Jury Awards $3,000 To Dr. Mandelos In Case Against W. C. Murphy

Finds Former School Man Guilty of Alienating Mrs. Mandelos' Affections

Asheville, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Three thousand dollars as punitive and compensatory damages late this afternoon was awarded Dr. Nicholas A. Mandelos by a jury in Buncombe Superior court in a $50,000 suit against Wallace C. Murphy, former county superintendent of education, for the alienation of Mrs. Mandelos' affections. The jury returned its verdict at 4:40. The verdict brought to a close one of the most sensational cases to be tried in this section of the state in a number of years. The fact that public trust and public office were directly concerned in circumstances of the case had aroused wide public interest and attention in this county. The case had its genesis last March when Dr. Mandelos through counsel filed the bill of complaint after which Dr. Murphy resigned his position. In rendering its verdict the jury found that the defendant was guilty of the alienation of affections of the wife of the plaintiff and that the defendant was guilty of immoral relations with the plaintiff's wife.

USES BABIES SCREEN SELF FROM BULLETS

Crazed by Drink, Farmer Slays Wife and Taunts Posse of One Hundred

Cincinnati, Aug. 13.—(AP)—With the body of his wife at his feet, Scott Workman, 40, a farmer, paced back and forth before the window of his little farm house near New Richmond, Ohio, today defying Sheriff Fred Crosswell, of Clermont county, and a posse of 100 men surrounding the house to fire at him and two babies, youngest of nine children which he held in his arms. Holding up his children, one in each arm, a girl of three and a boy of seven months, the farmer, believed to be crazed with drink, taunted the members of the posse, posted behind trees and other vantage points about the house, to shoot at him. "Go ahead, shoot 'em about 'em," he cried, as he tossed the waiting children up and down in his arms in view of the distracted possemen. "Sure I killed my wife. I'll kill these here, too, if you shoot."

One marksman who had scaled the Workman house lay on the eaves of the roof with his revolver ready to shoot down the mad man if he appeared without the threshold. Others were ready with rifles and pistols to pour a volley into the farmer's body if he once let out of his arms the babies which formed his shield. This situation confronted officers and their posse at noon after two hours of effort to capture the crazed principal in the tragedy. Workman had fired several shots from his automatic pistol at members of the posse, but the sight of the ferocious strikers, clinging to the father who at any moment might crash out their lives, silenced any return of the fire.

SEE METEOR DISPLAY HERE

Goldsboro Citizens Returning Thursday Night See Natural Phenomenon

Goldsboro citizens returning to their homes late Thursday night report having seen a meteoric display in the southeast heavens. "There was a coming and going of a lurid light, shooting with lightning swiftness," said one citizen who saw the phenomenon. Scientists had reported that brilliant meteoric showers would be visible in this section. Occasional meteors, it is said, will now be seen until November when they will be most frequent about the twelfth of that month. Scientists have not as yet been able to find the reason for the meteors appearing at intervals though many theories have been offered. The most popular of these is that the meteors are part of the tail of an unknown comet, now extinct, which lies in the path of the earth's orbit about the sun. It is known, however, that they are composed mainly of gases and this accounts for their burning out before reaching the earth.

"WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED" MACK'S TEXT

WHAT SAVES ONE WHO WON'T AID ANOTHER

Says the Gospel Must Be Preached So As to Be Understandable to the Majority

What must I do to be saved? was Kingwell McLaughlin's sermon at the tabernacle at Mount Olive last night. He said in part: "All my life I have heard and read sermons on this text, and they were read from a sermon standpoint, but many of them were about as high as my head. I do not profess to read before this intellectual congregation and claim that I have learned all there is to learn from these sermons but I believe that I have a common sense view of the situation. In delivering this message I want to be faithful to God and to you. I want to take every one in this congregation into the land of peace and rest as the result of your personal salvation. Suppose that we could go back, or at least tonight that we have Paul standing on the rostrum, and allow you folks out in the congregation to ask him questions. One man would come back here to the choir and say, 'Paul, I am concerned. What must I do to be saved?' And some one, standing in the question, would arise and say, 'I am longing to be a better man, but what I must do is to be saved. I am longing for these words to be said. I am tired of the sin business, and I am longing for a new start in life. I am not living as God wants me to live. Tell me what I must do to be saved.' Then someone down here in front would arise and say, 'Paul, I have had a checkered career. I would not like to say how my life has been lived, but God knows, and I know. What must I do to be a Christian? What do you think Paul would say? Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the answer to my question would come back, 'Why, would you want to come back?' And that is where we get our very common text. 'What must I do to be a Christian?' conditions were identical with those of the faller. There was a law book of Scripture that we have looked at everybody. No matter what the conditions are, how they have been spent or what they have done, we have hurried these souls to rest and women irrespective of their mental or moral attitude towards Christ. We have said, believe! believe! believe!! James says the devil believes, and that he is orthodox. Suppose I were to walk into one of your splendid hospitals here and go through some of your wards and find patients suffering from tuberculosis, pneumonia and various other diseases, and I would pour out a dose of medicine and say, 'Remember that same dose to all of them.' You would say I was a fool. Well, I submit there would be just as much common sense as trying to save all men and women in the same way and by the same method. God Almighty's plan is to diagnose every case. We are not saved in cores, doses, pills and multitudes, we are saved individually. Conversions are not turned out like a factory rolls out bolts every case, and that is where we make the fatal mistake. We do not deal specifically. That has been the method of all successful evangelists. If you will read this message you will see that is just what Paul did. He went to the top-rod, he got to the bottom of the difficulty. He said to this man, 'believe on the Lord Jesus.' Then Paul took the fellow and taught him. What? How? How to become a great politician? How to enter society? No. He taught him the word of the Lord. He made him know that salvation was not a mechanical stereotyped thing that Paul dealt out to his hearers."

NAME DATES EXPOSITION

Eastern Carolina Exposition at Rocky Mount April 4 and 8

Rocky Mount, Aug. 13.—April 4 to 8, inclusively, have been fixed as the dates for the 1927 Eastern Carolina exposition, which will be held in this city. Announcement of the dates was given in a telegram received here today from N. G. Bartlett, of Kinston, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the exposition. Rocky Mount was selected next year's exposition city several weeks ago, but today's announcement represented the first statement as to the dates for the annual event. In addition to setting forth the dates of the exposition, today's telegram declares that "we are planning a great program." At least two nationally known speakers will be on the program, it is understood, while noted musical and vaudeville attractions will provide the entertainment bill. The exhibits are to come in for considerable attention, with special emphasis paid to products of Eastern Carolina.

COMPLIMENTS CITY'S SPIRIT

Editorial in Greenville Paper Points to New High School Building as Example

Goldsboro is highly complimented on the progress she is making as evidenced in the erection of the new high school building in an editorial in yesterday's Greenville Reflector. The editorial in part is as follows: "Goldsboro has laid the cornerstone of a $300,000 high school building. The people of that progressive city are to be congratulated. The condition of city schools is a kind of an index to the character of the people. It has not always been the case. But it will always be the case in the future. It is gratifying indeed to note that North Carolina is taking so much interest in an education. It has not been so very long since we occupied an unenviable position in the educational field. But she has awakened at last, and the future holds out great things for us. It used to be that the proposal of a bond issue for educational purposes brought forth a storm of criticism from those not educated enough themselves to appreciate what it meant to the country. What has become of those people today? All of them cannot possibly be dead. That is not the reason for the lack of dissenting voices when funds for educational purposes are needed. There is only one reason. They have been ashamed into silence."

LOCAL MEN ARE CHOSEN

Made Officers in New Branch of Moose Order Organized in Raleigh

Two Goldsboro men were named officers in the new Enocor Branch number three of the Order of Moose which was organized in Raleigh recently. M. E. Howell was named Great South Moose, and W. H. Hines was named guider. Having a degree team of Moose from Greensboro and Winston-Salem, headed by Great North Moose R. M. Varnon, a large number of candidates from the Moose lodges of Raleigh, Wilson, Goldsboro, and Fayetteville, were granted the Legionnaire Degree, in the lodge hall of the Elks Temple at Raleigh Thursday night. After the initiation, a branch to be known as the Enocor Branch Number Three, was organized with base at Raleigh. Officers of the new branch are: Great North Moose C. C. Rich, Raleigh; Great South Moose M. E. Howell, Goldsboro; Great East Moose Lonnie Strickland, Wilson; Great West Moose, C. F. Brown, Fayetteville; Guider, W. H. Hines, Goldsboro; Herder, C. N. Winston, Raleigh; Treasurer, Edgar Womble, Raleigh; Argus, J. L. Stancill; Custodian, J. W. Byrd, Fayetteville. A barbecue was served Thursday afternoon at 6:30 to the candidates and visitors, which was much enjoyed.

HOLD MANLEY FOR FELONY

Warrant Charges He Allowed Bank to Become Fraudulently Insolvent

Atlanta, Aug. 13.—(AP)—An indictment charging felony was returned late today against W. D. Manley, president of the Farmers and Traders Bank of Atlanta by the Fulton county grand jury which investigated the recent closing of the bank. Manley is also president of the Bankers' Trust Company of Atlanta now in receivership. This institution was fiscal agent for 83 banks in Georgia, whose closing followed the closing of the parent institution here. The indictment today charged that Manley allowed the Farmers and Traders Bank to become "fraudulently insolvent" on July 12 last. The official accusation was signed by Solicitor General Boykin. A hearing on a petition asking that a guardian be appointed to administer Manley's affairs is scheduled for tomorrow. Manley faces further litigation as a result of the banks closing.

TO CONTINUE HANDS OFF

Is Impression Gained From Conference With Kellogg on Mexican Case

Washington, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Delegates of the Knights of Columbus who called today on Secretary Kellogg are believed to have gained definite impression that the hands-off policy of the government regarding Mexico's domestic difficulties is to stand unchanged. At the same time, they property and personal rights. A decision in Mexico will be reached, but it is believed whenever there is a division of rights granted, it will be conferred by international Mexican law. The Secretary conferred for more than an hour with J. A. [unclear] supreme knight, and D. [unclear] treasurer of the national organization of the Knights of Columbus, who discussed with him the resolution adopted at the Philadelphia meeting of the order demanding that the Washington government take some unspecified action in connection with the religious turmoil in Mexico. By agreement neither Mr. Kellogg nor his callers had anything to say for publication after the conference.

INJURED IN COLLISION

Isaac B. Henry Severely Injured When Bicycle Strikes Parker Car

Isaac B. Henry, aged 26 years, was severely injured at noon yesterday when the bicycle which he was riding collided with an automobile parked in front of the home of Hugh Maxwell, 404 Park avenue. He was taken to the Goldsboro Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Donald Cobb. It was declared that it will be some time before the extent of the injuries can be ascertained. Mr. Henry was riding his bicycle and there was not any traffic to confuse him, according to eye witnesses, when the accident occurred. The front wheel of the bicycle struck the car a fair blow and Mr. Henry fell backward, his head striking the pavement. Earl Culbreth, of the Goldsboro garage, was passing and helped by another passer placed the injured man in his car and carried him to the hospital. Mr. Henry was unconscious and blood running from his ears. It was said that an examination revealed no fractures had resulted from the accident, but the young man continued in a state of coma. Mr. Henry lives in Georgetown, is married and has one child. In Critical Condition Since the above was written, a second examination of the injured man disclosed a fractured skull and at seven o'clock last evening an operation was performed by Dr. Donald Cobb. Mr. Henry's condition was reported as critical. Eight hours after the accident he had roused only once, and then just enough to recognize his wife and baby who called at the hospital. Those familiar with the case are of the opinion that Mr. Henry must have suffered a sun-stroke or attack of illness which caused him to ride his bicycle into the automobile.

Plan Publishers Meet in Atlanta

Atlanta, Aug. 13.—Tentative plans for the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, which may be held here next year were discussed here today in a conference between John A. Park, publisher of the Times, and publishers of local newspapers. At the last meeting of the Association in Asheville the suggestion was made that the twenty-fifth anniversary be celebrated in Atlanta, the birthplace of the body.

8 Hurt In Auto Accident; Mrs. Rhodes Seriously

Mrs. Emily Rhodes was seriously injured and seven others suffered minor cuts and bruises in an automobile collision on the Raleigh highway seven miles west of Goldsboro at noon yesterday. Mrs. Pearl Bridges, of Princeton, suffered numerous cuts, and her son, Ralph Bridges, minor bruises, and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harris and four children, of Bladens, N. C., suffered flesh wounds. W. H. Rhodes, husband of Mrs. Rhodes, told The News at 8:30 last night that there were grave doubts as to whether his wife would live. She is sixty-four years old and suffered the breaking of four ribs, a gash on the side of the head, a cut on the arm, and probably internal injuries. The accident happened about 12 o'clock and she is not able to speak, said Mrs. Rhodes. Mr. Rhodes, who has been living at 202 Grand street, was moving to the country and his daughter, Mrs. Bridges was assisting. The load of furniture had been placed on the trucks and Mrs. Bridges, driving a Ford, was pulling the loaded truck. Her mother was occupying the front seat with her and the boy Ralph was in the rear seat. Near Ebenezer Mrs. Bridges started to pass the truck. Mr. Rhodes said, Mr. Harris approaching from the direction of Raleigh, was attempting to pass the truck at the same time and the two cars met in a head-on collision. They were badly damaged. Mrs. Rhodes was rushed to the Spicer Sanatorium for treatment and Mr. Harris and family consulted physicians in the city. Mrs. Bridges was able to proceed to her home at Princeton after her injuries were treated, and at 8:40 last night it was said she was able to sit up.

Twenty-Two Racers In Charlotte Sprint

CHARLOTTE, Aug. 13.—Twenty-four leading racers, making up practically all of the top-position pilots in the A. A. A. championship standing for 1926, have made entry for the World Sprint Race Classic to be held here on August 23. Two entries, Jack Foley and John Duff, the former killed at Salem and the latter injured at Atlantic City, made the largest entry list ever scheduled for board track in America. Race followers account for the interest among pilots by pointing out the faster, shorter sprint events.

Corp. Explodes "13" Idea

Lawton, Okla., Aug. 13.—Corp. George W. Wehling, of Post Field, tonight believed he has exploded forever the superstition about Friday, the thirteenth. At 3:13 today he leaped 3,000 feet in a parachute labeled number 13 and landed 1,300 feet from his starting point. Wehling was scheduled to make his aeroplane ascension carrying a rat early today. No cat was along however and the only explanation was that none could be found.

EPIGRAMS

Covetousness is the blighting sin of the Twentieth Century. Many are rich in the wealth that perishes, but penniless in the wealth that abideth. A man indeed in his own opinion is beyond the power of God. Religion, pure and undefiled has its name written on its face. There are pleasures in sin, but they are only pleasures for a season. The man that knocks the Bible is parading his ignorance. You say you don't believe the Bible. Is it because you have monopolized on wisdom and concerned on conscientiousness? The devil has no ammunition to throw on people who are neither hot nor cold.

Young Neely Gives Bond And Is Free

H. J. Neely, 23 years old of Summertown, Tenn., held in the Wayne county jail since last Sunday night in connection with the automobile accident in which Dossie P. Traylor was killed, gave bond to the sum of $2,000 at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Action on his case will be taken by the grand jury meeting for the next term of Superior court. Bond was posted by Charles Owen, of Raleigh, and other friends of the young man. Neely left yesterday afternoon for Raleigh to spend a few days. "I expect to stay in Raleigh only a short time and then come back here. I think I can quite my nerves quicker in a place away from where the accident took place."
