

FIND MUTILATED BODY OF YOUTH IN NEW RIVER OFFICERS SEARCHING FOR WILLIE EVANS ON SERIOUS CHARGE

SIX ONSLOW COUNTY WHITE MEN ARE HELD AS MATERIAL WITNESSES IN JACKSONVILLE

Body Found in New River by Lynchburg, Va., Physician; Had Been Brawl

New Bern, July 27.—(AP)—Six young Onslow county white men are held in jail at Jacksonville without bail as material witnesses in connection with the death of Ellis Hollis, 17, of Holly Ridge, whose mutilated body was found in New River, few miles from Jacksonville Monday afternoon.

This was the information received over long distance telephone tonight from acting coroner D. W. Jones of Onslow county. Three of those in jail gave the name of Howard, while two others are named Madens, the coroner said. The name of the sixth could not be learned.

The body, found by a Lynchburg, Va., physician, when he was fishing in the river, according to his statement, was later identified by Hollis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hollis. The body was in bad condition, the coroner said, the throat having been cut and the skull fractured.

The chest was badly bruised. The dead man appeared to have been in the water for some time.

Hollis was last seen Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in company with the six youths now in jail, the coroner said. He passed through Jacksonville with them, stopping at an old asphalt plant about three miles from Jacksonville. Here sometime later the police was called to quiet a drunken "brawl" among them. No arrests were made at the time.

Early that night, however, four of the six returning through Jacksonville were jailed after they had driven their car into another machine. Later released, they were re-arrested shortly after the finding of the body Monday. The parents of the other two surrendered them to the authorities to date.

No clue as to where Hollis was slain, if he was, has been found, Coroner Jones said. The asphalt plant where the row took place in the afternoon is located on a creek three-quarters of a mile from the point where the body was found.

STORM ABATES IN FLORIDA

Leaving Damaged Shipping Crops and Wire Facilities

Jacksonville, Fla., July 27.—(AP)—Riding on a wind which at times reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour, the storm which came out of the Caribbean sea yesterday hit the lower Florida coast today and was traveling up the Atlantic seaboard tonight, leaving in its wake distressed shipping, damaged crops and crippled wire facilities.

The storm was reported late today centered between Palm Beach and Jupiter, Florida, apparently moving slowly north westward.

Miami reported damage of $100,000, three-fourths of which was suffered by the avocado pear crop. A line, than met death when he came in touch with a live wire on top of a telegraph pole. This was the only loss reported late today in the storm-swept area.

In Miami the rain ceased at noon and the wind had dropped to moderate force late today.

Palm Beach received the full force of the storm in an 80-mile an hour wind. The barometer went up to 29.03, but the blow abated at three o'clock this afternoon.

Again Peach Crop Is a Bumper One

Atlanta, July 27.—Georgia's golden harvest of luscious peaches, now moving into every corner of the Nation will not begin to show any signs of letting up until September 1.

This is two weeks later than the usual time for the closing of the Georgia peach season. This year's prolonged shipping is due to a bumper harvest, despite spring's late cold snaps.

Estimate were made that Georgia's peach crop would net the peach growers something like $12,000,000 in 1926.

While this year's is not quite the largest commercial crop in history, the peach is said to be virtually free from all worms, scars, pits and other defects. A new system of marketing has been worked out by the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange to prevent the larger markets from becoming glutted and causing price depression, as has been the case heretofore.

Argument With This One Taboo

Paris, July 27.—There is no chance to argue with a new type of telephone operator recently installed here. It is a 24-hour-a-day phonograph.

When a person calls a number that has been changed, he is automatically plugged in on the phonograph and hears a male voice announcing in sonorous tones:

"This number has been changed; please consult the new telephone directory. This number has been changed; please consult the new telephone directory."

BEGIN TRIAL OF FIVE MEN

Charged With Having Outraged Peteeet Girls Last February

San Diego, July 27.—(AP)—The last chapter in the tragedy which claimed the lives of the family of Thomas M. Peteeet here last February, was to be written today in Ti Juana, resort town across the lower California border from here, when five men will face a Mexican court charged with having outraged the two Peteeet daughters, Clyde and Audrey.

The two girls, with their parents were found dead in a gas-filled room a few days after they declared they had been drugged and attacked in the border city. In a note found near the bodies the father declared the family sought death rather than endure the shame they felt was theirs.

The defendants—Zenado Llanos, former-chief of police of Ti Juana; Louis Amador, keeper of the saloon in which the girls alleged they were drugged; Refugio Alvarez and Francisco Navarro, bar tender, and Salvador Eplnosa, taxicab driver—were brought into court yesterday and the complaints charging them with the criminal attack read. Judge Urias then ordered all but Alvarez returned to jail, where they have remained since they were arrested February 10. Alvarez has been at liberty on probation.

The trial will be held in the community hall of Ti Juana and will be closed to the public. Special passes have been issued to newspaper writers.

In the event of conviction the men may be punished by prison terms ranging from six to eight years.

WILL DISCUSS STATE RIGHTS

Governors Representing East and West Gather in Wyoming

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 27.—(AP)—State rights will be discussed by governors representing the east and west at the opening of the second day of the twelfth annual governor's conference here today.

The difference of opinion that led to a breach between the north and south, lies today, as evidenced by the views of Governor delegates, between the east and the west. The east, they say, is defending the policy of federal control of national resources and the vast, undeveloped stretches of the far west and the west is holding that the federal domain in its sections is an encroachment upon the rights of its respective states.

Governor Ralph O. Brewster, of Maine, and J. H. Trumbull, of Connecticut, will speak on "State Rights and Obligations," to represent the east while governors Walter M. Pierce, of Oregon, and George F. Deern, of Utah, will take up the western viewpoint with addresses on "Western Reaction" and "the public land question."

Other speakers on the day's program include Governor Franklin S. Billings, of Vermont, on "prison-made goods and possible interference in distribution" whose address is to precede a round table discussion by all the delegates on "The State and the Governor Adam M. McMullen, of Nebraska, will speak on "efficient state administration."

Honolulu and St. Paul, Minn., are bidding for the next conference but it is understood the 1928 meeting place will not be selected until the executive board session next winter.

Coolidge Warns American Citizens

Paul Smiths, N. Y., July 27.—(AP)—President Coolidge hopes that Americans abroad will make allowances for conditions in the foreign countries they are visiting and will not indulge in any unwarranted criticisms or any recriminations.

The position of the president who was made clear in the matter at the executive offices today without, however, any direct reference being made to the demonstrations that have occurred against American tourists in France.

The desire of the United States, it was said, was to maintain friendly relations with all countries and the belief was expressed that the attitude of irresponsible persons of the United States for foreign countries should not be treated too seriously.

It is necessary, it was added, for Americans abroad to realize at this time that peoples of some other countries are in a difficulties with sympathy.

Some American tourists it was said are of a somewhat bumptious nature and if that type obtains some education and discovers that there are other people in the world who are entitled to some consideration, not much harm will be done.

If the more responsible type of American finds things abroad unsatisfactory, it was asserted, there is always the remedy for them to come and spend their money here.

BOOTBLACK CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO COMMIT RAPE BY MRS. LILLIAN RUSSELL

EGYPT FORCES DIGGERS OUT

Squabbles Over Excavations Will Force Move of Searchers

London, July 27.—As a direct consequence of recent squabbles with the Egyptian antiquities department, Professor Sir W. M. Flinders Petrie, the world famous English Egyptologist, has decided to abandon all excavation work in Egypt and transfer his staff to Palestine.

Archaeologists working in Egypt are said to be constantly irritated by the "high handed" action of the newly-formed antiquities department, which has at its head, Pierre Lacua, a Frenchman.

It is stated that they are being asked to sign agreements with Lacua which give his department practically despotic powers over almost every detail of their work.

Professor Petrie has intimated that he considers some of the regulations to be so ludicrous that it is impossible for him to make any further plans for work in Egypt, for the same reason a party of skilled American excavators at Thebes have abandoned all excavation work, and there is a likelihood of other excavators withdrawing.

"I am bringing my fifty years work in Egypt to a close this year," said Professor Petrie in an interview here, "and am going to South Palestine, where every assistance is given to archaeologists. The dog-in-the-manger attitude taken up by the authorities in Egypt has made it impossible for me to continue my work. The situation there from the point of view of archaeologists is nothing short of farcical."

The old law concerning finds made by excavators was that the finder should have half of what he found. The other half was taken by the government. That was fair enough although the government generally took the better half. New laws introduced empower the government to take everything the excavator found so long as his expenses were paid. That meant that the government could take anything of great interest and simply give the archaeologist back his expenses. These regulations, however, were only once put into force.

"Now, however, Lacua requires that no workmen shall be employed without official sanction for each individual man. No visitors may be admitted to one's excavations without the same official sanction, and one may not employ a European on the work unless $500 has been individually sanctioned by the antiquities department."

"An excavator may not put up any shed or building on the site of his work without first consulting and submitting the plan of such a building to headquarters. Every find made by an excavator, under the new agreement which he is required to sign, has to be placed at the disposal of the director of the department of antiquities, who has the right to appoint an inspector to oversee the work, while the excavator has to pay the man's salary."

"A further rule instituted by the authorities says that no workman may be paid for any small finds he makes. The result has been that hundreds of small specimens which would normally have been preserved are being overlooked by the native workers."

"I have always paid my men the best value for the finds they make. This made them careful not to overlook anything, and also resulted in the careful handling of finds. Now, after this is being imposed,

Negro Has Left For Parts Unknown and Officers are Conducting Wide Search

Local officers yesterday continued their search for Willie Evans, negro bootblack, on a warrant charging assault with attempt to commit rape. Authorities in all towns and cities in the vicinity have been warned to be on the lookout for the negro.

The warrant charges assault with intent to commit rape on Mrs. Lillian Butler, and is alleged to have occurred while she was registered at the Goldsboro hotel here Monday. The hour of the attempted crime is given as about 9:30 o'clock in the morning.

According to reports concerning the case, Mrs. Butler and Mr. Butler registered at the hotel Monday morning. Mr. Butler was out of the room when Evans came to bring some water. One report is that the alleged crime occurred at this time. Another report is that the negro had the room and later returned and that the attempt to commit the crime came one the second visit.

Mr. Butler returned to the hotel room some minutes later and his wife told him of what had happened. According to a story told by Mrs. Butler the negro fled when she screamed, after having thrown her across the bed.

Upon hearing the story by Mrs. Butler, Mr. Butler rang for bell boy service, thinking, according to the report, to get the same boy back to the room. But another one came and then J. C. Vaastory, manager of the hotel was summoned. He offered what assistance he could to the couple, he told The News.

They checked out a few minutes later, and several hours later the officers appeared with the warrant for the negro. Meantime he had left for parts unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler left Goldsboro yesterday afternoon for Raleigh but said they would return home tonight. At the Goldsboro hotel the couple registered from Hamlet. Officers understand that they were originally from Winston-Salem. Mr. Butler is a painter by trade. C. B. Smith was employed as counsel by the couple.
