Anderson of Wilson Appointed Head of the Credit Union

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 2.—Announcement was made here today by Dean B. F. Brown of the Department of Business Administration, State college, of the appointment of A. E. Anderson of Wilson, as superintendent of Credit Unions for the Division of Markets of State College and the Department of Agriculture.

The credit unions of the Division of Markets are proving to be of great value in the State, said Dean Brown, but not all of them have functioned properly due to the fact that other important work has made it impossible for the department to keep up with them.

"Thirty-six credit unions have been organized," he said "and the central and west central portions of the state are fairly well covered and the credit needs of members in these sections are well taken care of. We are now planning to enlarge our credit union activities just as fast as practical and will use the county agent system of the extension service in carrying out these plans. At first our efforts will be limited to those districts where the credit needs are greatest.

"The credit union theory is twofold. The first is that the union promote thrift and savings, and while this is a most important feature, it is possibly not the outstanding feature. The fact that the unions are organizations for the creation of group credit would probably be the most important feature of the credit union group. This we can explain by using for example twenty men none of whom had any credit standing. By forming these men into an organization they can by this joint action secure credit that they could not get separately."

In making plans for expansion of the credit union work Dean Brown emphasized that these organizations are, in no way competitors of the regularly established banks. In fact he stated that they are supplementary to the banks and help promote the idea of sound business principles as taught by banks.

Mr. Anderson, who will enter upon his new duties next Monday, is well fitted for the credit union work according to Dean Brown. A graduate of the University of North Carolina in 1916, after specialization in rural economics and sociology, he taught school for two years and then was associated with the Building and Loan Association at Wilson. He was raised on a farm and is therefore familiar with conditions in the rural districts, said Dean Brown and this experience together with his education and bank training should prove of great assistance to him in the performing of his work as Superintendent of Credit Unions.

Good morning. Wednesday night. Ten o'clock. Figure it out.

Then—step livelier than ever. There is only one way to success. That is through the land of HUSTLE AND ENERGY.

Work with a will. It means success. November 7. Clubs are tramps. With a handful of CLUBS, you have a winning hand.

Success comes more often from good work than it does from good luck.

Look out for those out-of-town club members.

A mighty even race. You cannot always sometimes tell. Fifty-fifty break at this time between city and out-of-town members.

So even that it is suicidal for the present leaders to falter now.

And again—some of those now down in the list are liable to throw a bomb shell into the camps of the present leaders.

Line up your friends in battle array.

Keep smiling.

Build your way to success by building CLUBS of 25.

Out-of-town club members have the privilege of mailing letters with reports to apply on the First Period up to 10 o'clock Wednesday night, November 7th. Even though these letters are not received at the Salesmanship club of The News until a day later, they will still be included on the First Credit period.
