Selma Girl Wins Trip to Chicago

Johnston County carried off honors in the contests at the State Fair in which 42 club girls of North Carolina participated. Miss Sallie Herring, of Selma, was one of the two girls making the highest score in all of the contests, the other young lady being Miss Maude Rogerson, of Perquimans County. These young ladies were awarded as prizes trips to Chicago for the third annual club congress which will be held in connection with the International Livestock Show to be held in December. The two girls will be sent to Chicago with chaperone and all expenses paid.

Miss Herring was one of the team winning first place in the jelly-making contest, the other girl in this team being Miss Janie Edwards, of Creech's school, the prize for the best team being $12. Miss Herring graduated last spring from the Selma high school. She attended summer school at Greenville during the past summer and will teach at Archer Lodge this winter.

DR. WALL BEGINS TEN DAY REVIVAL

Goldsboro Minister to Hold Two Daily Services at Pullen Memorial.

Raleigh, Oct. 22.—Rev. Zeno Wall, D. D., of the First Baptist Church of Goldsboro, Monday night opened a revival meeting at the Pullen Memorial Church, which will continue for ten days, with afternoon meetings at three o'clock, and evening services at 7:30.

Last night, Dr. Wall took as his subject, in a short opening sermon, "How God's People Won Over the Midianites," and in that sermon pointed the method by which he hoped to bring a successful revival to the city.

"We'll have a good revival here," he declared, "if we can all get out of the way and let God go forward."

He painted a picture of the Israelites under the domination of the Midianites, where God had placed them because they had done that which was evil in his sight. He showed how God delivered them from their hopeless position, not by numbers, but by quality of men.

"The three great truths this story reveals are easily recognized," Dr. Wall declared. "First, that victory begins as soon as we realize our hopeless condition, and know that it is impossible for us to win by ourselves. We start toward victory when we realize that we stand in an age when men have forgotten God. Within ourselves we can do nothing."

"In the second place, we see that victory came to them when they were in a hopeless condition, and when they cried to God for aid. A revival that lives is not a revival that is worked up, but worked down from God."

"Finally they relied upon God to deliver them. God is not concerned about numbers. It is a quality fight. He wants somebody to say, 'Lord, get into this poor body of mine and use it.' We'll have a great revival here if we can all get out of the way and let God go forward."

Dr. Wall is a North Carolinian, and attended school at Mars Hill. Following his graduation from the Louisville Seminary, he went to a pastorate in Mississippi. For some time he was pastor at Clinton, Mississippi, where there is a college for men and one for women. There he got in close touch with student thought. He has been in demand as an evangelist and speaker since he returned to North Carolina three years ago, to take over the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Goldsboro.

At the opening services last night the choir and congregation joined in the singing of a number of hymns.

Vance Once Sold For 50 Dollars

New York, Oct. 22.—Manager John McGraw, of the New York Giants, says he would willingly part with $100,000 for Dazzy Vance.

Charley Ebbetts, owner of the Brooklyn club, says twice that amount wouldn't tempt him for his star pitcher, the sensation of the majors in the season just closed.

These seemingly fabulous amounts being offered for a ball player, make the original sale of the now famous Vance loom up as the best laugh of the day.

Ten years ago Vance was playing with the Superior club in the Nebraska State League. He was just a so-so pitcher.

At that time Hastings, the home of Vance, was in the same league. He decided it would be nicer to play in the old home town. When he asked the manager of the Hastings club what he was worth, the reply was:

"If some one offered me $50 in real money they could have you."

Vance peeled five tens from his bank roll, and joined the Hastings club.

Originally sold for $50, his present employer isn't interested in an offer of $100,000 for his services.

R. R. RATE REDUCTION DEPENDS ON ACTUAL WATER COMPETITION

of campaigning has been great, but he is bearing up finely and says he is feeling fine.

Tonight the Governor was introduced by R. E. Price, editor of the Rutherford Sun, and in charge of the ports campaign in this county. Mr. Price had seen that news of the meeting was well disseminated, his heart being in it, and the big crowd tonight was due in great measure to his efforts, as he had word sent out into the highways and byways, everywhere. Mr. Price believes that Rutherford will show a majority for the ports proposition.

The Governor, heartened by such a big crowd, pitched into his argument with deep fervor. He said the terminals would result in a reduction of freight rates, that joint and through bills of lading with freight moving altogether by water, partly by rail, partly by truck, or the long haul by water, the short by rail, would cause a great saving to the people in rate costs.

Some of his other arguments are:

That the terminals through fees for use will pay their way, and if they do not pay in full there are ways to get the money without a state tax on real estate.

That nine able business men, six original terminals investigating committee, declared the plan is practicable, should be adopted, and will pay the people of the state.

That the other States with water transportation opportunities have developed them to advantage.

That there must be actual, not merely potential water competition.

That the railroads have a monopoly in water transportation.

That lack of developing water ways
