CONVENTION ADJOURNS ON THIRTIETH BALLOT LAST NIGHT

NORTH CAROLINA DELEGATION WAVERS IN 22ND BALLOT

DEM. NATIONAL CONVENTION FAILS TO SELECT A NOMINEE AFTER THIRTIETH BALLOT

McAdoo Forces are Slowly Withdrawing Their Support, While Smith and Davis are Making Steady Gains.

DAVIS GOES THIRD PLACE LAST EVE

Mr. Bryan Comes Out Openly Against Davis and Declares He Can Never be Nominated. McAdoo Men Deny Story That They Had Undergone Any Negotiations to Swing Any Part of Votes to Ralston.

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., July 1. (AP)—After balloting for two more long sessions the Democratic National Convention adjourned late tonight with its fight over the Presidential nomination still a draw.

This nomination fight showed a material lull, and McAdoo was still in the lead on the 30th and last ballot before adjournment with Smith climbing steadily but still far from even a third of the total delegate strength.

John W. Davis, by picking off stray votes here and there, and two or three solid delegations had gone into third place, and the friends of Ralston of Indiana were taking renewed hope from assurances given them of a swing to their candidate once the decided break in the balloting comes.

Backers of the Indiana Senator declared he would be satisfactory to the McAdoo forces should McAdoo release his delegates. And the W. Jennings Bryan and other leaders were actively working toward the nomination of Ralston. Meantime Mr. Bryan had come out openly against Davis, and declared he never could be nominated. The McAdoo men denied a story that they had undertaken any negotiations to swing any part of their votes to Ralston in case of a decided swing away from McAdoo.

Like the managers for Governor Smith, they insisted the time had not come to talk of the second choice, and predicted victory in tomorrow's balloting.

Starting with 479 votes when the roll was called for the sixteenth ballot this morning, McAdoo lost first Missouri and then Oklahoma, and on the 30th ballot taken just before adjournment until tomorrow, his total was 415.5.

There was plenty of talk about restlessness and prospective breakers other McAdoo states now under the hot rule, but in the late ballot, the McAdoo ranks held with unexpected solidity.

Both of the delegations had determined at last to stick tight until they had slept on proposals to go elsewhere.

Starting with 365.5 votes this morning, Gov. Smith climbed to a total of 323.5 at adjournment.

John W. Davis starting the day with 61 ended with 126.5.

The field of the favorite sons was struggling without material changes in their standing.

ONE LEGGED MAN CALLS AT CUSTOM HOUSE WILMINGTON

Claims He is Walking Around the World and Asks Customs Officer for Certificate.

Wilmington, July 1.—Claiming that he ran away from home at Chincupia, Duplin county, 18 years ago, and that he does not even know if his father is living, J. G. Batts, a one-legged man, who says he is walking around the coast line of the United States, today obtained a certificate from S. F. Highsmith, deputy collector of customs, certifying that he called at the Wilmington customhouse.

"And I can kick, too," said Mr. Batts, when talking with a representative of The News-Dispatch, in the office of H. K. Nash, deputy clerk of the federal court, and just then the only foot of this one-legged man was touching the hat brim of the astonished reporter.

He said he left San Francisco on March 2, and that he will receive $5,000 reward if he returns to the California city a year from that date. He says that he has traversed 3,825 miles, walking part of this great distance and picking up rides from motorists along the route.

"When he was 14 years old, he said, he ran away from home; and since then he has never returned; his mother died when he was 7 years old. He had not heard from, or of, his father in about a year, but he is going home this afternoon, on his way, to Norfolk.

Batts gave his father's name as J. D. Batts. He stated he lost his left leg while fox hunting near Salisbury, N. C., December 20, 1920, and spent seven months in a hospital there recovering from injuries sustained when his head struck a tree limb as he was chasing foxes, throwing him over and his foot catching in the stirrup.

BAPTIST ASSEMBLY CLOSES ITS NINTH SESSION MOREHEAD

The Present Session Was One of the Best in History of the Organization.

Morehead City, July 1.—The Baptist Seaside Assembly, which has been in session in the Atlantic Hotel, in this city for the past week, closes its ninth annual session tonight with a historical pageant in which 150 characters or more will be used.

The present session has been one of the very best in the history of the organization. Perry Morgan, of Raleigh, who has had entire charge of making the program, selecting the faculty and directing the Assembly, has done a fine piece of work. The sermons by Dr. A. Paul Bagby, of Wake Forest, and the addresses by Dr. J. T. Henderson, Knoxville, and Dr. E. C. Dargan, Nashville, and the class room work by a dozen capable teachers, have all been of a high order. The attendance, while better than last year, was not up to what was expected.

The Morehead City people have generously offered to the Assembly a very valuable lot ideally located near Camp Glenn, containing four acres of land overlooking Bogue Sound, provided the Assembly will improve the lot and locate here permanently. This is considered a very fine opportunity to build up a great Assembly for the western section of the State. But whether or not this generous offer will be accepted by the Baptists of the State, remains to be seen. There is much sentiment for it, especially by those who have received the benefits of the last two sessions.

The Baptist Church of Morehead transported free of cost the entire Assembly, those who desired to take the trip, to Fort Macon and to the Atlantic Beach Saturday afternoon. The visitors were greatly delighted to have this rare treat. Fishing, bathing, and boating have been the favorite pastime of the visitors when not on duty at the Assembly.

"Heaven—The End of Faith" was the theme of a very tender sermon by Dr. Bagby Sunday morning when he spoke to a large audience in the Assembly hall. In the afternoon, Rev. Eugene Olive, Chapel Hill, who has directed the music of the Assembly, put on a very attractive musical program, in which he was assisted by the orchestra of the First Baptist church, Morehead City. DuPre Rhame, Chapel Hill, Miss Iva, Pearson, Raleigh, Dr. Charles E. Brower, Raleigh, J. N. Barnett, Dunn, Miss Lucile Kelly, Union, Miss Lina Gough and Frank Gough, Jamison, Miss Elma Farlow, Raleigh, and Mrs. J. E. Dillard, Birmingham, who also exhibited curios and spoke interestingly of her recent trip to the Holy Land. Dr. Dargan preached a very spiritual sermon Sunday night on "The Shepherd Psalm."

The pageant tonight under the direction of Miss Iva Pearson, Raleigh, will be the outstanding feature of the Assembly. This pageant was written for this special occasion by Mrs. Edith Taylor Earnshaw, of Wake Forest, who is present to help in its first presentation. The object of the pageant is to portray in as graphic a way as possible the history and work of North Carolina Baptists from the beginning of this country up to the present moment. The first scene sets forth religious liberty, for which the Baptists have ever earnestly contended. The next four acts embrace Evangelism, Education, Social Service, and Millions for the Master, or the 75 Million Campaign.

In Spitzbergen the longest day is three and a half months.

STATE DEPARTMENT HEALTH REPORTS NO TRACE OF RABIES

Mr. C. D. Grove Had Sent the Head of Dog to the State Health Department for Examination for Rabies.

Mr. C. D. Grove received a message yesterday afternoon from the State Health Department, where he had sent the head of a dog that had bitten him and other members of the family, to the effect that there was absolutely no symptoms of rabies found as a result of the examination.

The dog, a pet of the Grove family, had been bitten several weeks ago by another dog, and on Monday the family became worried because of the actions of the dog, and called Dr. Kerr, sanitary officer for Wayne county, who expressed the opinion that the dog was suffering from hydrophobia, and advised the family to undergo the Pasteur treatment; accordingly the treatment was ordered and the members of the family who had been exposed were preparing to start the treatment yesterday when the message was received.

Many friends of the family who have visited the home and played with the puppy will be very happy to know of the good news.

Grand Jury Returns True Bill Against W. A. Austin, Registrar, and Two Workers on Charges of Fraudulently Destroying Ballots at Primary.

Durham, July 1.—A true bill was returned by the local grand jury today against three men for fraudulently and unlawfully destruction of votes cast in the recent Democratic primary in one of the local precincts. The men named in the bill of indictment are W. H. Austin, a qualified and acting registrar of the precincts where the fraud is alleged to have been perpetrated, W. T. Rigbee and Roy Chapel, political workers.

The three men were charged with destroying votes cast for Josiah Bailey, and changing some of the ballots cast for him.

Reports were made to W. S. Lockhart, chairman of the county board of election that fraud had been practiced at the precinct in question and he immediately began an investigation. The ballot box was sealed and placed in the safe vault for safe keeping, and the Solicitor of this district, Maj. L. P. McClendon took a hand in the case.

Today the grand jury went into the case, with a result that a true bill was found against the three men named. The court is expected to take action on the case during the present session.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS RECEIVES ONE VOTE

McAdoo Lost the Solid South When an Effort Was Made by Friends of Daniels to Swing Entire 24 Votes to Favorite Son.

New York, July 1.—McAdoo lost the solid North Carolina delegation on the 27th ballot when Davis got 21-2 votes.

On the next ballot Josephus Daniels got one vote, McAdoo 23, Smith 1-2 and Davis 21-2.

When the break came in the North Carolina delegation, it was on an effort of friends of Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy to swing the entire 24 votes to their favorite son, but the move was blocked by the McAdoo friends without a fight, when Daniels paused over the word that he was not a serious contestant in the presidential race.

This announcement left the bulk of the votes with the McAdoo column, with the Davis supporters still hopeful of better things on future balloting.

North Carolina Delegation Wavers in Twenty Second Ballot. Bryan Launches an Open Fight During the Taking of the Nineteenth Ballot.

Madison Square Garden, N. Y., July 1. (AP)—The Democratic Convention went into its second day of balloting, giving no outward indication of a break in the log-jam of contending opinions that is preventing selection of a nominee for the Presidency.

Starting today with its 16th ballot the convention resumed its search for a Presidential candidate. The opening ballot held out little hope that one would readily be found.

The only break of any note was that New Hampshire on this ballot left her favorite son, Governor Brown and divided between Smith and McAdoo, with one vote for Davis.

On the 17th ballot the totals for the leaders stood this way: McAdoo 471.5; Smith 312.5; Davis 64.

William Jennings Bryan launched an open fight on the convention floor, against John W. Davis, of West Virginia today, during the taking of the 19th ballot. Hearing that the Mississippi delegation was planning to go to Davis, Bryan left his seat in the Florida delegation, and went over to talk with the Mississippians.

Bryan argued with the delegates that Mr. Davis' professional connections would cost the party something in the West, and denied the charge made by members of the delegation that McAdoo's connection with Doehny injured the latter's candidacy.

At the conclusion of the 18th ballot the leaders stood: McAdoo 474; Smith 311.5; Davis 34.5; Underwood 39.5.

Wavering N. C. Delegates
The wavering of the North Carolina delegation became pronounced during the roll call on the 22nd ballot, when a committee headed by Former Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Governor Morrison and Chairman O. Max Gardner, was sent to the platform to confer with Chairman Walsh on the question of the delegation's right by a majority decision to change its unit vote.

Members of the delegation reported that a considerable number were ready for a switch, but that Governor Morrison insisted all were bound by the outcome of the state primary, in which McAdoo won by default of other candidates. Many in the delegation were urging a swing to John W. Davis.
