HOTEL GOLDSBORO

ERECTED A. D. 1925

I am a newcomer in your city and yet you recognize me.

I am sure you will soon know me better, for I expect to make a long stay, and I trust a profitable one for both you and myself.

The creature of a vision and a demand, I came. Conceived by the brains of dreamers who make dreams come true, I was created by the combined genius and dollars of men who do things and do them well. These men gave me a strong body of concrete and steel, and drew on the knowledge and skill of architects, artists and artisans to rear me sturdy and stately, and make me beautiful.

I cost a lot of money, $750,000 I am told, but I am worth it. Nothing is too good for Goldsboro and as one who hopes to live long in your city, I insisted on making a becoming debut.

I am fortunate in selecting my home for here where I stand is ground made famous by those who came before me. The soil into which my limbs have been planted is fragrant with the memory of the early days of Goldsboro and of the nation.

Many of you have already met me. I have enjoyed your company, and hope to see you often, for I am yours to serve. I am the Hotel Goldsboro.
