U. S. GOV. WILL FORCE NICARAGUAN DISARMAMENT

U. S. Coast Guard Practically Turned To Task Of Searching For Lost French Fliers From Whome Nolinging Of News Has Yet Come

Giant Dirigible Los Angeles Will Make Long Flight Down Coast Keeping Sharp Watch Out for Birdmen; Liners Carry Special Lookouts; White Bird Was Specially Built and May Be Afloat

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—The Los Angeles will leave Lakehurst early tomorrow under sharp department orders to keep a sharp lookout on a flight up the Atlantic coast for the missing French aviators.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—No trace has been seen nor messages received concerning the missing French fliers, the ship board lines reported in wireless messages received here tonight.

New York the eyes of the world were still turned upon the north Atlantic tonight and hopes refused to die that France's "White Bird" would be found somewhere in those watery stretches with its two airmen still alive.

Two days ago the clouds should have parted to reveal the victorious approach of captain Nungesser and Coll, the daring Frenchmen who sought to wrest for their country the honor of the first non-stop flight from Paris to New York.

But the clouds rolled solidly across the sky, the curtain shielding all from knowledge of whatever grim adventure had befallen the fliers.

Today search for the aviators was fully organized and the United States coast guard was practically turned over to the task of finding the two men. Besides that, all ships in the North Atlantic were requested to keep special lookout for the plane and the liner France received orders on the other side to alter its usual course to New York so as to parallel the air route of the fliers.

Hopes for the missing aviators was based on the fact that the White Bird was built to float indefinitely. Concentrated rations were carried by the aviators and unless the plane came down in ice, that ground it to bits airmen saw no reason today why the Frenchmen might not still be alive.

CALLED MEET COUNTY BOARD

Commissioners Give Lengthy Discussions to County Finance

The Wayne county commissioners met in called session yesterday, talked finance, listened to W. F. Taylor present the case for a reduction in the excess corporation tax of the Peoples Bank and Trust Company, and voted to buy a Frigidaire plant for the Wayne County Health Department.

Begin Repairing The City's Old Fish Market

Workmen began yesterday the task of repairing the Old Fish Market in the rear of the City Hall. A committee appointed by the board of aldermen decided that the building should be repaired and used until such time as definite steps toward a city market should be taken.

The market was badly damaged by the heavy snow of the first of March and had been condemned by the building inspector as dangerous.

HOPE FADING FOR BIRDMEN

As Hours Pass and No Word Comes, Conviction of Fatal Mistake Grows

HAVRE, May 11.—(AP)—The liner France, leaving tonight for New York, has been ordered by the French line to follow the route Captain Nungesser's trans-Atlantic plans for supposed to have taken in the hope of rescuing the aviators.

PARIS, May 11.—(AP)—At noon today no news of any kind had been received about the missing French aviators, Captain Charles Nungesser and Captain Francois Coll, and the hope that they might be found alive was rapidly waning.

Failure of searching ships to find their plane of the lost airmen and the "White Bird", intensified the gloom which is gripping the nation over the failure of the flight.

But there was one French aviator who did not lose hope for his comrades of the air—Captain G. Pelletier D'Oisy.

"If they are still floating on the Atlantic today they will hold out, for they are men of iron," declared D'Oisy. "There is no reason yet to give up hope entirely."

News that the American aviator Lloyd Bertrand and Clarence Gableman might attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Paris deepened the proved dangers of the trip around a mingled feeling.

There is sentiment in some quarters that the French people will show their resentment if the American fliers undertake the trans-Atlantic air voyage and succeed where Nungesser and Coll failed.

It was fear of such resentment and the possibility that it might be translated into action which led the American ambassador Herrick to send his message Tuesday warning against any attempt to make the New York-Paris flight at this time.

In the Chamber of Deputies a demand has been made for an official investigation into the false reports which were circulated of the arrival of Nungesser, and which, it is alleged, came from government sources.

Minister of Commerce Bokanowski declared that the government did not announce the arrival of Nungesser and declares that the twenty-one cannon salute which was prepared was never fired and stated that the aviator who flew over Paris signalling Nungesser's arrival in New York was acting without authority.

Mme Nungesser, mother of the aviator, still holds hopes.

"Charles did not succumb to seventeen war wounds of the Germans, and I doubt if he will be conquered by the Atlantic," said Mme Nungesser.

NEW ORLEANS LEVEES HOLD

Trucks and Harges Rush Embankment Material to Scene

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—(AP)—The mounting waters of the Mississippi flood, reassembling from North-eastern Louisiana lowlands for their charge upon the south central portions of the state, tonight still held fast to find a spot in the levees along the Bayou sector.

Various authorities have declared a break along that sector, 170 miles above New Orleans, on the west side of the river inevitable and rescue fleets are mobilized in the section.

Already reports said, 800,000 acres of farm land have been submerged with three entire northeastern Louisiana parishes entirely under water and several others partly flooded. Twenty-five thousand farms have been covered.

The weather bureau renewed its warning that every precautionary measure should be taken to protect against the stages previously forecast. A considerable number of trucks and barges are being used to bring other material to the scene of the possible break.

SEVEN DIE AS BUILDING COLLAPSES

Dallas, Texas, Police Fear That Number of Other Bodies Yet Recovered

DALLAS, May 11.—(AP)—Seven bodies were removed from the debris of the second avenue pharmacy building, which collapsed here tonight and firemen searching the wreckage said they believed 15 more persons had met death.

The second-story of the two-story building housed a chapter of the Odd Fellows, and members of the organization were gathering when fire broke out at the rear and ignited a quantity of gasoline which exploded. The building tottered and then collapsed.

PITT COUNTY HIT BY STORM

Number Houses Unroofed, Trees Uprooted, and Considerable Damage Done

GREENVILLE, N. C. May 11.—(AP)—Considerable damage was done by a windstorm accompanied by hail which visited this section late today. Reports from north of Tar river indicate there was heavy damage to crops and many farm houses and outbuildings were unroofed and trees and telephone poles were blown down.

No casualties have been reported, within the section, damage consisted of broken wires, broken trees, broken chimneys and uprooted trees. The storm lasted but a few minutes, but it was a high wind accompanied much hail and rain.

Stimulating Travel

ATLANTA, Ga., May 11.—To determine whether short-haul travel by railroad can be stimulated by the offer of low round trip rates, the Southern railway is making an experiment to continue during the months of May and June, along this period in certain designated territory in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and East Tennessee, for distances not exceeding 100 miles.

Tickets good for return journey, the day following, the going trip will be sold for one fare third, and tickets with a five day return limit will be sold for one fare and a half. Full information as to trip tickets will be sent at these reduced rates can be obtained from an agent in the Goldsboro News.

LARGE CROWD HEARS SERMON

Spiritual Hunger of Christian is Topic Discussed by Raleigh Pastor

The largest crowd of the week gathered to hear Dr. Stanbury last night. The church was well filled and the singing by the congregation was of high order, and special music was rendered by the choir. Rev. Mr. Stanbury chose his text from the 11th chapter of St. Luke, "Lord teach us to pray" as Jesus taught his disciples.

It was probably in the early hour of the day when Christ gathered with his disciples to prepare for the duties that lay out before them. They began the day as all people begin a day, with prayer. There was a great deal on the mind of Christ at this time. He was soon to depart from Jerusalem. One of the disciples came to Him and asked Him to teach them to pray. This is an old text and many times had it been used by great preachers. McClaren chose this as the subject of the greatest series of sermons on Prayer, possibly, in the world, and yet I feel that I must talk to you on it tonight. The disciple came to Jesus and asked him to teach them to pray because they did not know the way to God. They felt a great hunger in their life and they wanted to find the way. Those men wanted a better life. We, too, want a better life for there is no man or woman worthy of the name who does not desire a better life.

There is a man that knows what you envy him. You are envious in great sorrow, and you ask yourself how this is done. You probably ask him how he does it and the answer is, God. Naturally you wish that you had this power. Sometimes men are sick and don't know what is wrong with them. They sometimes try to treat themselves, often times they feed the disease rather than cure it. This is true in our own spiritual need. Men and women are sick spiritually. They have tried so often to be better and have failed. Let us look around and see if this is not the trouble with us.

We, too, have tried to cure ourselves and have turned to the movies and all kinds of amusements, staid away from church and lost ourselves in the rable. We have not found anything there to cure. We have fed the disease that was praying on us. Yet, we still desire a spiritual growth.

We need to come back to God and feed upon that which will cure. The disciples wanted this gift and they came to Christ and asked. You need, too, a closer fellowship with Christ, for the closer you are to him and the more you learn of him, the better and the happier you will be.

This thing of praying is a thing we need to learn. There is nothing we do more meaningless than our praying. Not many prayers lift the hearers up and few draw us closer to God. While we never know how to pray without learning. Would anyone start out on a professional career of any type without training? The highest thing that we can do in this life is to talk with the Almighty. To wait before Him and beg for the coming of the Kingdom. Here you ever wrote out a prayer. Thinking in some in words and when we put our prayer in words we sometimes see how meaningless they are. There are many phases of prayer. No home life ought to be begun or exist without prayer. You will never know what the Christian religion is until you learn to pray.

Wake Forest Takes Worst Game From Duke

DURHAM, May 11.—(AP)—Wake Forest hit hard and timely to take a nine to four victory from the Duke University Blue Devils in a weird contest today. Wake Forest gained 11 hits to Duke's 9, including two home runs by Riley and Dowlin.

Three Duke hurriers were used in an effort to stop the Deacons. The Blue Devils were off form and sadly lacking in base running and heady baseball.

TWO AUCTION SALES TODAY

City View Sale This Morning and Old School Building This Afternoon

Two auction sales will be held in the city today by the Standard Auction Company, Joe A. Parker, manager. At 10:30 this morning the scheduled sale of building lots in City View, close in residential development, will be run off and at 3 o'clock this afternoon the middle building at the William street school property will be sold to the highest bidder.

Development of City View was undertaken several months ago by Col. John D. Langston and thousands of cubic feet of earth added to a rolling formation to make it level as a floor. The property lies on an extension of Chestnut street between William and Morgans.

Chestnut street through the property has been improved. Curbing has already been placed, and cement sidewalks will be laid in a short time, this having already been agreed upon. Water and sewerage connections to each lot have been placed.

Terms will be offered at the sale and checks on the Wayne National Bank against deposits in the Peoples Bank and Trust Company will be accepted and held as against such time as an announcement is made by the Wayne national that details work in connection with assuming the business of the failed institution has been completed.

The Old School building on William street is probably the oldest school edifice in Goldsboro and in many of the older citizens of Goldsboro got their first training. It was originally used as the Male Academy. Built in a day when lumber and materials were of the "heart" variety, it has withstood the test of time admirably. The building only will be offered for sale and the buyer will be expected to remove it during the summer months.

FLOOD NEARS LEPER COLONY

If Waters Crush Levees, Hospitals For Ill Are Doomed

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 11.—(AP)—Three hundred lepers, quarantined in the national leprosyorium at Carville, La., near Baton Rouge, which with apprehension the menace of flood waters beating against the levees of the lower Mississippi river.

Headquarters of the American Red Cross announced today that the colony was fearful and that the plant was doomed in the levees below Baton Rouge should crumble before the flood. Senior surgeon John McCullen, detailed by the United States Public Health department to the Red Cross disaster relief headquarters in Washington to "consider the plans to evacuate the leper colony if it becomes necessary."

Dr. McCullen said the lepers would be taken to some nearby levee, if evacuated and sheltered in a tent colony until danger had passed.

Some members of the colony have spent years there. Established by the state of Louisiana more than 40 years ago, the colony was made the national leprosyorium about thirty years ago.

400 Blue Jackets Sail From Quantico, Virginia, And 400 Others Stand By Ready To Go

FINAL PLANS COMMENCEMENT

Children Taking Part in Pageant Will Go Through Parts at Fair Grounds Today

All day today and tomorrow Wayne county school children who will participate in the pageant "Children of Old Carolina," which will feature the county commencement Saturday, will be at the Fair ground practicing their parts.

Approximately 1,000 children have participated in the play and they will come in sections from the various schools today and Friday to practice. Mrs. Wade Dorsett is directing the play.

Two huge towers have been erected as a part of the "properties" for use in presenting the pageant, and a background of green will be constructed. The story traces the history of Carolina from the beginning until today.

At noon Saturday the 200 graduates of the elementary schools of Wayne county will be guests of honor at a banquet to be given for them at the Grand Hotel,
