRESERVED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Alvin M. Owsley, retiring national commander of the American Legion, in his farewell address today before the organization's national convention, called upon the men of the Legion "with patriotic hearts, pure as gold, to respond in this hour fraught with many possibilities and laden with whispers of impending danger."

"There is no back sliding for the Legion away from the original purposes of its foundation," he said, "and the constitution of the United States, which is the supreme law of the land must be upheld and defended by you."

"Law and order will be kept and preserved; right proclaimed and proudly asserted the Master of Might" Mr. Owsley declared. "The memories of our sacrifices as comrades must be carefully conserved and the well being, happiness and prosperity of all sanctified by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

Outline Program
"Our immense treasure of national resources must not be wasted away in profligate expenditures for individuals for profit and benefit accruing to groups and combination or capital that sometime may acquire and keep vast holdings against the public policy and common good. Let us then inaugurate and freely support an extensive program for the conservation of our natural resources; reclamation of waste lands, where homes, farms and expression of individualism can be built and established; preserve and give fullest protection to our national forest reserves and parks and the development of our waterways, rivers and canals."

"The wild animals, so distinctly a part of American history, is fast passing out, so much so we may say is nearly extinct."

Our bird life has been slaughtered and destroyed on so extravagant a scale that they are rarely to be seen; our streams, brooks rivers and lakes once filled with fish are stagnant or fished out and empty. Attention wisely given to protection of forests and field-closed season for animals and birds—encouragement to the state and nation for their breeding and propagation and the restocking of all our waters with fish will in a large measure give needed employment to numerous workers, and draw to the Legion the acknowledgement from right thinking men and women of our controlling desire for usefulness to labor."

Always and fixed in the mind of the Legion is the recognition and desire to uphold and further the best interest of the laboring people, Mr. Owsley continued.

The Song They Sing

"Ours is the song of better homes, churches and schools. The inalienable and God-given right to man to work out his own salvation in his own way and chosen time. We, the Legion adhere to the doctrine that man's greatest happiness is to be found in his laughter, his labor and love."

Mr. Owsley said he brought a message of enthusiasm, "a statement of accomplishment in which we can take pride; the assurance of duty conscientiously performed; a declaration of hope and courage; a vision into the future that is radiant and inspiring."

"When speaking to the delegates at New Orleans, as the newly elected national commander, I committed the Legion under my leadership to four comprehensive principles of endeavor: Hospitalization, rehabilitation, adjusted compensation and Americanism."

Makes Prediction

"The separate reports of department heads appear, to me, to speak of a consistent progress toward a better state for our sick and disabled comrades; a justifiable prediction of the passage of the Adjusted Compensation Bill by the next congress and the inauguration of a patriotic American discussion and leadership on matters of national education, respect for our flag, veteran unemployment, permanent endorsement for the opportunity of educating and protecting the orphan children of service men; the announcement and introduction to the nation and to the world of the Legion's advocacy of an international conference for the limitation of air-

Foreign Health Officials On Brief Visit To City

Eight Representatives From Foreign Countries of Medical Associations Entertained at Luncheon Here—Will Return For Inspection Trip on Saturday

A group consisting of eight high foreign officials engaged in studying health conditions in North Carolina, arrived in Goldsboro yesterday at 1 o'clock from Raleigh, where guests at a luncheon given at the Kennon hotel here, following which they departed for Kinston to inspect the Caswell Training School at that point. Announcement by members of the party that they will return to Goldsboro on next Saturday, at which time an observation trip will be made of the State Insane Asylum for negroes, which is located here. The party will then return from this city to Raleigh.

Among the group coming to Goldsboro yesterday for the brief stay in this city were the following: Dr. Cora Mayer and Miss Mayer of Chilli; Dr. and Mrs. K. Orvarance of Mexico City, Mex.; Dr. K. Sannerman of Hamburg, Germany; Dr. D. Hulshoff-Pol of the Hague, the Netherlands; Dr. J. Bakko, Krakow, Poland; Dr. S. Stonewski of Moscow, Russia; Dr. Marzew of Krakow, Ukraine.

The party of foreign visitors was met at the union station here yesterday at 1 o'clock by Dr. E. W. Corbett, County Health Officer, and representatives of the Rotary club, the Kiwanis club and members of the Wayne County Medical Society and were immediately taken to the Kennon hotel where a very delightful luncheon was served. The visitors appeared to very deeply appreciate the courtesies shown them while they were here and declared that they are anticipating with great pleasure their return to Goldsboro on next Saturday, at which time the negro asylum here is to be inspected. They will also visit a number of other points of interest while here.

This interchange visit of health officials arranged by the League of Nations has excited much comment since it was begun 10 days ago. The itinerary for the remainder of their stay in North Carolina calls for the party to spend today inspecting the Caswell Training School at Kinston, observation of the clinics of the Lenoir county health department at Kinston and a visit tomorrow to New Bern for the purpose of observing malaria and hookworm work under the direction of Dr. H. A. Taylor in Craven, Beaufort and Pamlico counties.

On Monday and Tuesday of next week observation of rural public health work will take place in Wake County and the visit to the State will come to a close with the round table discussion in the offices of the North Carolina State Board of Health.

Reports will be made by Dr. E. W. Corbett and his associates to arrange for a somewhat elaborate program here next Saturday in connection with the visit of the foreign officials, because the occasion is one of more than ordinary importance and it is pointed out that it behooves Goldsboro to exert her best efforts in the direction and endeavor to make an indelible impression upon the visitors as may be possible.

For The First Time In History of Baseball Winners of Junior League Win Out in Final World's Series Battle

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—Beaten and crushed after one of the most spectacular world series fight's in history the New York Giants today surrendered to the Yankees the World's Championship banner they had flown for the past two years.

The Yankees won the sixth and final game this afternoon at the Polo grounds by coming from behind and scoring five runs in the dramatic eighth inning rally just when it seemed that the McGrawmen would tie the series and force the seventh contest to decide the series. The final score was 6 to 4.

Yesterdays American League champions swept to their successive triumph and captured the rout of the mighty Giants, and by the decisive margin of four games to two, gained the baseball championship in more than a decade in baseball history.

This two, was the result of the final of the National game, a struggle for the highest stakes that has ever known, a gigantic contest eclipsing all previous world series was witnessed by more than 100,000 fans who paid more than $1,000,000 in gate receipts.

The story of that eighth inning game came when it appeared that the deadly southpaw arm of Arthur Heath and the inspired play of Frank Press had checked the head-long rush of the Yankees.

Ruth Falls Down
"Babe" Ruth, star of the Yankees, the mightiest hitter ever, while he had started the Yankees off in the first inning, with his third home run of the series, fell down miserably in the eighth inning pinch, striking out with the bases full and the Yankees one run behind.

In his place, a new hero was lifted up. Bob Meusel, who stepped into the breach that Ruth had left and delivered the blow that resulted in three runs and clinched the Yankee triumph.

Ward started the fatal eighth harmlessly enough by flying out, but the first signal of Nehf's downfall came when Schang and Scott singled in quick succession. Sensing the break of the game, Millie Huggins, little pilot of the Yankees duplicated the feat of strategy that had won a victory for his rival and threw into the forces his full reserves. Haines took his place at first as the bases were filled. Nehf tried gallantly to steady himself but facing a pinch hitter, battling for Whitey Witt, he failed. Brush walked on four balls and Nehf walked from the box, his head down and tears in his eyes. Ryan went into the box with the bases still full and the Yankees still two runs behind.

Forced In Run
Ryan, unsteadied by the tenseness of the fight, also was wild, and Scott was forced in with the second run when he walked Dugan on four pitched balls, thus making the 12th successive ball that the Giants moundmen had issued.

There was a mighty roar as into this dramatic spotlight stepped Ruth. But instead of further unerring Ryan, the sight of the master mauler seemed to steady him for the Babe let the first pitched curve squarely over the plate pass him, and fouled the second weakly. The next was a ball but then Ryan, putting all he had into his delivery, shot one squarely across and Ruth missed amidst a thunderous outburst from the crowd.

Ryan safely passed what seemed to be the hardest part of his path and a whistling single over second base, then Meusel caught his offering for Haines and Johnson crossed the plate with what proved to be the tying and winning runs, while Dugan tallied with another for good measure when...

GOLDSBORO PEOPLE AT HAM'S REVIVAL

High Water Mark Reached when 11,000 People Hear Him at Durham

(Special To The News.)
Durham, Oct. 15.—The Ham-Ramsay evangelistic campaign which began in this city ten days ago reached its first real high water mark today when the evangelist, Rev. M. P. Ham preached two powerful sermons to over eleven thousand people that taxed the tabernacle to capacity. One of the features of the day was the large number of visitors from other cities in which Mr. Ham and his party have held successful campaigns. Almost 100 people came from Goldsboro and about 25 from Fayetteville with numbers from other cities in the state including New Bern and Parkton.

The evangelist preached in the afternoon on "Christianity and Anti-Christianity in Death's Grapple" in which he pointed out some of the signs of the times based on his knowledge of actual conditions that exist in this country today. His message was full of prophetic revelations and was a startling appeal to a world that seems headed toward sure destruction.

"The Trial and Execution of Jesus Christ from a Legal Standpoint" was the subject of another great sermon in the evening. The trial and execution was purely illegal and was not justified even according to the law of the land in which he was tried. A large number of members of the lo-

MANY AUTOMOBILE MISHAPS FOR DAY

No Less Than Seven Accidents are Recorded Here During Last Sunday

Sunday was an extremely unfortunate day for Goldsboro and Wayne county automobile owners, a total of seven accidents and mishaps in various sections of the city and county taking place during the day. The garage and repair shops of the city were crowded with work yesterday morning and during a part of the morning they were unable to answer all the calls they had.

In a majority of the cases reported yesterday, no one suffered any severe injuries, although they were in some cases were literally demolished and some of them were surely beyond worth recording.

One automobile driver, who succeeded in avoiding any accident, said that he was able to do so because he was driving on Sunday night, he was because of the fact that he took to the ditch on four separate occasions during a drive of less than one hour. He was severe in his condemnation of automobile drivers who violate all known traffic rules, regardless of their own safety and the safety of others.
